Capone Asks For Beer Monopoly

PROPOSAL PUT TO M'GOORTY, JURY IS TOLD

Offers to Call Off Labor Racketeers.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court revealed yesterday that he was approached with a proposal to compromise with "Al Brown," which is the other name used by Al [Scarface] Capone, looked upon as king of booze, beer, vice, and racketeering activities in Chicago. The offer, it was said, came through Michael J. Galvin, secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Teamsters and Chauffeurs' union, the main organization of the so-called outlaw teamsters' unions, which list among their business agents George [Red] Barker, who is now in the reformatory, and William J. [Three Fingered Jack] White, former convict, now awaiting trial for murder.

Judge McGoorty, when he charged the incoming November grand jury yesterday morning, made known the fact that he was approached about a week ago. Galvin, it is said, went unsolicited to the chief justice's chambers and suggested that "Brown" would be willing to call off his racketeers if he was given assurances that he could peddle beer unmolested by the authorities.

Jury Told of Proposal.

The fact that not only the chief justice of the Criminal court was approached on the proposition, but also the state's attorney's office, became known through the following paragraph in the charge given to the new grand jury:

"With cool effrontery, overtures have been very recently made, to the end that the most widely heralded and powerful gangster leader in Cook county will withdraw from labor activities, if permitted to conduct, unmolested by the law, his racket in beer. His most formidable competitors have been ruthlessly exterminated, and his only apparent obstacle towards undisputed sway is the law. Such a truce is unthinkable. There must not be any compromise with lawlessness. This is my answer."

Prosecutors Investigating.

The chief justice steadfastly refused to divulge the name of his visitors, saying that the matter was now in the hands of the state's attorney's office for investigation as to the authenticity of the offer made and as to the connections that may exist between the unions and Capone.

Investigation disclosed that virtually the same proposition, but perhaps not quite so direct, had been made to Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Lounsbury, who is in charge of the racketeering investigation. The latter also refused to discuss his conversation with the emissary or to reveal his identity.

However, when the proposition was made by Galvin to Judge McGoorty, several persons are reported to have listened to the conversation. Assistant State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse was among those present at this conversation. Although refusing to name the judge's visitor, Prosecutor Rittenhouse confirmed the general topic of the conversation.

Report on Conversation.

"Now, if we could get, say, a representative of the Association of Commerce, the crime commission, and other organizations together in a meeting, we could perhaps straighten out this union question," Galvin is reported to have said in his proposal to the judge. It is said he finally asserted:

"I can talk for Al Brown, and I am in a position to say that if he is not bothered in the beer business, if the state's attorney's office will leave him alone, he will withdraw his fellows like White, Barker, and others from the unions."

No Compromise with Capone.

Galvin, it is reported, was promptly invited to leave the judge's chambers and it was emphatically impressed on him by both the judge and the assistant prosecutor that no compromise would be made with Capone.

When asked why he did not have his visitor bodily ejected from his chambers or put into jail, Judge McGoorty said:

"The man impressed me as being actuated by a desire to purge union labor of the influence of Capone. From his viewpoint he apparently did not realize the gravity of his position in

PRINCETON MEN ARE DISCIPLINED IN RIOTING CASE

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Forty-two Princeton undergraduates have been subjected to discipline for participation in a riot here last Wednesday night, Dean Christian Gauss, chairman of the discipline committee, announced tonight.

Four students have been suspended for a year, two until the end of the Christmas vacation, five for one month, three for two weeks, fourteen for one week, and fourteen indefinitely.

"Much as any of us might wish to do so," he declared, "it would be unprofitable to attempt to disguise the occurrences of Wednesday evening under soft names. After the crowds had rushed to Nassau street it was no longer a demonstration of undergraduate solidarity. It was only a series of lawless acts by young men of high privileged class."

Youth Gives Up; Confesses Dual Killing

Stricken with remorse after three days of silence, a 20 year old youth walked into the West Chicago avenue police station early this morning and confessed that he shot to death the two hoodlums whose bodies were found in a beer flat at 1032 North Marshfield avenue last Sunday morning. He told the police he had shot the men in self-defense after a quarrel because he refused to continue drinking with them.

The youth who admitted he did the killing is Edward Kotowski, 1514 Dickson street, a worker in the Schultz Piano company's plant, where his father, Philip Kotowski, is a foreman. The slain hoodlums were William (Smooth) Sierza, an ex-convict who operated a beer flat at the Marshfield avenue address, and Frank (Slim) Smurlo, who had served a term in the House of Correction.

Confesses Double Killing.

Kotowski entered the police station and asked Sergt. S. A. Nasheim where he could find the lieutenant or captain. He was directed to Lieut. James Burke's office. As soon as he and his father were in Burke's office the boy blurted out that he had killed two men and hurried on into the details.

He said that he had known the pair for some time as residents of the neighborhood and met them Saturday night. They had some drinks at two places, after which he announced his intention of going home. Sierza and Smurlo insisted on his going to the Sierza flat, and after a time he did so.

Fight Starts Over Liquor.

When they reached the flat, he said, the men took several drinks and insisted that he drink. He said he told them he did not want to get drunk, and an altercation began in which Sierza struck him. He said he knocked his assailant down and the latter seized a gun and fired at him. Then, according to his story, he took the weapon away from Sierza and shot him as he renewed the attack. About that time Smurlo rushed into the fray, reaching for his gun as he did so. Kotowski shot him and rushed from the flat.

After leaving the flat the boy went home and worried about the affair until yesterday, he said, then took his father into his confidence. The elder Kotowski advised him to go to the police and tell the whole story. He agreed to do so and the pair went to the station. Lieut. Burke sent for Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Johnson, who took the confession.

Montana—Senator Walsh [Dem.], Teapot Dome prosecutor, against Republican anti-prohibitionist, Justice Albert G. Galen.

Nebraska—Senator Norris, Republican independent, against Democratic former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock.

New Jersey—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, running for senate against Alexander Simpson, Democrat.

New York—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, for reelection as governor against Charles H. Tuttle, Republican.

Pennsylvania—Gifford Pinchot, Republican, seeking governorship against John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal candidate.

TURTLE PARADE IN BOUL 'MICH' HALTS TRAFFIC

Turtles, some 2,000 of them, paraded Michigan avenue yesterday in the strangest and slowest march ever held on that historic thoroughfare. There were baby turtles, granddaddy turtles, and one venerable tortoise which might have participated in the fabled race with the hare.

The shell-backed reptiles were first seen in the boulevard near East 18th street, and calls immediately flooded the Illinois Humane society, South Wabash avenue and Roosevelt road. President J. Parker Gowing decided that a serious invasion was taking place and ordered Investigator Alfred E. Cipriani to the scene. The latter, with other agents of the society, found the reports true. Hundreds and hundreds of turtles were thronging the street, halting traffic. The turtles were gathered in and taken to the society's rooms.

According to officials of the society, the tortoises were all tagged and numbered, and probably were to be used in a grand turtle race. The turtles will be thrown into the Chicago river within a few days if not claimed.

VOTE TODAY TO BE JUDGMENT ON HOOVER RECORD

Result to Be Taken as Public Verdict.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

In an election, the results of which will be interpreted as a popular judgment on the administration of President Hoover, the country will choose the members of the Seventy-second congress today.

The latest information on the trend in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, and other doubtful states reinforces previous estimates that the Republicans are destined to suffer extensive reverses threatening to wipe out their majority in the house, if not in the senate.

The indications are that the Democrats will gain a minimum of about 40 congressmen, which would still leave the Republicans a majority of about 20. If the Democrats should gain 53 they would control the house by a majority of 1. In the senate the Democrats are assured of gaining several seats, though not a sufficient number to overturn the present Republican majority in that body.

A Landslide Not Improbable.

Anything in the nature of a Democratic landslide would place the Jeffersonians in control of the house by a comfortable, if not an overwhelming, majority and a Democratic sweep of the country would wrest the senate also from Republican domination. The capture of the senate by the Democrats appears, however, to be a remote possibility.

The election will be distinguished by a shattering of party lines on a scale equaling, if not exceeding, that of the 1928 presidential election. Republicans in large numbers will vote for Democratic candidates as an expression of dissatisfaction with the party in power arising from the business depression and unemployment. In a score of states in which the prohibition issue is acute wet Republicans will support wet Democratic candidates while dry Democrats will plump for dry Republicans. In a few instances the situation is reversed with wet Democrats supporting wet Republican nominees and dry Republicans voting for dry Democrats.

Last Minute Appeals Made.

The canvass was brought to a close last night with spokesmen of the two major parties making a general appeal to the country. James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, general counsel of the Republican national committee, defended President Hoover from the Democratic charge of responsibility for the business depression. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said the last word in behalf of the Democrats.

Mr. Burke said that what the voters are thinking of on the eve of the election is hard times, remarking that "I have no more respect for those who minimize the gravity of the situation than I have for those who maliciously magnify it in order to feed and fatten politically upon the misfortunes of a people."

"Every thoughtful American," he went on, "regrets the organized effort of the Democratic national committee to magnify our misfortunes and intensify the gloom that casts its shadow across the highway of business today. They are to be pitied in their self-made sorrows as they dwell in their own dungeons of despair. If they would only cheer up and face the sun they would cast their shadows behind them and have a brighter view of the world and a more wholesome opinion of their fellow men.

"As a matter of fact if I could con-

Tunney Lists Ring Earnings at $1,751,833

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney got $1,751,833.04 for being heavyweight boxing champion of the world. A record of all his earnings, from the time he won the title from Jack Dempsey up to the time of his retirement less than two years later, was put in evidence today at the trial of the suit brought against him by Tim Mara, sports promoter, who is seeking to obtain 25 per cent of those earnings.

Tunney himself drew up the record of his earnings under an order of the court.

The document was placed in evidence before Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Hatting as the plaintiff rested his case, which is based on these figures and the testimony of Mara himself, as the only witness, that Tunney had entered an agreement with him by which Mara was to help him get the bout with Dempsey and in return Mara was to get a quarter of what Tunney made if he became champion.

Tunney Compiles Figures.

Here are the figures, compiled by Tunney himself, beginning on Sept. 24, 1926, and ending with the notation, "1930—no proceeds."

Mara Seeks $435,570.

Mara's share, should his suit be successful, will be $435,570.51, on the basis of the tabulation submitted today.

The complaint against Billy Gibson, co-defendant with Tunney, was dismissed today and Justice Hatting took under advisement a motion to throw out also the suit against Tunney.

Gibson was eliminated immediately after Mara's lawyers rested their case. Counsel for the guardians of Gibson, who have been declared incompetent to handle his affairs, moved to dismiss on the grounds the plaintiff has failed to prove a case against him. Martin Littleton, counsel for Mara, announced he concurred.

Emory R. Buckner, chief counsel for Tunney, then moved the case against his client also be dismissed, citing common law whereby, he said, if a case against a co-defendant in a suit of indebtedness was thrown out because of failure of proof, then there must of necessity be no case against the other defendant.

Adjourns Until Tomorrow.

Justice Hatting adjourned the trial until Wednesday.

Before that the wordy battle of the law suit had nearly ended in a foul. Justice Hatting and the uncle of Mara married sisters, it was disclosed. This might have been made the basis for the abrupt termination of the bout on the ground that it constituted an unfair blow on Mara's part to have a relative on the bench. Justice Hatting asked the defense counsel whether they wanted to have a mistrial declared, and both said they did not but that they had entire trust in his fairness.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Prosperity was in the forefront of the issues last night in the closing hours of Illinois' spectacular senatorship campaign. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican, and James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, kept up their battling until midnight. Over the radio and at party rallies the contenders shot their final arguments and appeals, and both threw stress upon economic conditions, unemployment, business sag and the general theme of "hard times."

This morning both camps figure more than 2,000,000 voters will start the march to the polls in Illinois to register the verdict. Word from downstate is that interest is intense in the agricultural, mining, and industrial sections, and the politicians look for a record breaking vote for an "off year" election.

City and Downstate Vote.

As the hour of the voting approached, the rival camps regarded the situation as downstate balanced against Cook county. On the eve of the polls, the question discussed was whether Mrs. McCormick will have a larger plurality downstate than Mr. Lewis rolls up in Cook, or whether Mr. Lewis will have a greater lead in Cook than Mrs. McCormick obtains in the 101 outside counties.

Both camps appeared confident. Some Lewis prophets claimed he will run ahead downstate, and some McCormick forecasters predicted she may carry Cook county. But the general layout was the Republicans are relying on downstate and the Democrats are depending on Cook county.

Republicanism was expounded by Mrs. McCormick in her final appeal. She set forth that when the Democratic party has been in an abundant crop of troubles has been harvested. She argued that the Democrats in "calamity shouting" have blamed the Republicans for drought, floods, and the spots on the sun, and that to place Democrats in congress would tie the hands of the administration for the next two years and block the Republican program of remedial measures.

Lewis Rips Into G. O. P.

Mr. Lewis in his closing appeal assailed the Republicans for having "strayed" "east against west" with the "Grundyized tariff." The Democrats hopped on Hoover, whom the Republican politicians have regarded as their heaviest load this campaign, and at all night meetings they took as text, "Hoover prosperity."

The Republicans dwelt upon the bread lines and soup houses of Cleveland days in 1894. The Democrats hammered on the "army of the jobless" and accused the Republican party of "broken pledges." For the night the wet and dry issue was relegated to second place.

At the close of the campaign both candidates seemed to have come through in excellent physical shape.

"Old Reliable G. O. P."

Mrs. McCormick in her night addresses recited Republican history, arguing that in time of distress the G. O. P. has been the old reliable in pulling the country out of the bog.

"As individuals," she said, "we should strip our minds of all camouflage and side issues. This election

The Ears Say It's a Good Time to Buy a New Radio

The good months are just ahead. November, December, January, and February are the best radio months of all the year. These are the months you get the best reception. These are also the months the program directors put on their best offerings.

With a modern radio set, all months become better radio months; all programs become better programs. The up-to-date radio receiver is built to reproduce in the home the identical program that is heard in the studio. You get the low notes. You get the high notes. You get everything in between—with a richness of tone that earlier model radios could scarcely approximate.

As soon as the public at large realizes just what the new model radios can mean in new radio pleasure and enjoyment, there will be a lot of old sets hitting the junk heap.

Now is a good time to get the audible proof of the progress made by the radio industry. Now is a good time to listen—and believe your own ears.

will determine whether we are to have for the next few years in Washington a divided authority between our chief executive and the congress.

"We are to decide whether a partisan majority in the senate and house shall be established in opposition to the efforts of a Republican administration to continue an unbroken record of Republican usefulness and accomplishment. We shall vote upon only one real issue and that issue is rooted deeply in the individual welfare of our men and women and children."

A Record of Achievement.

Mrs. McCormick reviewed the Republican party from the days of Lincoln down.

"In that period of three-quarters of a century only two Democratic Presidents were elected," she said. "No word of mine is needed in testimony of the tremendous progress made by our people under Republican administration.

"We have grown to be the greatest and wealthiest nation in the world. We have the highest wage scale in the world, the best public school system, the highest standards of living.

"I do not believe that the state of Lincoln, Yates, Oglesby, Grant, and Logan will desert their principles in pursuit of false or trivial issues raised in the heat of a political campaign. When the nation has been troubled by domestic depressions or menaced by foreign aggressions we never have failed to stand together.

A Hopeful Outlook.

"At present there is a serious unemployment problem which affects hundreds of thousands of our homes. Steps have already been taken by the Republican administration at Washington to relieve this condition, and probably at no time in our history has a difficulty been met with such promptness and with such effective organization.

"It is a time of storm, but if we keep steady our ship of state, the rising sun of prosperity will guide us into port just as certainly as we have safely come into harbor before. As a citizen of Illinois I urge upon you that you take to the polling booth the most careful consideration of what every election means to our people, and that in casting your ballot you register once more your abiding faith and confidence in a leadership which has never failed to govern wisely during prosperous days and to lead us quickly and triumphantly out of troubled days."

Heckler Is Silenced.

At noon Mrs. McCormick at the Apollo theater was heckled by gallery voices which shouted "How about Hoover soup houses?"

"Throw them out," yelled the house. Mrs. McCormick held up her hand.

"No," she said, "I'd like to talk to the gentleman in the gallery. I'm willing to let him come to the platform if he'll point out to me any country where living conditions are better than they are here; where the wage scale, prosperity, is higher."

"How about Hoover prosperity?" cried the heckler.

"More than 10,000,000 people in Europe want to come to America," she answered. "If the gentleman in the gallery thinks conditions in other countries are better than here, any one of these ten million would be glad to take his place."

The crowd roared with laughter, and when the heckler again broke in it yelled "Aw, hire a hall."

Lewis Reviews Issue.

Mr. Lewis in his closing speeches declared that every idea he had advanced for unemployment relief has met with a Republican chorus of "It cannot be done."

"Mrs. McCormick," he stated, "says the relief I ask for the people who are now unemployed, by demanding the use of the money now laid aside for our naval ships and new army barracks—which, it will be noted, is not called upon for expenditure for the year—' cannot be done.'

"I ask: Why is it that everything that proposes relief is met by the lady with the mere statement, 'It cannot be done,' with nothing offered by her or those who speak for her, as something that 'can be done'? I say we did take this same money, when it was needed, and turned it over to flood control in the days when it was promptly needed because of the deluging waters of the Mississippi.

"We did use government money that was not called for immediate expenditure when we advanced it to the railroads and shipping interests. Again I say the text for our necessities is not 'It cannot be done.' I propose the text for action in the words of the scriptural injunction, 'What the hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might.'

Defends His Record.

"Mrs. McCormick's latest accusation against me is, 'James Hamilton Lewis talks about methods of relief; of using the navy money and other money of the government for help of the unemployed, and has some statement of help for the farmer, but here is the record; that in September, 1918, when he was the leader of the Wilson administration, he did not vote on the measure at all. The record says no vote.'

"This charge is answered by the fact that I was in France, having been sent by our government to enter into the consultation and aid in the direction of distribution of our supplies to our soldiers.

"I served with Gen. Dawes, head officer of the service of supply, and Gen. Pershing, commander in chief. And the particular date chosen by the lady where she says I omitted to vote and was shown to be absent happened to be the very day that I was returning home in charge of wounded soldiers and shell shocked men who were torpedoed at sea aboard the transport Mount Vernon."

Upholds State Rum Control.

On prohibition Mr. Lewis said:

"Mrs. McCormick says my remedy for returning to the states the administration of prohibition, either of the national or state laws, cannot be done. I invite you to witness that this is the policy of relief which the Republican candidate for the senate for New Jersey, Ambassador Morrow, takes as his platform in the exact words from the Illinois Democracy.

"I ask: Would Ambassador Morrow have sent out his platform, while a visitor at the White House, if he and the President together did not feel it was both practicable and the one remedy to now be undertaken with hope?"

Mrs. O'Neill's Appeal.

Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, independent, with the backing of the Anti-Saloon league, in her final appeal declared there are important issues besides prohibition.

"The issues," she said, "are prohibition, excessive campaign funds as opposed to the right of the people to participate in government whether rich or poor, integrity of candidates, unemployment, and the responsibility of party leaders to stand by the electorate and forget themselves, or elimination of party lines. I am right on these issues. A new alignment politically is ready to takes its place and this is the first step here in Illinois toward that desirable rebuke which the old parties so well merit."

Lewis Winds Up Drive on Radio and in the Suburbs

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

James Hamilton Lewis overslept yesterday and did not appear at the final noonday rally of the county Democracy. He was refreshed sufficiently, however, to finish his campaign in evening addresses over the radio and at rallies in Maywood, Cicero, and Berwyn.

Mr. Lewis has been campaigning ever since August and has visited all but two counties in the state by automobile. He has kept up a hard schedule in Chicago for the last two weeks and has come through it all to the satisfaction of his managers. William L. O'Connell, his personal campaign manager, appears confident of victory and said yesterday that his latest advices show strong Republican counties downstate about to give the Democratic candidate a large majority.

Will Get Returns Tonight.

Mr. Lewis will receive returns tonight at his headquarters in the Metropolitan building.

His place at the downtown rally yesterday was taken by Floyd Thompson, former Supreme court justice, who has made a few speeches in the country sections but has not appeared before in Chicago during this campaign. His address met with great approval from the capacity audience at the Garrick theater.

"If you want to continue conditions in Chicago as they are," he said, "vote for Savage and Ames for the offices of treasurer and sheriff. These two are the big patronage offices that the city hall is attempting to capture. George Harding could not run to succeed himself, so he picked out Savage. If he is elected the entire patronage of that office will be devoted to continuing the present kind of a régime in the city hall. We think you are going to change all that and vote the straight Democratic ticket, including McDonough and Meyering.

Lewis Stands by Principles.

"In the senatorial campaign you want to cast your vote for one who will represent your principles. What kind of a speech would Mrs. McCormick make in the senate for repeal of the 18th amendment? We want a worker who will help destroy that damnable law. Would she come to Illinois to speak, in an effort to get the state legislature to support the repeal resolution? Would she say, 'I am dry, but I had to vote for repeal and to submit it to you. I don't want you to support'?

"She is simply a placard carrier. We want to regulate the liquor traffic. We appreciate the evils that come from its abuse, but the present law is wrong and un-American.

"Mark Hanna was the biggest boodler and election buyer ever known in this country. He would hire all the bums in the country to defeat the will of the people. When it looked as though a Democrat would be elected President he told Wall street if they wanted to return to juicy days to give him the cash. And how he used it!

Many Reasons to Oppose Her.

"His daughter says she learned her political ideals from her father. If there were 101 other reasons not to vote for her, that is enough. What of it if I bought the primary with my own money, she says. She didn't. She never made a dollar in her life. I have seen pictures of her beside a Guernsey cow, but she wasn't milking any cow. No, what she bought the election with was the money which she inherited from her father, and her father got it by playing with the pets of the Republican tariff system.

"The present tariff law is the most abominable one ever put on the books. It has driven out of the market the purchasers of American products, and exports are off 20 per cent. A lot of other things are off 20 per cent as a consequence. It was signed by the President against the unanimous advice of the great newspapers and of the economists.

Sees G. O. P. on Run.

"You remember what happened after the 1909 law. The Republicans were sent out of Washington on the run. That will happen again. The Washington administration is not responsible for the weather, but it is responsible for the money crash. Knowing conditions, they continued to put out speeches and statements that everything was lovely. The stock speculators pushed up the stocks and bumped our people with watered stocks and bonds. The money has not disappeared. It is in the hands of the speculators. It was put there through false propaganda peddled from the front stoop of the White House."

C. H. Thorne to Have 148 Foot Yacht Built

Charles H. Thorne, Chicago capitalist, formerly president of Montgomery Ward & Co., has placed his order for a new twin screw Diesel yacht, to be built at Bath, Me. The boat will be 148 feet in length, and capable of carrying a crew of sixteen. It is to be ready for use next May, according to the builders, Henry J. Gielow, Inc., of New York. For the last few years Mr. Thorne has been occupying his residence at Pasadena, Cal., although maintaining offices in Chicago.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS PREDICT VICTORY; SO DOES G. O. P.

Bets Are 6 to 1 Roosevelt Will Beat Tuttle.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Tomorrow will be election day. As usual, every candidate is chock full of confidence and statistics, but few have put in an order for the moving van. There is only one contest in this state that is of national importance—the race for governor—and although the oratory continues the frost is on the issue and the vote is in the bag.

On the eve of the balloting Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate for reelection, has a sore throat and an estimated plurality ranging from 300,000 all the way up to half a million. His Republican opponent, Charles H. Tuttle, has a rasp in his overstrained voice and an estimated plurality of 125,000. On the face of confidence in predictions the Democrats have won, but nobody will know exactly until tomorrow night just how successful Mr. Tuttle has been in making the Tammany corruption of the judiciary the chief issue.

Wall street was apathetic over the result at the polls tomorrow, so far as betting was concerned, but then Wall street is getting to be like the Bowery—"Nobody goes there any more." Roosevelt is a 6 to 1 favorite over Tuttle, as against 5 to 1 up to the week-end. The largest bet was $12,000 to $2,000 that Roosevelt would win, but there were said to be several tidy sums available that Roosevelt would carry the state by 240,000 votes.

Along the banks of the East river, in the so-called silk stocking district, Louis B. Brodsky, Democrat, is an 8 to 5 favorite over Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Republican member of congress, while no money is being bet on Heywood Broun, Socialist columnist, who is the third candidate in the race, and largely responsible for the apparent defection of Republican ballots.

Divergence in Estimates.

The divergences in estimated pluralities in the governor's race grew from the emphasis which the various experts put upon such factors as the dry vote upstate, the independent vote in New York City, the "bolt" of the dry Republicans, and the Tammany corruption protest vote.

The Democratic leaders, in some of their estimates, are shooting at the moon. Experts in Tammany Hall, who have tabulated figures from district leaders and made those estimates the basis of comparison with independent canvasses, have arrived at two sets of calculations.

The first is the conservative estimate on which the organization is standing and which gives Roosevelt 532,000 plurality in the city and limits Tuttle to a plurality of less than 200,000 upstate. The second reaches a total of 587,000 and cuts Tuttle's upstate lead to 150,000. Al Smith's defeat of Nathan L. Miller in 1922 by 385,000 represents the high tide to date.

Samuel S. Koenig, Republican county chief, gives Roosevelt only 300,000 in the city and predicts that the upstate plurality for Tuttle will go far beyond that figure. The Republican vote upstate admittedly will be influenced by the campaign of Prof. Robert P. Carroll, the independent dry candidate for governor. The drys expect him to poll 300,000 votes, but the general opinion is that Carroll's total will not pass 125,000.

Tuttle, who as a federal district attorney stirred up the slumbering Tammany judicial scandal, has not been placing his shots, according to political seers. His ammunition against 6,500 Tammany and Gov. Roosevelt was considered of the dynamite type, but instead of exploding it in one big bang he has been sniping with small sticks.

If Gov. Roosevelt, who, his political foes say, has handled Tammany with kid gloves, is reelected it is predicted he will be a candidate for President in 1932.

Aside from the governorship New York City voters are most interested in the three cornered race in the seventeenth congressional district, where Mrs. Pratt, Magistrate Brodsky of Tammany, and Columnist Broun are fighting it out. If Brodsky should win it would be the first upset in that blue blooded Republican stronghold in a long time. Mrs. Pratt won by 4,000 in 1928, carrying her home sector, the 15th assembly district, by

COUNTY G. O. P. CONFIDENT; SAYS ALL "REGULAR"

Expects Little Scratching of Ticket.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Leaders of the Cook county Republican organization were more cheerful on the eve of election yesterday than at any time previous in the closing days of the campaign. They ascribed their smiles to last minute reports that almost the entire organization had remained "regular."

"Possibly not without some foundation in fact," said County Chairman B. W. Snow, "the Democrats have been spreading reports of the danger to our candidates from double crossing in our own ranks. But obviously the ward committeemen and other ward leaders as a body have recognized the truth of what we have told them from the first, that scratching permitted for one candidate would open the way for wholesale double crossing and that the only safe program was to support the entire ticket."

No Trick Ballots Out.

"Our information now is that not a single ward commiteeman has put out any of the usual trick sample ballots and that the exceptions in which oral instructions have been given to precinct workers for some Democratic candidates are extremely rare."

Chairman Snow said he did not care to discuss publicly the effect of Mayor Thompson's declaration for James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for United States senator, but other leaders said that as a rule the committeemen had recognized the danger that threatened their county candidates as the result of scratching the head of the ticket and that Mayor Thompson's illness had saved some of them from the pressure that he might have brought to swing them over to the scratching program.

The Republicans also were jubilant over the fact that despite earlier rumors that they might not have enough of a campaign fund to man the polls today every ward has been taken care of in one way or another. The number of committeemen who called for their allotment from the Thompson fund was much larger than it would have been if the mayor had not been in the hospital, especially after it became known that he was not attaching any strings to the money, most of which had been contributed to the county committee for the entire Republican ticket before he declared for Lewis.

Polls Will Be Manned.

A number of wards whose committeemen refused to touch that fund have been taken care of by Chairman Snow and, as a result, it was said the Republican organization will have almost as many workers at the polls as the Democratic, which is said to have had less difficulty in money matters.

Confidentially the Republican chieftains admit that they expect Lewis to carry Cook county, but look for Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick to carry downstate by a sufficient margin to elect her. And they say that the Lewis victory will fall far short of Democratic predictions and will not be big enough to carry anything like the whole Democratic county ticket with him.

As an offset to information that there will be some Republican double crossing, there were reports that to some extent the same sort of tactics have been discovered in the Democratic camp. One of the latter party's nominees sacrificed in this way was said to be Ald. William D. Meyering, nominee for sheriff. One specific charge was that the Democratic organization in the First ward will vote solidly for Carlos Ames, the Republican entry. There also were rumors some wards will scratch President Cermak of the county board.

Predicts Democratic Victory.

No word of this appeared, however, in the final statement of Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the Democratic managing committee. He predicted that his ticket would carry the country towns which ordinarily are Republican. He also repeated his statement that today will disclose a Democratic landslide.

"It's enough to say," read his statement, "that we will carry the county by 225,000 and it wouldn't be surprising if it went to 500,000."

Republican Chairman Snow stood by his original figures that Mrs. McCormick will carry the county by 150,000 and that most of the Republican county ticket will be elected.

LEADERS URGE RE-ELECTION OF JUDGE JARECKI

The reelection of Edmund K. Jarecki as County judge was urged yesterday by Frank J. Loesch, veteran battler against crime, and by Harriet E. Vittum, a leader in social service activities. A letter to Judge Jarecki from Mr. Loesch said:

"Your fearless discharge of your duties as County judge during your eight years in that office, and especially the effective manner in which you sustained every effort to secure clean elections and your punishing for contempt of court by fines and imprisonment of faithless judges and clerks of election, merits hearty public support and your reelection to that office for another term. I heartily favor your candidacy."

In a statement Miss Vittum said:

"The service rendered to Cook county by Judge Jarecki during his terms as County judge should be rewarded at this time by an overwhelming vote and a sweeping reelection. In my estimation the voting machinery of Cook county has never been in such good hands or the people's franchise so honestly guarded as during Judge Jarecki's terms of office. I expect to vote for him."

Friends Offer Reward in Hunt for Real Estate Man

A reward of $100 was offered last night by friends for information concerning the whereabouts of Ben Davis, 60 years old, 1619 Sunnyside avenue, subdivision salesmanager, who disappeared from his home a week ago. Both his wife and a brother, A. S. Davis, also a Chicago real estate man, said that he had no worries and was in excellent health.

County Commissioners from Country Towns

The nominees for the county board from that part of Cook county lying outside Chicago, commonly referred to as the country towns, do not appear on the big ballot used within the city. They are on the ballot to be used in the country town polling places.

For those five places THE TRIBUNE recommends William Busse, George A. Miller, Axel Lonnquist, and Frank J. Kriz, Republican, and Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, Democrat.

Busse and Kriz are members of the board now and Miller is a former commissioner. Lonnquist headed the Republican business men's ticket in the primary last April. Mrs. Fleming is reported to have the support of many independent and Republican women in the suburbs.

FAMILY PARTY HAS LEGAL PLACE ON HUGE BALLOT

The voter's eye, wandering across the pink expanse of the general ballot handed him at the polling place today, may chance to rest upon the heading, "American National Party," and note beneath an almost complete list of candidates.

An investigation yesterday disclosed the manner in which this party was formed and gave a hint as to one reason for the vast size of the ballot. Six members of the family of Ernest Stout, lawyer and former representative of a news agency, are candidates on the ticket.

Candidate Dead Four Years.

The inquiry was prompted by a puzzled query from Fairfield about the candidacy of George Cox of that city for congress on the American National party ticket. Mr. Cox has been dead four years, according to other candidates, and they wanted to know the origin of the party which selected such candidates.

Secretary of State William J. Stratton, in response to questions, said that the party had been legally formed at a meeting held Sept. 5 at 120 North La Salle street.

As a means of saving primary costs in some downstate counties, the legislature authorized the formation of a political party by caucus, convention or meeting, the secretary of state explained. Since the gathering of two persons may be construed as a meeting, there is no limit to the number of parties which may be formed by small groups.

Withdraw from Ticket.

A number of candidates selected by the American National party, which is headed by Stout as candidate for U. S. senator, withdrew when they learned they had been named. These included former Ald. Wiley Mills, Col. William E. Buehler of Gov. Emmerson's staff, and a number of others.

The addresses of most of the candidates reveal them as neighbors of Stout, who lives at 1463 Winnemac avenue. Among the candidacies are Ethel B. Stout for superintendent of public instruction; Madeline Stout for sheriff; Louise Stout for sanitary district trustee; Alice I. Stout and Ernest Stout Jr. for county commissioner.

Literature distributed by the party indicates that the candidates do not hold much hope of winning, but they do hope the party will receive two per cent of the total vote cast and thus be given legal recognition as a regular party which may attract an organization.

TODAY'S VOTE TO BE JUDGMENT ON HOOVER'S RECORD

Result Will Be Viewed as Public Verdict.

vert the Democratic party into a cheerful, constructive political institution tonight, I would lie down in peace and worry little about which party won the battle for the control of the American congress tomorrow.

"But when, as usual, I find its efforts lacking entirely in a single constructive suggestion, but virtually shouting 'Hurrah for hard times!' and engaged in a vicious effort to belittle and besmear the President of the United States, and charging him with every political and economic ill with which we are afflicted in order to win a political victory, I give up hope for its early redemption. When Frank Kent, the ablest Democratic writer in America, exposed that plot he rendered a great public service."

Conceding that it is the "political privilege" of every citizen "to point out the errors or shortcomings of a President," Mr. Burke said that "persistently to lay at his doorstep ills and evils, faults and failures, for which he is not in the least degree responsible, is both regrettable and reprehensible." He asserted that the virulence of such attacks on Mr. Hoover have created a revulsion of feeling in the minds of fair-minded Americans without respect to party affiliation.

Deplores Attacks on President.

"They resent," Mr. Burke continued, "the deplorable theory that we elect a President merely to make him a target for poisoned arrows. They repudiate the idea that the man in the White House is put there only to be criticized and calumniated.

"In fact, too many people in this country grudgingly speak a kindly word of any President, but revel in the pernicious practice of belittling and discrediting the executive head of our government, whoever he may be.

"Right here let me say, as one who has enjoyed a fair degree of intimacy with Presidents for thirty years, that if those people who revel in presidential abuse had the slightest conception of the multitude of problems, the countless tribulations, and the variety of vicissitudes that beset the chief executive of this republic through all the weary hours of the day and make his pillow at night a lodging place for never ending anxiety, they would not add to the burdens of the man upon whose shoulders we have imposed the cares of a nation.

Praises Hoover's Record.

"And while on that subject let me also say that, while I yield my tribute to the virtues and achievements of every one of the long line of distinguished Americans who have occupied the White House, I can say without the slightest hesitation that none has ever toiled more conscientiously or intelligently, by night and day, for his country's welfare than Herbert Hoover.

"From sunrise even into the weary hours of night he is thinking and toiling for the welfare of the American people. While millions are at play by night and by day, ever since he entered the White House on March 4, 1929, without rest or vacation he has labored incessantly to serve the nation and lighten the burdens of mankind. I have often wondered if the people knew or appreciated our good fortune in having him at the helm at this time."

Taking up the subject of hard times Mr. Burke said that the Democrats, conveniently forgetting "the disastrous panics under Democratic rule, the soup houses, the riots and bloodshed that have marked their course," proceeded to blame Mr. Hoover for the current business depression.

Calls Depression World Illness.

"The answer to that fallacy," said Mr. Burke, "is found in the unemotional records of the governments of the world, which show that the slump in commodity prices, the decline in industrial activity, and the decrease in buying power of the consumer, all of which meant the beginning of a depression, began in France, Italy, Japan and Sweden, as far back as February, 1929. In March the slump began in Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia, the Netherlands, and practically all other European nations except Germany, which was experiencing a period of temporary inflation by reason of borrowed capital from other countries.

"In the spring of 1929 over 2,000,000 persons were out of employment in England, equivalent to almost 5,000,000 in the United States, and the Labor party was swept into power as a consequence. By the month of August it had spread to Canada, South America and Australia.

"It was not until two months afterwards that this country was shocked by the crash of the New York stock market, which began the era of depression in the United States.

Says Stock Crash Resulted.

"And this crash was the result not only of an orgy of speculation by a large part of the American people, over which the President of the United States had no control, and against which they were warned by the federal reserve board, and Secretary Mellon, who urged them to buy bonds, but it was also the result of the dumping on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange of vast volumes of American securities owned by people of other countries in distress.

"So, in point of fact, instead of this world-wide depression starting in this country, and the administration being responsible for it, the United States was the last country of any importance to suffer from its effects."

The depression is much worse in other countries than in the United States, said Mr. Burke.

Reviews Hoover's Relief Efforts.

"President Hoover," he added, "had no more to do with its origin and development than he has to do with the procession of the years or the ebb and flow of the tides."

The Republican orator then reviewed in detail all the steps taken by Mr. Hoover to mitigate the depression, reduce unemployment and relieve want.

Mr. Burke concluded with the assertion that is devolves upon America to lead the way to the restoration of world prosperity, that the Republican party is best fitted to meet the crisis in America and that Mr. Hoover is preeminently equipped for a task of this character. To fortify the President for this work Mr. Burke asked the return of a Republican congress.

Shouse Predicts Victory.

In the Democratic campaign valedictory Mr. Shouse said:

"I predict without question the election of a Democratic house.

"I predict that there will be such Democratic gains in the senate that control of that body also may possibly pass into the hands of the Democratic party. And if there be a Democratic house or a Democratic senate, or both, I assume to pledge to the American people that they may be of good cheer. It is not for me to attempt to outline the legislative program of a Democratic congress, but as a result of conferences with our leaders in both house and senate I do not hesitate to say to you that you need have no fear, that every action taken will be solely with a view to the betterment of the American people.

"There will be no attempt to embarrass the executive. If he has been embarrassed during the present congress that embarrassment has come far more from members of his own party than from members of the opposition party. The Democrats in congress whether in control of one or both of the legislative bodies will formulate and carry through a constructive program, seeking only to serve the best interests of the country and hoping for the cooperation of the executive in writing such a program into law."

Attacks Republican Record.

Throughout his address Chairman Shouse attacked the Republican record in congress, asserting its two major accomplishments, "the so-called farm relief act and the new tariff act," had proved legislative failures and of no value to the farmer or the nation. He declared that President Hoover and his administration furnished the real issue of the election.

"In the impending election," said Mr. Shouse, "the record of the President is as much an issue as any other single factor. It is in effect a referendum on the success or failure of the whole administration even though we are not voting directly on the presidency. The vote, if it is to mean anything, must register the verdict of the country as to the efficiency or inefficiency of the conduct of public affairs during the past twenty months, by congress and the President both.

"The farm bill was the personal product of the President, constituting his solution of the vexed farm problem, and designed to afford the relief to agriculture which had been promised by both political parties in their last platforms.

Farmers Not Helped, He Says.

"The plain truth is that this, one of the major proposals of the Hoover administration, has proved wholly inadequate to meet the situation, and the farmer is in worse plight today than at the time that administration came into office.

In closing, Mr. Shouse ridiculed Republican prosperity claims, attacking the Republican party as a party of special privilege, aired the oil scandals and asserted that in every major scandal for a century back "it has been a Republican office holder who betrayed his trust."

"The myth of Republican prosperity has at last been wiped away," he said. "The slogan of 'the full dinner pail' has been relegated to the limbo of childish superstition.

"I earnestly hope that business has reached the turn. Every patriotic citizen hopes that prosperity may soon come back. There is no desire on the part of spokesmen for the Democratic party to gloat over the terrible conditions that afflict the American people today."

Mr. Shouse urged election of a Democratic congress as a preliminary to the election of a Democratic President in 1932.

Robinson Also Speaks.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Dem., Ark.), Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1928 also made a final Democratic appeal to voters.

"This occasion, the eve of the national elections," he said, "seems appropriate for discussion of the question, should the Republican party be given a vote of confidence in the election tomorrow of senators and representatives in the congress?

"The Republican party has exercised control over all branches of the government since March 4, 1921. The Harding administration is notable in history as an era of corruption and inefficiency, during which no measure of outstanding importance to the public was enacted. Certainly, patriotic citizens, whatever their politics, can find no basis for pride in the record of those years. The major measures of the Coolidge period have proved abortive, and the preponderance of available evidence indicates the same result as to the Hoover administration in so far as it has advanced.

"Since the inauguration of President Hoover, marked division in the councils of Republican leaders has contributed to uncertainty and confusion and has prolonged the panic which threw the stock market into pandemonium more than a year ago."

OHIO WETS SEEKING TO WIN CAPITAL OF ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—A concerted drive was begun tonight by wets to carry Westerville, seat of the Anti-Saloon league of America, for Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic candidate for senator, opposing Senator McCulloch, Republican dry.

Straw votes taken by Columbus and Cincinnati newspapers reveal the town as either leaning toward support of Mr. Bulkley or an even division between him and Senator McCulloch.

Straw votes indicate wet trends in Hillsboro, where the W. C. T. U. movement originated; Yellow Springs, home of Senator Simeon Fess, and Mount Gilead, another dry center.

He Kneels in Prayer and the Result Is Prison Term

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—A Nicholas, a former merchant of Yazoo City, Miss., was sentenced at Jackson, Miss., today to three years in the federal prison at Atlanta for hiding assets from creditors. Recently as Nicholas knelt in prayer in church his coat tail got caught in the pew revealing to one of his creditors a money belt. On search the merchant was found to have $14,000 in $10 and $20 bills.

CALM PERVADES WHITE HOUSE ON EVE OF ELECTION

Hoover Will Get Returns Until 10:30 P. M.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Preelection calm pervaded the White House and other government departments as the major political parties awaited casting of ballots which will vindicate the administration of President Hoover or justify the confident predictions of the Democrats that Republican rule in congress is to be overthrown or modified.

President Hoover had few callers today and none is on his calling list tomorrow. The President will see newspaper men, as is his semi-weekly custom, at noon, and spend the afternoon quietly in his office. In the evening, according to George Akerson, White House secretary, Hoover will get the returns in his study until his usual bedtime at 10:30 and then retire without waiting for the final results.

It was explained that the President's decision not to depart from his usual custom of retiring early was due not to any lack of interest in the results, but to his belief that the final returns on the battle for control of the house would be slow in coming in. White House officials are confident of a continued Republican senate, but anticipate some losses in the house, although not loss of control.

President Hoover canceled plans to run a special wire to his office from one of the press associations. In the past Presidents usually have availed themselves of this privilege.

1,000 EX-SERVICE MEN WILL SERVE AS POLL GUARDS

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday swore in 1,000 ex-service men to serve as poll watchers today. At the same time State's Attorney Swanson announced that 100 park and highway policemen will augment his force of 25 police in patroling the city.

The ex-service men were obtained by the Voters' Nonpartisan association of which Rush C. Butler is president. The volunteer poll watchers were instructed in their duties by the judge as he presented them with credentials. Some are to serve at precincts which have been considered questionable at past elections. Others are to be stationed in the colored wards where, because of Mayor Thompson's support of J. Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick may not be represented by the regular party watcher.

The additional policemen are to be provided by the Lincoln and west parks and the state highway police.

FILE COURT ATTACK ON $360,639 IN TAXES OF SOUTH PARK BOARD

A bill to enjoin the south park board from collecting $360,639 of the 1929 tax levy was filed yesterday in the Superior court. The $360,639 represents the shortage between the amounts levied for bond charges and the amounts collected for these purposes in 1927 taxes.

The bill charges the items are an extra levy for corporate purposes and an attempt to levy a second tax for the same purpose, since the board had added loss and cost expenses to the 1927 levy.

The action is brought specifically against County Clerk Sweitzer to restrain him from extending the levy. President E. J. Kelly and members of the park board are also named. It is sponsored by the Civic federation, the petitioners, suing as taxpayers, being Philetus Gates, a member of the federation's executive committee; Wilton B. Martin, a director, and Francis E. Manierre, a real estate dealer.

Attorney Robert N. Holt, representing the petitioners, declared that the granting of the injunction will benefit taxpayers to the extent of 10 cents per $100 assessed value of property.

A similar suit involving $1,706,727 on the 1928 levy was filed by the Civic federation last January. The board had included this amount for back "loss and cost" during the period from 1912 to 1926. Before a court decision was reached the commissioners withdrew the levy.

CORONER'S JURY UNABLE TO SOLVE GANG MASSACRE

Unable to solve the killing June 1 of three Chicago hoodlums at Fox Lake, a Lake county coroner's jury late yesterday concluded its four months of investigation with a verdict recommending the arrest of the slayers.

The gangsters slain were Michael Quirk, Sam Pellar, and Joseph Bertsche. George Druggan, brother of Terry Druggan, beer baron, and Mrs. Vivian Ponic, who were seated with the gun victims when the shooting occurred, were wounded.

According to Coroner John L. Taylor, the names of the murderers were never learned. The killing was, however, the work of rival gangsters, he said. Efforts to so've the case were futile, he admitted, because of the absence of important witnesses, such as George Druggan and Mrs. Ponic.

Arkansas Will Vote on Reading Bible in Schools

Little Rock, Ark, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A proposed statute that would require the reading of the Bible each day in schools supported by the state will be an issue for voters to decide in tomorrow's general election in Arkansas.

TAMMANY AID SAYS NOT GUILTY TO JOB SELLING

Healy Is Charged with Accepting $2,000.

New York, Nov. 3.—Martin J. Healy, a former deputy city commissioner and Tammany district leader, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned for a third time on charges growing out of his alleged acceptance of payment for influencing appointments to public office.

Healy was released in $1,000 bail after pleading to the latest indictment, which charges he received $2,000 and an $850 diamond and emerald bracelet from Jacob Cash for influencing Cash's reappointment as a city marshal in 1927. The bracelet, the indictment said, was presented by Cash to Mrs. Healy at Healy's instigation.

The new indictment was returned last week by a special grand jury investigating the appointment of former Magistrate George F. Ewald and other alleged examples of a "system" of bartering appointments to judicial office. Last September the grand jury indicted Healy with Mr. and Mrs. Ewald and Thomas T. Tommaney on charges that Ewald's appointment to the bench was paid for.

Soon after the charges against Ewald were uncovered, in a federal investigation into Ewald's connection with a stock selling enterprise, a federal grand jury indicted Healy on failure to file an income tax return for 1927 or to supply information concerning his income for that year. It was in 1927 that Mrs. Ewald loaned Healy $10,000 without security just before her husband was made a magistrate.

WETS AND DRYS TO ARGUE STILL AFTER VOTE IS IN

Counting Noses May Not Tell the Story.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Conflicting claims from wets and drys are in prospect whatever may be the outcome of the senatorial and congressional elections.

Even though the wets win in several senatorial contests where prohibition is an issue the drys are prepared to contend that their net loss will be inconsequential and that the senate will remain overwhelmingly dry.

While the wets are certain to make gains in the house, the drys will be ready to insist that the number of gains is not so great as claimed and that in any event the lower branch of congress like the senate will continue dry by a large margin.

May Change Attitudes.

Whatever the figures put forward by wets and drys may show, there will remain uncertainties as to the extent to which the referendum votes in Illinois, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island will cause members of congress to switch on prohibition in an effort to follow the wishes of their constituents and as to the extent to which demonstrations of public sentiment in other states will change the situation.

The wets in predicting repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of prohibition laws within a relatively few years are not looking for an immediate change in the control of congress, but believe that if public sentiment against prohibition is demonstrated in one or two more elections like the present one there will be wholesale changes in votes of members of congress who are now listed as dry.

Congress Now Strongly Dry.

At present more than three-fourths of the members of the senate are dry and very nearly three-fourths of the members of the house, according to the claims of the drys. The wets admit that this is about the situation so far as past votes are concerned, but claim that there are a considerable number of senators and representatives, now listed as dry, who will switch when the time is ripe.

In the present senate, according to the figures of the drys, there are at least 75 drys and possibly 21 wets. The wets have a chance to gain senate seats in the elections in Ohio, Massachusetts, Delaware, Oklahoma, Illinois, Minnesota, Montana, and Nebraska. It is regarded as probable that the wet candidate, who is the Democratic nominee in each of these states except Montana, will win in at least four or five of them.

Drys Will Gain Three.

While the election of these wets will show a trend against prohibition in these particular states, the drys hope to hold their net loss down to two or three seats. In the primaries the drys claimed one gain when Gov. Huey Long won the Democratic senatorial nomination over Senator J. E. Ransdell in Louisiana. In the Maine election in September the drys made another gain when Representative Wallace H. White [Rep.] was elected senator to succeed Senator Arthur R. Gould [Rep.], a wet, who did not seek reelection. In today's election Representative L. J. Dickinson, Republican senatorial nominee in Iowa, a dry, seems certain to win over Senator Daniel Steck [Dem.], who is advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment in his campaign for reelection. These three dry gains will be balanced by the drys against the four or five, or more probable wet gains.

The wets in presenting their claim will count again in Rhode Island, where either Senator J. H. Metcalf [Rep.] or former Senator Peter G. Gerry, the Democratic nominee, will win. Senator Metcalf during the campaign announced himself for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Heretofore he has been one of the "border line" senators who have supported prohibition enforcement measures, but have not been either actively dry or actively wet. The Anti-Saloon league, however, insists that it has always regarded Senator Metcalf as wet.

Rhode Island Situation.

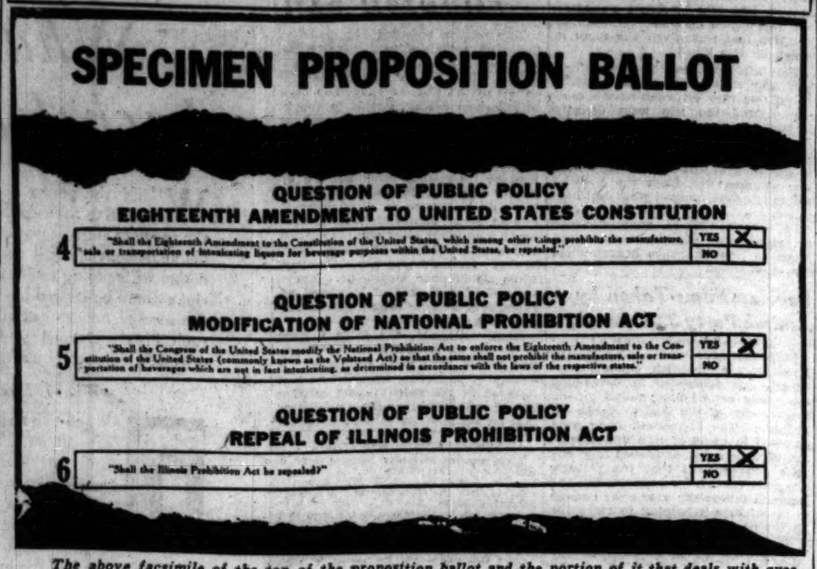

Senator Metcalf's colleague, Senator Felix Hebert [Rep.], was elected two years ago as a dry with the support of the Anti-Saloon league. The wets expect him to follow the sentiment to be expressed in the Rhode Island referendum but the drys insist that he is under obligation to them and will not do so.

The house now has about 325 drys and about 110 wets, according to the figures of the drys. If the Democrats should gain upwards of 35 seats the dry total would probably be reduced to about 295 and the wet total increased to 140. This would represent a gain of 30 wets. If the Democrats should win control of the house with a gain of 53 or more seats it might mean an increased wet strength of 50 or more on the basis of these figures. The drys do not concede that the wets will gain more than about 10 seats. The wets claim 60 or more.

Computations of the wets indicate that they are already assured of 42 more votes in the house as a result of primary results and announcements by present members of changes in position. This total, however, includes some members who have heretofore favored modification of prohibition laws but who were not willing to declare themselves for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The drys insist that they have always counted many of these members as wet and that the primary gains of the wets who are certain of election do not exceed 10.

Contests over house seats in which prohibition is considered a major issue include about half a dozen each in Ohio and Massachusetts, four in Pennsylvania, three each in Illinois, New Jersey, Minnesota, and Iowa; two each in New York and Maryland, and one each in Delaware, Vermont, Virginia, Michigan, Nebraska, Colorado, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Montana.

CRUSADERS READY FOR SECOND DRIVE AGAINST DRY LAW

Whatever happens in the election today the Crusaders, the organization of young men opposed to the prohibition law, will start work immediately on another phase of the campaign which they have mapped out. J. Russell Forgan, executive commander of the Chicago battalion, issued the following statement last night:

"The first twentieth century crusade ends tomorrow. The second will start at once.

"The victory we expect so confidently in Illinois will be but the first in our war on the national dry laws. In the second crusade our organization will send its delegations before state legislatures, party conventions, and every gathering where the popular discontent with prohibition demands a spokesman on the floor. At the same time we will go on enlarging our membership, realizing that this crusade can accomplish its ends sooner if it has the active support of constantly increasing ranks of intelligent voters."

Little of the bone dry sentiment reputed to exist downstate was encountered last week at Moline and Rock Island by representatives of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform and the Crusaders, the group reported on its return to Chicago yesterday. Mrs. George Brennan, Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. Clifford Redman, and Mrs. Vincent Healy made the trip for the W. O. N. P. R. and Seymour Wheeler for the Crusaders.

HUNT CLEMENTI, HOODLUM, AFTER AUTO SMASHUP

Patsy Clementi, hoodlum and Capone henchman, was sought last night by the Maxwell street police following an automobile crash. Driving west in Edgemont avenue in a large sedan, Clementi, at Loomis street, hit a flivver containing Dominick Dinardi, 25 years old, 1444 Elburn avenue, and Fred De Paulo, 17 years old, 912 Garibaldi place.

The flivver was turned over. Dinardi, the driver and owner, sustained a fractured skull and both of De Paulo's legs broken. Clementi's car was wrecked and he ran away immediately after the accident. Dinardi, however, recognized him.

Clementi is 35 years old and lives at 909 Sholto street. A party from that address reported his car stolen later in the evening, and the police believe it was a ruse to alibi for him.

REPORT MAYOR PAST CRISIS IN HIS SICKNESS

Doctors Find No Complications.

Mayor Thompson has apparently passed the crisis of the illness which sent him to the Passavant hospital last Friday noon for an emergency operation for appendicitis.

A bulletin issued at 9 o'clock last night by his physicians, Dr. Allen B. Kanavel, Dr. Milton L. Portis, and Dr. L. L. McArthur, stated that no disturbing complications have arisen, indicating that the symptoms of peritonitis, first observed after the operation, have now lessened.

The bulletin was also signed by Health Commissioner Kegel, the mayor's personal physician. It read:

"The attending physicians report that the mayor had a comfortable day and relished liquid nourishment. There has been no increase in the fever today. While the mayor is not yet out of danger, no disturbing complications have arisen."

Upon awakening yesterday the mayor's first inquiry was about the election campaign and his first request that provisions be made to permit him to vote. There was a suggestion that the election judges and clerks of his precinct might adjourn to the sick room to enable him to cast his ballot.

This suggestion was vetoed by James L. Kovarik, assistant chief clerk of the election board.

"The law," said Mr. Kovarik, "provides that a sick person may vote only when he has applied on the Saturday before election and, in that case, only when he is outside the county of his legal residence. The law forbids election judges and clerks from leaving the polling place."

WILLIAM LIPPS IS FOUND DEAD FROM AUTO GAS

Served in City Council for Sixteen Years.

William F. Lipps, former alderman from the Twenty-sixth ward, now the Fiftieth, in Ravenswood, was found dead yesterday of carbon monoxide gas, in the garage in the rear of his home at 2021 Jarvis avenue. He was 62 years old and in recent years had engaged in the life insurance business.

Miss Marietta Kellberger, a tenant in the building, had gone there to get her car and discovered Lipps slumped over the steering wheel of his sedan. She notified the Rogers Park police, and pulmotor squad No. 4, commanded by Sergt. James Curran, responded. They worked over him for an hour without avail.

Death Is Accidental.

His son and namesake, 28 years old, said Lipps had left the apartment only a short time before with the intention of driving about the north side to call on some of his clients. He was in the best of health and spirits, the son said. The police expressed the opinion death was accidental.

Lipps was a member of the city council for 16 years, from 1905 to 1921, when he voluntarily retired and was appointed by Mayor Thompson chairman of the railways terminals' commission. Previous to that he had frequently been recorded as opposing administration measures. In the early period of his aldermanic career he gained considerable publicity by introducing the original $1,000 saloon license ordinance.

Starts With Harvester Firm.

Born in Massillon, O., Lipps came to Chicago in 1886. He began here as an employee of the International Harvester company, later entering the life insurance business. He was engaged in that at the time of his death.

Watkins of Baby Case Fame Is Sued by Girl

William Watkins, 1619 West 82d street, one of the principals in the famous Watkins-Bamberger baby mixup, was sued for $25,000 damages in the Circuit court yesterday by Miss May Mahone, 20 years old, 3320 South Paulina street. Only the praecipe of the suit was filed. Miss Mahone's attorney, Lawrence A. Jacobson, said Watkins' automobile struck and seriously injured Miss Mahone last May 14 at 69th street and Ashland avenue. The attorney said the declaration of the suit will charge Watkins was driving while intoxicated.

CREW OF CAPTURED BRITISH RUM BOATS DEFY U. S. COURTS

Providence, R. I., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Nine men captured aboard the British motorboat Mazel-Tov by the United States coast guard cutter Tucker refused to enter pleas when arraigned tonight before United States Commissioner Matteson on charges of conspiracy to smuggle 400 cases of liquor into the United States. The men protested that the United States had no jurisdiction and predicted British intervention.

Commissioner Matteson entered pleas of not guilty for each man. They were released in $3,000 each for hearing Nov. 20.

Joseph E. Fitzgerald, counsel for the crew, refused to allow the men to plead after the captain, Frank D. Cook, informed him that the Mazel-Tov, its engines disabled and the supply of fresh water almost exhausted, was well outside the 12 mile limit when taken in tow by the Tucker Saturday night.

Because of the delay in arraigning the men, Fitzpatrick said he might appear before Federal Judge Ira Lloyd Letts to determine how long the coast guard and customs service sent here from Boston can hold defendants without arraigning them.

The men described themselves as follows: Frank D. Cook, captain; Freeman Dorey, cook; Vilberg Vamboldt, Paul Mosher, second engineer; Louis Acker; William Cook, engineer, and Stanley Heckman, all of Lunenburg, N. S.; and Douglas Wilkie and Augustus Richard, master, both of Riverport, N. S. All claimed to be Canadian subjects.

CARDINAL HAYES SEES DRY LAW MODIFICATION

Colorado Springs, Col., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Pausing en route to New York from the diamond jubilee of St. Ignatius college in California, Cardinal Patrick Joseph Hayes expressed his views on prohibition, war and preparedness here yesterday.

"It looks as if we were going to have modification of prohibition, if all the publicity given by the press is indicative.

"We hope to substitute real temperance for prohibition," he said. "Prohibition is a law. Temperance is a virtue along with justice, prudence and fortitude."

"Man is bidden by moral law to avoid intoxication," the cardinal continued.

"It is a pity there is so much talk of war," Cardinal Hayes said. "Of course it is but folly not to be prepared, but preparation should not be of such a character as to menace peace."

DEATH IS HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death when they concluded their investigation into the death of J. W. Moffat, 45 years old, a painter, 2610 North La Claire avenue, whose mangled body was found early yesterday beneath the elevated structure at Belden avenue.

BANDITS POSE AS POLICE AND SEIZE $7,000 AT TRIANON

Nearly $7,000 was the loot obtained yesterday by six bandits who held up the Trianon ballroom at 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue in the guise of policemen. Frank Knipper, manager of the hall, took the money from the safe when two of the bandits entered his office and displayed stars, telling him they were plainclothes men sent to escort the money to the bank.

As soon as Knipper secured the package of bills, two other holdup men entered the office and ordered the office workers to "stick 'em up." Miss May Rennie, 5225 Race avenue; Miss Mary Case, 5349 Princeton; Miss Stella Staff, 6028 Ingleside avenue, and Miss Gertrude Johnson, with Nicholas Kavooras, part owner of the tearoom in the ballroom, were held at bay with their hands high while the quartet backed out the door and rushed to a green sedan waiting at the curb, with two more men inside. The sedan dashed up Cottage Grove avenue and disappeared.

FIRE ROUTS 24 FAMILIES.

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Fire in the top flour of a four story apartment in Prospect place, Brooklyn, drove twenty-four families into the street early today and did $10,000 damage.

BARE CAPONE BID FOR DEAL WITH LAW ENFORCERS

Proposal Put to McGoorty and Prosecutor.

appearing with such a proposition. However, the matter has not been dropped and is still under investigation."

It was reported by crime commission observers that Galvin spent two or three days around Judge McGoorty's courtroom before he finally succeeded in seeing the judge to set forth his proposition. They reported that he was admitted when he gave the impression that he wanted to discuss the expulsion from the labor circles of the racketeers as ordered by Judge McGoorty in several charges to recent grand juries.

Galvin was questioned yesterday at the special office of the state's attorney, where the racketeering investigation is being conducted. It was said that the talk of yesterday had nothing to do with the alleged proposition previously made by Galvin to the judge and prosecutors. He was questioned about racketeering activities, it is said, by men connected with his organizations.

Inquiry Begun in September.

The racketeering investigation was started in September when Judge McGoorty assumed the office of chief justice. Since that time White has been jailed on an old murder charge and Barker has been sent back to Pontiac reformatory.

Judge McGoorty, however, has ordered each succeeding grand jury to delve into the alleged alliance between the Capone gangsters and certain union elements. He so charged the new grand jury yesterday. J. Fred McGuire, 565 Sheridan road, Winnetka, a real estate dealer, was chosen foreman of the new jury. In his charge yesterday the judge said:

"William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recognizes the danger to organized labor, so long as its control is threatened by criminal predatory interests. He has pledged himself to do all in his power to drive labor racketeers from his organization."

Cites Power of Gangs.

The judge also called attention to the report of the October grand jury which charged that gangsters have built up such a powerful organization that they even operate their rackets as a gigantic financial institution in restraint of trade.

"The recent killing of the notorious Joe Aiello is attributed to gangsters owing allegiance to the overlord of organized crime in this community," Chief Justice McGoorty said.

"In a recent editorial it is said that gang rule in Chicago is following the course so usual in big business. Gang rule is not broken up. One by one, small gangs are being wiped out, but complete control of protected vice and crime is concentrating in a single organization. Every murder, such as that of Aiello, by its very destruction of leadership of some minor gang of criminals, makes more powerful the gang in control of Chicago."

DECLINE IN ALCOHOL DEATHS IS REPORTED BY CENSUS BUREAU

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Both a numerical and a proportional decline in deaths from alcohol were said today by the census bureau to have occurred in the United States during 1929 as compared with 1928.

The total number of deaths from alcoholism in 1929 was given as 4,339, or a death rate from that cause of 3.7 per 100,000 of population, while in 1928 the total was 4,627, or a rate of 4.1.

The figures apply only to that portion of the continental area which officially registers births and deaths. This registration area now comprises 46 states, 9 cities in nonregistration states, and the District of Columbia, in which it is estimated that 95 per cent of the total population of the country now reside.

PRETENDS FAINT IN BANDIT RAID; SAVES $25,800

CRIMINAL COURT.

Matthew Seal, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Phillip J. Lynch, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Mrs. Dolores Gavigan of the Briar hotel, 540 Briar place, yesterday saved her employers in excess of $25,800 when bandits invaded her office. Facing the revolvers leveled at herself and two companions, Mrs. Gavigan screamed and sank back in her chair, pretending to faint. The action unnerved the men with the guns, who turned and ran, carrying with them $600 in bills which they snatched from her desk.

The hotel is one of several operated by the Straus National Bank and Trust company as receivers. More than $25,000 collected from other offices was temporarily in the vault behind Mrs. Gavigan, and $800 which she had been counting was on a sheet of paper before her. As she sank back into her chair she pulled the sheet with her, tumbling the money into her lap. The only funds left in sight was the $600 which the bandits seized.

The thieves escaped in a Checker cab which drew up to the curb and, according to witnesses, then sped east. The man in the driver's seat wore no uniform.

GUNMEN INVADE A HOSPITAL AND SHOOT MAN DEAD

Victim Is Identified as a Police Character.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Three gunmen invaded the Newark General hospital early this evening and shot to death a patient in a private room on the second floor of the institution. They escaped in a car which they had left before the hospital with the motor running.

The gunmen's victim was registered at the hospital as Joseph Caruso, 25 years old, of Newark, but the police said he was John Passell, known to them as "The Ape." They found in his clothing a driver's license made out to Joseph Passell, who is believed to be a brother of the murdered man.

Passell came to the hospital Sunday evening with a scalp wound which he said he had suffered when he slipped and struck his head on the floor. After it had been treated the doctors told him he could go home, but he insisted on staying at the institution and was given the room in which he was killed.

This afternoon two men called on him and stayed for quite a while. About 6:30 they returned with a companion and the trio went directly to Passell's room. One of them fired two shots, one of which struck Passell in the left temple and the other in the back of the head, killing him. The gunmen fled from the hospital before the staff realized what had happened.

Dr. Charles Gnassi, superintendent of the hospital, and five nurses were taken to Newark police headquarters for questioning.

Develop Films Taken by Andree Party 33 Years Ago

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 3.—Dr. Hartzberg, a Swedish photographic expert, has succeeded in developing the whole set of films found among the remains of the Andree arctic expedition. The 33-year-old films were enclosed in cases of iron and copper. Dr. Hartzberg has developed four film rolls and declared that ten pictures are good enough for reproduction and that ten others are also clear enough to reveal details helping to trace the history of the ill-fated party.

2 BIG SHOTS OF GANG UNABLE TO FURNISH BAIL

Two of the so-called big shots of gangland remained in jail yesterday because they could not furnish bail. Frank Nitti, known as the financial expert of the Capone gang, has been in jail since Friday, unable to supply the $50,000 bail set by the government on a charge of income tax evasion.

Claude Maddox, leader of the Circus gang, a Capone unit, remained in jail because his friends could not dig up $50,000 cash bail demanded for his release on a charge of attempting to murder Sergt. James McBride of Bellwood, who is the chief witness against William J. (Three Fingered Jack) White. McBride was shot last week while riding on a street car. Magistrate George F. Lee of Maywood refused, it is said, to release Maddox on any kind of bond other than cash.

Danny Stanton, the third Capone lieutenant to be in the courts yesterday, was a little more successful. A charge of pandering against him was dropped in the Felony court because Mrs. Lucille O'Neill refused to charge that he detained her in his apartment.

THREE GUNMEN ROB STORE.

Three gunmen yesterday forced George B. Geis, one of the owners of the Geis and Dees men's wear store at 807 West Roosevelt road, to open the store safe and took $500. Samuel Coleman, 314 East 51st street, a Negro porter, was beaten over the head with revolvers.

TESTS FOR INTELLIGENT PEOPLE — A SERIES

What is a bachelor chest?

WHEN the young seventeenth-century Britisher decided to take up law and enroll as a student at the Inns of Court, it was customary for him to place in his apartment a small chest of drawers of traditional design with sliding tablet for writing. In this bachelor chest would be stowed his routine belongings as well as the scented mementoes of romantic conquests. Quite typical is the Danersk bachelor chest, exact copy of an original imported by us from England.

What is herringbone inlay?

When two strips of straight-grained walnut are cut on a bias and glued together, the resultant grain suggests the herringbone weave so familiar in good woolens. Herringbone inlays around drawer fronts are distinguishing marks of choice furniture of the walnut era such as Queen Anne and William and Mary highboys, lowboys, and many walnut chests.

What is a fiddle-back chair?

If you look at the backs of many Danersk Queen Anne chairs, you will see that the center splat is cut in a shape suggesting a vase or a violin. In Europe, this type of chair was known as a vase-back. In pioneer America, where such effete refinements as vases were practically non-existent, the same type of chair became known as a fiddle-back.

The Danersk Bachelor Chest and Fiddle-back Chair pictured above are made of walnut. Skilfully joined with mortise and tenon by Danersk Scotch and English cabinetmakers. Each drawer of the chest is covered with burled wood around which run interesting herringbone inlays. The broad sweep of the bracket feet will be recognized as a mark of fine pedigree.

Danersk upholstered chairs can be purchased for as little as $75.00. By the Danersk Plan of Monthly Terms you can purchase a single piece or group of pieces totaling $250.00, on which your initial outlay is only $50.00.

Write us specifically about your home and we will send you a copy of our new seventy-two page book on "How to Know Good Furniture." Call and see the furniture itself; here you can inspect, without obligation to purchase, hundreds of authentic designs for all the rooms of the house.

STOP THAT COUGH TONIGHT!

It May be Twice as Hard to Stop Tomorrow

Never fool with a cough. It may develop seriously. Every cough is bad for the reason that it tears you down. Whether your cough is due to cold, catarrhal condition of the throat, dust irritation or smoking, it can and should be stopped immediately.

At the first sign of a cough, take good, dependable old "Piso's for Coughs." Piso's does the five things necessary to stop a cough and give nature the chance to repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages, soothes the inflamed tissues, and, at the same time, has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give, even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 25c and 60c sizes. Be sure you ask for "Piso's for Coughs."

VARGAS BECOMES BRAZIL DICTATOR, FORMS CABINET

Uses Diplomacy to Win Northern Support.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 3.—The military junta consisting of Gen. Tasso Fragoso, Gen. Joao de Deus Menna Barreto, and Admiral Isaias de Noronha which ten days ago ousted Washington Luis from the presidency of Brazil, today in formal ceremonies lasting only fifteen minutes, turned over its de facto powers, which are recognized by Brazil's Supreme court, to Dr. Getulio Vargas, the pampas revolutionary leader.

Dr. Vargas becomes president of Brazil's provisional government with the intention of ruling until things have been stabilized, however long that takes, and he is now virtual dictator of the country. He will govern temporarily without a congress.

Forms Coalition Cabinet.

The new chief has made the following cabinet appointments, which represent the cleverest balancing of portfolios among the various elements which counted in the revolutionary movement:

Minister of interior and justice, Oswaldo Aranha; minister of finance, José Maria Whitaker; minister of agriculture, Dr. Assis Brasil; minister of communications, Gen. Juarez Tavora; minister of war, Gen. Leite de Castro; minister of marine, Admiral de Noronha; minister of foreign affairs, Afranio Mello Franco.

Dr. Vargas' chief accomplishment in forming his cabinet has been to get Gen. Tavora to take the portfolio of communications after the latter had refused. This reinforces Dr. Vargas' government with the nine northern states which are solidly behind Gen. Tavora.

The southern states are strongly represented in Dr. Aranha and Dr. Brasil, while Mello Franco, who was foreign minister under the junta, is well known in foreign circles, especially in Europe and the league of nations.

See New Finance Policy.

Minister of Finance Whitaker, who is of English descent, and was a strong opponent of Washington Luis' coffee marketing scheme, was first named finance minister in the Sao Paulo state government, but was subsequently persuaded to accept the post in the new federal government. His appointment means the certain reorganization of the government's financial policy, and especially the revocation of artificially sustained coffee values.

The outgoing junta is represented also in Admiral de Noronha, one of the triumvirate, and in Gen. Leite de Castro, who represents the army, and who is among the generals who signed the decree last week calling on Washington Luis to resign.

It was announced tonight that Dr. Vargar will create a new post of ministry of labor, to which he will appoint Lindolpho Collor, the revolutionary leader who acted for Dr. Vargar in Argentina during the fighting.

The act of transmitting the powers of the junta today were staged with pomp and ceremony in the Pompeiian salon of Cattete palace. Outside the palace was drawn up the 3d regiment of infantry. A considerable crowd gathered to watch them.

Planes Stunt Over Crowd.

At 3 o'clock three airplanes began executing maneuvers over the heads of the populace and at 4:30 Dr. Vargas, wearing a blue serge suit and following Dr. Aranha and his other aids, came down from his apartment on the third floor of the palace and marched through the rococco halls of the palace to the Pompeiian salon. In this room and in the adjoining salons were gathered all the notables of the revolution and many women.

The junta members were in the center of the room before the table, and when Dr. Vargas came in Gen. Fragoso, president of the junta, made a little speech to which Dr. Vargas replied. The latter then signed a document through which the junta's powers were turned over to him.

Immediately afterwards, Gen. Fragoso and Dr. Vargas went out on the balcony and made speeches to the crowd in the square below, and two hours were then spent in handshaking and congratulations. Cardinal Leme, archbishop of Rio, at 6 o'clock tonight, paid a visit to the Cattete palace and was closeted with Dr. Vargas.

OVERCOME BY GAS

LOUISE MARIE HANKY.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Betty English, 20 years old, who was asphyxiated by gas following a party in the apartment of Robert Randall, 50 years old, at 1108 Wrightwood avenue, was continued yesterday until Nov. 13. Randall and Miss Louise Marie Hanky, a roomer at the home, were overcome by the gas. Both are in a critical condition.

Police were summoned to the home early yesterday morning by neighbors when their attention was attracted by the barking of the Randall dog. Mrs. English was found dead and Randall and Miss Hanky were unconscious. A gas water heater was extinguished in some way during the party and poured gas into the home.

Two small children in the apartment above Randall's were overcome by the fumes seeping through the ceiling. They were revived by a pulmotor squad. The children are George Broch, 3 years old, and Virginia, 5. Mrs. Randall, who had been visiting in Detroit for two weeks, returned home when she failed in two attempts to get her husband by long distance telephone.

3 STUDENTS WHO ATTACKED GIRL TO SEEK PAROLE

A hearing on a petition to parole three young men who have served more than four years of a thirteen year sentence for a criminal attack upon Miss Dorothy Westervelt, their fellow student at Northwestern Illinois Teachers' college at De Kalb, will be held tomorrow at Pontiac reformatory, where the trio are prisoners.

A number of clubwomen will protest against the parole, according to an announcement yesterday. Twice before in this year, in January and April, the efforts of interested women have defeated contemplated paroles of the three men, Leonard Rich, Stanley Hurt, and Emerson Wilson.

The three were eligible for parole in September, having served one-third of their sentences. The attack upon the girl took place in April, 1926.

THIRD SUSPECT IN YOCUM CASE HELD IN DETROIT

Lloyd Winslow Arrested in Kidnaping.

Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A third member of the quartet suspected in the kidnaping of Earl Yocum, Galva, Ill., banker, was under arrest tonight and Henry county officers expected to capture Orville Whiskers, the fourth member, within a few hours.

With Harry Whiskers and Vernon Ahlgren in custody, Sheriff Charles Nash was notified during the day Detroit police had arrested Lloyd Winslow, who has been sought in the plot since Yocum returned home. The sheriff said he would leave at once to seek to extradite Winslow.

Winslow, the sheriff was informed, denied to Detroit police any knowledge of the kidnaping and announced he would resist extradition. He told police Roland Schimell of Stark county, Illinois, had invited him to take an automobile trip to Detroit to visit Schimell's son, Elmer, and they left last night.

Sheriff Nash said Detroit's chief of detectives had notified him that, although Winslow had denied any part in the kidnaping, he had admitted he had operated a 15,000 gallon still on the John H. Bushwell farm, four miles southeast of Kewanee.

The sheriff also announced Charles Black, arrested at Bradford, Ill., had confessed to having aided Orville Whiskers escape in an automobile last Friday night. He expressed the belief that Whiskers is still hiding near Kewanee.

Mrs. Frank Stockers, held at Lacon, Ill., on a charge of having furnished a hideout for Yocum's abductors, was released on a $3,000 bond yesterday. Her husband, held on the same charge, has been unable to furnish his bond of $5,000.

Meawhile, the grand jury convened during the day at Cambridge with the sensational kidnaping case the leading business before it.

YOU and WE
and all of us—

Every last one of the human beings in the world accept many poor values—solely through lack of sufficient discrimination—when the best values are just as easily obtainable. And by the same token, in matters about which our discrimination is sound all of us sometimes go great distances to attain the objectives of our preferences.

The moral of this is that hundreds—literally hundreds—of persons of sound discrimination come daily from remote parts of Chicago and from the suburbs to breakfast, luncheon, dinner or late supper at Henrici's because they know that comparable values are not obtainable elsewhere.

WEATHER MAN'S RIGHT 8 TIMES IN 10, HE SHOWS

Figures on Forecasts of This Year Given.

For the benefit of those people who take delight in catching the weather man in error, calling attention to showers when a fair day had been promised or to the heat when the forecast said cooler, Owen T. Lay, acting meteorologist in charge of the government weather bureau here, yesterday produced statistics showing the monthly batting averages since Jan. 1. The mean percentage of accuracy is well up in the eighties, proving that the weather man can be relied upon in at least eight cases out of ten.

Mr. Lay expressed the opinion that the record of the local forecasters is pretty good, considering the fact that the weather is seldom certain and frequently perverse, violating all general rules and precedents, which are about all the forecaster has to go on.

Weather Bureau's Average.

Three classes of figures are kept for each month, one for the percentage of accuracy for the weather—fair, rain, snow, etc.—one for the temperature, and one being the combined percentage of perfection. Up to Nov. 1 the performance of the forecasters for 1930 was as follows:

	Weather.	Temp.	Combined.
January	87.5	94.6	86
February	86.6	84.8	85.8
March	75.6	90.4	83
April	86.2	84.6	85.4
May	81.4	83.7	82
June	86.4	90	88.2
July	81	80.8	80.9
August	83	90.2	80.6
September	79.4	86	82.7
October	87.8	94.4	91.1

Leeway for Forecasters.

Certain licenses are permitted the forecasters in computing their averages which give them a better score and certain limitations are imposed which pull down the mark. For example, if rain is predicted for the coming day, it must fall in the forecast period or the forecaster is marked a zero. The period ends at 7 p. m. and if it rains at 7:15 p. m. it doesn't count.

On the other hand, if fair weather is forecast, a shower may turn up and still the forecaster will get a hundred. Showers that are not measurable, that are less than one one-hundredth of an inch, are not counted as marring a fair day. If no change in temperature is forecast the forecaster has a leeway of 6 degrees in the summer and 10 degrees in the winter. If the forecast is for probable showers, the forecaster gets credit if they occur and no blame if they do not.

$1,000 OFFERED FOR CONVICTION OF EXTORTIONIST

A reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who have sent extortion letters to Carl Sundberg and Dr. Joseph Jaros of Riverside was posted yesterday and a notice to that effect was placed as a personal want ad in today's TRIBUNE.

The name of the person posting the reward was not disclosed nor could it be learned who inserted the advertisement. About three weeks ago Mr. Sundberg, vice president of the Q R S-De Vry company, 333 North Michigan avenue, received a crude anonymous letter informing him that his three daughters were in danger and telling him to obtain $50,000 and wait for further instructions. The instructions were not received.

A similar threat was directed at Dr. Jaros' two daughters.

A dedicatory address was delivered by Attorney George T. Buckingham and the portrait was received by Presiding Judge Samuel Alschuler. Most of the district judges of the circuit, comprising the states of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, were present for the ceremony.

State Street Hears of Subway Plans

DELAY SUBWAY HEARING TO GET LOOK AT PLANS

Mezzanine Floor Too Low, Claim.

The public hearing on subways yesterday was postponed, but not beyond Nov. 21.

The difficulty arose because abutting property owners, who filled the council chamber, had not seen the subway plans—with a few exceptions—and consequently were unprepared to express their views.

President Faherty of the board of local improvements gave the property owners a shock at the start of the meeting by announcing that they are expected to pay 65 per cent of the cost by special assessments. The total cost is now estimated at $43,314,974[plus cost of land needed for curves and connections with the "L" structure. Faherty added that he thought the plans the best which could be obtained.

Floor Lower Than Expected.

State street property owners are intensely interested in the height of the mezzanine floor. It has been placed lower than they expected, because the wires and pipes of utilities are to be placed above the subway instead of in galleries within the subway proper.

"How can you expect us to approve of the plans before we have seen them?" pleaded D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair Store. "We appeal to you in all fairness to give us a reasonable length of time to have our engineers and architects examine the plans and advise us."

"It is only in the last few days that we have been able to even see a copy of the plans, despite repeated requests," said Fred Corley, vice president of Marshall Field & Co.

Elmer Stevens, vice president of Charles A. Stevens and Brothers, said that the mezzanine floor has such a relationship to State street business that it is only fair that property owners be given an opportunity to consult their experts. He said it is possible that the mezzanine floor "may turn out to be a white elephant."

Attacks Present Specifications.

Gordon Strong, another property owner, said that he had seen a copy of the plans. After referring adversely to the mezzanine floor as planned, he said: "If the subway is built according to the present specifications, I would rather have it built not in State street or Wabash avenue, but in Omaha."

At the suggestion of Consulting Architect E. R. Graham, President Faherty advised the property owners to confer with the transportation companies and other public utilities to ascertain if an agreement will be reached. If such an agreement is obtained then the postponed hearing will be held immediately; otherwise on Nov. 21.

The two parcels comprise the top section of Sorrel mountain, a butte with a flat clearing at the top which is large enough for an airplane landing field.

BANDIT HORDES PIERCE WALL IN MARCH ON PEIPING

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, Nov. 3.—Banditry and communism are steadily increasing throughout China. While the latter is chiefly concentrated in the area around Hankow, five provinces are now affected. Peiping is also threatened by bandit hordes. A great force recently pierced the great wall at the pass between Hankow and Kupehkow.

These communists have pillaged numerous villages in the neighborhood of the Ming tombs. They are now reported six miles from the summer palace.

Two Americans were among yesterday's bandit victims. They were Quartermaster Sergeant Wander and Corporal Fred Knauff of the American legation guard. The marines were robbed of $127 in cash and their watches by six men, five of them wearing uniforms and all of them armed with both rifles and pistols.

The robbed marines, mounted on donkeys for a trip to the tombs, spent the remainder of the day patrolling the roads, warning Sunday sightseers to go no farther, as the bandits were firing on all they met. More than 100 Chinese also were robbed yesterday, while many farms were pillaged.

Fourteen American missionaries of the Reformed church, and three Catholics, are safe for the present at Yokchow on Tungtin lake in northern Hunan province, where they were joined Sunday by a Catholic priest, who escaped from Huyang.

Bandit Army Concentrates.

Bishop O'Shea reached Kanchow, which is being guarded by a brigade of Chinese troops. The bandits are reported to have moved into Kiangsi from Changsha's vicinity where they are concentrating. Traffic on the Yangtse is becoming increasingly perilous, with consuls continuing to urge missionaries to leave the four affected provinces.

There is no further news from the southern part of Hunan province, where a priest and the Rev. Bert Nelson of Minneapolis is still being held for ransom.

China Battles Bandits.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 3.—(AP)—One hundred thousand Chinese soldiers cooperated today with gunboats and airplanes in a campaign to crush communist and bandit armies. One of several government armies advancing southward from the Yangtse river defeated a large number of Reds in western Kiangsi province and pursued them with hope of capture.

Gunboats cruised Tungting lake in Hunan and Poyang lake in Kiangsi attempting to destroy nests of communists infesting their shores. Bombing planes soared over northern Kiangsi near Nanchang to drop explosives upon Reds and direct infantry attack upon them.

ROB WOMAN IN HER STORE.

Two bandits held up Mrs. Stella Plotkin, 47 years old, in her dry goods store at 3014 West 63d street yesterday and robbed her of $443.

JOBS FOR MILLION IN A YEAR, PLAN OF LLOYD GEORGE

Liberals Submit Scheme to British Government.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Plans to reduce Great Britain's number of unemployed by a million in the next twelve months have been presented to the government by David Lloyd George and his Liberal colleagues, who have been in conference with Labor cabinet members during the parliamentary recess.

The Liberal plans contemplate elimination of what Mr. Lloyd George and his associates call the "refractory million" or the approximate number of British workers—between 700,000 and 1,000,000—who represent the "excess above the numbers nominally in course of transfer from one industry to another which has been persistent since the war."

What Plan Provides.

The authors of this plan, who have given it the title, "How to Tackle Unemployment," have formulated their program in effect as follows:

First, reduction of production costs to a level which will enable British goods to compete successfully in world markets. This, the plan proposes, should be a reduction of roughly 10 per cent, varying in different industries. The government, it is proposed, should set an example by cutting its own expenditures 10 per cent, partly by "drastic revision of the dole."

The plan's second proposal is for government stimulation of new enterprise and industry to absorb those thrown out of work by rationalization of older industries.

Encourages More Farmers.

Third, the Liberals suggest, encouragement of agriculture could absorb 500,000 additional workers and meantime 150,000 could be employed in reconditioning land and building equipment.

Fourth, an intensified and accelerated program of national developments and reconstruction is proposed "so that those thrown out of work are given useful and healthful employment instead of being kept in idleness."

Vigorous pursuit of such a policy is recommended in connection with roads, public planning and housing, extension of the telephone system, and electrical development.

"Money Can Be Found."

These proposals would involve large expenditures, their authors admit, but they assert:

"The money can be found; the nation's credit should be used. Raising the money will not prejudice enterprise in other directions, and the extra money will not prejudice enterprise.

In some cases, sponsors of the plan assert, there will be an economic return on the investment, in others there will be "substantial assets or revenue to set against the expenditure."

Mr. Lloyd George recommends, therefore, that the government "should be prepared to incur this expense and to raise the money needed, so far as it is of capital character and falls directly upon the state, primarily by a national development loan charged against the unappropriated revenue of the road fund and upon assets to result from its expenditure."

Unidentified Ship Sinks Off Britain; Fear 4 Dead

BRISTOL, England, Nov. 3.—(AP)—High tides have balked efforts to identify a two masted schooner which sank in the treacherous shoals off this port during the gale which whipped the coast early today. Seamen believe she was the French Commandant Marchand, with a crew of five. The Marchand's papers, tied to a lifeboat bearing the ship's name, were found floating among wreckage. An exhausted sailor, Pierre Harnois, crawled ashore tonight after clinging to wreckage for many hours. He could tell little of his story, but apparently he was a survivor of the commandant Marchand.

Travels Alone from Bavaria

Father Is Pleased

Six year old Rudolph Stoehr arrived in Chicago yesterday from Fuerth, Bavaria, having crossed the ocean alone on the North German Lloyd liner Columbus. His mother, whom he last saw two years ago, and his father, whom he had never seen, gave him a rapturous welcome as he descended from the Manhattan Limited yesterday in the Union station.

Rudolph's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stoehr, 2111 Waveland avenue. Stoehr left Germany before Rudolph was born, and spent two years in South America before coming to Chicago and establishing a home. Mrs. Stoehr arrived two years ago to join him, and Rudolph was left with relatives in Bavaria. His father, now employed in a camera factory, declared himself delighted with his son. COAT OF BLAZING OIL MAKES RIVER A STREAM OF FIRE

Burns Bridges as It Flows.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A serpent of fire, fed by oil from the now subdued outlaw Stout well on the outskirts of this city, was writhing its way eastward down the North Canadian river tonight. It burned two bridges during the day and menaced the Harrah power plant, from which Oklahoma City gets most of its electric current.

Shawnee firemen took measures to protect from damage a concrete bridge on the paved highway between Oklahoma City and Shawnee, after the fire had destroyed the Waner bridge, two miles west of McCloud.

The first bridge destroyed was near Spencer, a short distance downstream from the scene of a spectacular fire yesterday afternoon.

Three Inch Coat of Oil.

The Stout well, harnessed yesterday after flowing wild since Thursday night, belched forth an estimated 60,000 barrels of oil and 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. The quantity of oil being much too great to be stemmed by the hastily thrown up earthen dykes, much of it went into the river. In places the oil coating on the water was three inches thick.

Billowing black clouds of smoke made a curtain on the eastern horizon of Oklahoma City today.

Fear of fire on the eastern side of the city was not entirely removed, as houses, grass and trees still were saturated with the petroleum that sprayed a residential district as far as two miles north of the well.

Troops Sent Home.

National Guardsmen, who had been on duty since Saturday were relieved today, however, and the work of guarding the district rested again with city firemen.

The oil soaked soil immediately surrounding the well was plowed up, making it possible to resume oil operations in the northern end of the oil field, suspended during the well's rampage.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL, DIES.

Mrs. Agnes Walsh, 76 years old, 3535 Ellis avenue, died at the county hospital yesterday of injuries received in a fall in her home last Saturday.

Don't Poison Yourself with Excess Acid

Excess acid puts an unnecessary load on the body machine. It is a menace to health. It curdles the food we eat into insoluble lumps, forms gas in the stomach and intestines; attacks the delicate linings of the digestive organs, and often, if allowed to go uncorrected, produces constipation, ulcers, chronic indigestion and other serious disorders.

You can correct stomach distress almost at once. The surest and quickest way is Milnesia Wafers—which are pure milk of magnesia in a pleasantly flavored wafer. Excess acids are immediately neutralized.

Thousands of physicians and dentists are daily recommending Milnesia Wafers in preference to the old-fashioned liquid form of milk of magnesia because they are more effective, more convenient, less expensive and much nicer to take. Ask your druggist today for the home package of Milnesia at 60c or the convenient "carry" package for the vest pocket or purse at 20c.

MILNESIA WAFERS
MILK OF MAGNESIA WAFERS

To users of liquid magnesia! Try pleasant and lasting Milnesia Wafers just once and you will never go back to the old-fashioned liquid with its chalky taste. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if you are not entirely satisfied.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

BOARD ADOPTS PLAN TO GIVE JOBS TO 18,000

Workers to Prepare City for World's Fair.

Gov. Emmerson's unemployment commission yesterday adopted a plan whereby 18,000 breadwinners will be provided a living wage through the winter on the job of refurbishing Chicago for the Century of Progress exposition.

The plan, as prepared by Dr. Martin Hayes Bickham, division superintendent of the Illinois free employment bureau, calls for an appropriation of $1,000,000 by the commission as a pay roll fund. Only family heads will be employed, the daily wage to average $5.

With coöperation of public and semipublic agencies the men will be put to work cleaning streets and alleys, landscaping the parks, blasting the grime off public buildings, removing dangerous and unsightly shacks from the boulevards, cleaning up the forest preserves, and renovating such institutions as hospitals, churches, and neighborhood settlements.

Not in Current Budgets.

The plan specifies that the work performed must be of a sort not provided for in current budgets. Coöperating agencies, such as the park boards or county board, are to provide tools and materials, pay employés out of operating funds, and submit wage bills for reimbursement out of the special work fund.

To administer the work fund, Dr. Bickham suggested organizing a special agency with three offices to cover the north, west and south side of the city. Overhead expense for the six months' period of operation is estimated at $30,000.

To demonstrate the practibility of the plan, Dr. Bickham was given a $10,000 experimental fund, through which 300 men have already been placed in employment of the south and smaller park boards. Foremen report that the men placed have proved to be above the average in willingness and capability.

Set Goal at $5,000,000.

The commission's finance committee, meeting yesterday under chairmanship of George Woodruff, approved the plan and, without making definite commitment on the proposed $1,000,000 work fund, set a goal of $5,000,000 for emergency unemployment relief for the whole winter.

The fund is to be designated as a community chest and will be administered over a period of six months to assist unemployed of Chicago and Cook county exclusively. A campaign manager is to be named, probably today, a member of the University of Chicago faculty being under consideration.

Program for Churches.

George W. Dixon, chairman of the committee on churches, submitted to the commission yesterday a complete program whereby the commission may obtain fullest coöperation from all denominations. George F. Getz, chairman of the commission, indicated that the program would be indorsed as a standard for the state.

The program of Mr. Dixon's committee provides: that the committee on churches be the contact point between the commission and all religious organizations; that each local church establish a committee on unemployment and relief; that such committees coöperate with local councils of social agencies; that the unemployment crisis be brought to the attention of congregations by their pastors; that each church survey its own congregation for needy cases and that more fortunate church members "adopt" families for the winter or provide the bread winners with jobs.

Will Coördinate Work.

The Chicago and Cook county relief committee, headed by Edward L. Ryerson Jr., took cognizance yesterday of the many uncorrelated efforts being made by church societies and clubs to aid the destitute. To bring these groups into coöperation with the commission as well as to establish harmony among the recognized agencies which will share in the $5,000,000 community chest a subcommittee on allocations and budget was appointed.

Fred C. Croxton of Washington, D. C., member of President Hoover's unemployment commission, conferred yesterday with Chairman Getz and members of the governor's commission, and expressed warm approval of the plan of organization and administration. Mr. Croxton left last night for Milwaukee to make a similar survey of the Wisconsin relief plan.

TWO AUTOS CRASH TRUCK; 3 ARE DEAD, FIVE OTHERS INJURED

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Two automobiles crashed into a stalled truck on a highway eight miles north of here tonight, and as result three men are dead, and five others are injured.

A roadster driven by Morris Sharp, 18, of Beloit, Wis., speeding northward, was first to crash into the truck. It swerved to the left of the highway and turned over, pinning Sharp beneath it.

Joseph Schullman, 50, of Beloit, driver of the truck, and a companion, were unhurt. They rushed to rescue Sharp from the wrecked roadster. As they did so, a car driven by Joseph Lavinsky, 43, of Rockford, occupied by five men bound for Argyle, Wis., where they were to attend a funeral, also struck the truck.

Lavinsky's car also swerved to the left, narrowly missed Sharp's overturned roadster, and killed Schullman. Sharp and Lavinsky died in a few hours.

The five occupants of Lavinsky's car escaped with minor injuries.

Forty men were removed safely from the sinking ship, the reports from St. Paul, Alaska, said. The Shiraha Maru arrived alongside early today, while the steamer California also was steaming to the rescue.

Another white man was in a hospital in a critical condition. One of the victims told police before his death that he did not know the alcohol was poisonous.

Two Killed at Rockford.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—William Waller, 52, and John Wickler, 44, died from poisonous liquor today. Wickler was arrested during the afternoon for drunkenness and police went to a railroad sandpit to seize Waller. Waller was dead when they arrived and Wickler by the time they returned to the jail.

BOY, 12, KILLED BY AUTO AS HE CROSSES STREET

Collision with Truck Fatal to Fireman.

Joseph Kooper, 12 years old, 3043 North Laramie avenue, died last night at the Belmont hospital shortly after he had been struck by an auto while running across the street near his home. Nicholas Serrno, 3217 North Melvina avenue, a butcher, who took the boy to the hospital, denied he had struck him, but the boy identified him as the driver before he lost consciousness. Several playmates also identified Serrno and he was held by the Cragin police pending the inquest.

This death and three others yesterday raised the motor toll for the year to 897. The victims:

Fireman Walter Taube, 40 years old, 5719 North Austin avenue, a member of hook and ladder company No. 23. Died at the Belmont hospital of injuries received on Sunday when a fire truck was struck by an automobile at Grace street and Lockwood avenue. He was pinned between the truck and a tree. Anthony Serbini, 17 years old, 5247 Belle Plaine avenue, driver of the auto, is being held. Police said he had stolen the car from Harry Romer, 4616 Sacramento avenue.

Frank Hall, 42 years old, address unknown. Died in the Franklin Boulevard hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver under the viaduct of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, at Sacramento avenue near Chicago avenue.

Unidentified man, about 50 years old. Died at the Belmont hospital after being found unconscious on the sidewalk at School street and Cicero avenue. The Albany Park police believe that he managed to stagger to the sidewalk after being hit.

POSTAL LEASE INQUIRY TO OPEN HERE ON NOV. 12

Charges of corruption in the leasing of postal substations to the government will be heard by the senate investigating committee headed by Senator James J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.] in Chicago beginning Nov. 12 at the federal building. The hearings in Chicago will last about a week, Senator Blaine announced yesterday in Washington.

The alleged scandals in the postal leases were divulged last spring by Senator Blaine and others. Charges were made that certain rentals were exorbitant and that there were other irregularities in the form of noncancellable leases and bond issues. Among the leases to be scrutinized are the Van Buren street station in Chicago.

3 LAKE FOREST WOMEN QUIT AS MOVIE CENSORS

Mrs. George Richardson, chairman, and Mrs. Arthur A. Burrows and Mrs. Fred Chantry, members of the Lake Forest motion picture censor board, tendered their resignations last night at a meeting of the city council. The resignations were accepted by Mayor Dick.

Mrs. Richardson and her associates agreed upon their action, it was learned, because they had already served four years, and because two of them planned extended European journeys next year.

A general discussion of movie censorship followed the resignations, and City Attorney Calvin Trowbridge announced he was drafting a new code similar to that used in other cities. Ald. Francis Manierre and Ald. Kent Chandler urged a strict code, while others, including Ald. Frederic Held and James King, city clerk, proposed a moderate ordinance. The matter finally was deferred.

FIND RUM KILLED CHAUFFEUR.

Joseph Wilson, chauffeur for Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin of Lake Forest, was found dead in bed yesterday in his home on the McLaughlin estate. A Lake county coroner's jury, under Coroner John L. Taylor, found that Wilson's death was caused by alcoholism.

KIDNAPERS FREE RICH DETROITER IN INDIANAPOLIS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Charles Kaler, wealthy retired real estate man, kidnaped by four men last Thursday night, was released yesterday in Indianapolis and returned to his home here, it was learned early today.

It is said that, although police deny any knowledge of Kaler's release, a close friend of the kidnaped man confirmed rumors that he had been thrown from an automobile in the Indiana city.

Kaler was abducted from his home by four men who posed as federal prohibition agents and said they were taking him to the United States attorney's office. Mrs. Kaler negotiated with the kidnapers and induced them to reduce their ransom demand from $10,000 to $3,000. She went to a Detroit hotel Saturday to deliver $2,000 of the ransom, but the agent of the kidnapers failed to appear.

Detectives trailed her to the hotel and waited in the lobby without her knowledge.

PROGRAM FOR MORE U. S. JOBS IS TAKING FORM

Construction Dates to Be Advanced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Further expansion of the federal billion dollar construction program through the advancement of completion dates for public works projects and the authorization of new legislation for construction and repair work when congress meets has been decided upon by the Hoover administration.

All cabinet members have been directed to explore their future building and repair needs and submit reports disclosing projects on which work could be advanced and suggested new projects.

Officials were of the opinion today that the cabinet survey will result in adding millions of dollars t the present construction program and increase the number of men employed.

In some instances funds voted for certain projects will be expended at once instead of spreading the money throughout the year.

Will Ask Additional Funds.

In such instances congress would be asked to supply additional money to finance continued construction when the first appropriation is expended. In other cases authorization will be asked when congress meets and funds included in the first deficiency bill introduced.

Both the army and navy have housing projects they would like included in the list of items for which added appropriations will be asked. It is understood the Britten battleship modernization bill is on the preferred list. This measure would authorize expenditure of $29,000,000 on the reconditioning of three capital ships—the Idaho, New Mexico, and Mississippi. Funds for beginning alterations by next March would be asked as soon as the measure was approved.

Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's emergency committee for employment, today held up lowered building costs as an inducement to private builders to undertake new construction at this time.

Cost Down 20 Per Cent.

Decreases of as much as 20 per cent in building costs during the last year have been registered, Mr. Woods said.

Another call for aid in the form of charitable effort for women and children dependent on jobless wage earners was sent to local welfare agencies by Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau.

Miss Abbott said, "We must get the children out of the bread lines."

SOUTH CAROLINA IS TRYING 17 FOR LYNCHING NEGRO

Mayor, Policeman Are Defendants.

Walhalla, S. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The state of South Carolina today began an effort to convict 17 men, including the mayor of this town, of participation in the lynching last spring of Allen Green, 52 year old Negro. Green was accused of raping a white woman.

Sheriff J. L. Thomas, the first witness, testified that he recognized two of the defendants among the masked mob that seized the Negro and took him a short distance from the jail to a tree where he was hanged.

John Sanders and John Stevens, both of Walhalla, were named by the officer as the two he recognized. The sheriff's son, Eugene Thomas, also testified to recognizing Sanders among the crowd in the jail.

Included among the 17 defendants are Mayor R. L. Ballentine, and Alvin Jones, the town's night policeman.

In addition to the murder charges, the defendants are under indictment for conspiracy to murder and assault and battery with intent to kill. The latter charge grew out of an attack upon Sheriff Thomas, whose skull was fractured when he was felled by the butt of a pistol as he attempted to prevent the seizure of the prisoner.

The state offered in evidence two coats which it contends Sanders and Stevens wore on the night of the lynching. A. E. Power, pathologist of Columbia, testified that stains on the garments were made by human blood.

Under a South Carolina law, Oconee county recently paid Green's family $2,000.

PAVLOVA AND HER HUSBAND SUED BY GIRL OVER A KISS

LONDON, England, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Anna Pavlova, the Russian dancer, and her husband, Victor D'Andre, were named defendants today in a slander suit filed by Mis Eiza D'Arcy, one of the younger members of the dancer's troupe.

The allegation, which was denied, appeared from the testimony to be in connection with a kiss which Miss D'Arcy received from M. Slavinsky, another member of the troupe, while the company was touring in the Straits Settlements in 1929.

The embrace was entirely innocuous, Miss D'Arcy told the court. She and Slavinsky, she said, were discussing the ordinary news of the day when Slavinsky leaned over her quickly and kissed her on the cheek. The plaintiff charges that reports of the incident were exaggerated by Pavlova and her husband.

WOMAN PAYS AUTO FINE AT POLICE GARAGE

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase of Lake Forest, for whom a capias was issued last week when she failed to appear for trial in Evanston police court, figured out the amount she believed her parking offense should cost yesterday and left the $3 with Phil Roscher, mechanic at the Evanston police garage.

Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter accepted the payment and registered it as "$1 fine and $2 costs, paid."

Mrs. Chase, whose husband is the Chicago agent for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, was arrested on Oct. 24 for parking on the wrong side of the street and in the wrong direction in front of the Evanston police station.

Body of Dentist Found in Lagoon at Park

The body of Dr. Edwin K. Bennington, 60 years old, a dentist, with offices at 3918 Cottage Grove avenue, who has been missing since Wednesday, was recovered from the casting pond in Washington park yesterday. According to A. L. McCombs, 5542 Ellis avenue, president of the Illinois Casting club, Dr. Bennington was drowned accidentally. The dentist, who was a former president of the club, left the clubhouse Wednesday to repair a casting target, and toppled from his boat, Mr. McCombs said.

Walter Beebe, Attorney, Recovering from Operation

Walter E. Beebe, attorney for the sanitary district, was yesterday reported to be recovering after an operation in the Woodlawn hospital Friday morning. He went to the hospital Oct. 27 and was operated on by Dr. Frank M. Phifer. Mr. Beebe's home is at 4409 Drexel boulevard.

AD AGENCY STAFF FORMS CLUB OF GOOD FELLOWS

Sends Its First Monthly Check of $125.

Employes of Erwin, Wasey & Co., advertising agency, formed a Good Fellow club yesterday, with every one from the office boys to the general manager enrolled as members. Their first monthly check, for $125, was one of thirty-eight donations for a total of $1,634 received in the day's mail at the Good Fellow headquarters in THE TRIBUNE'S offices at Madison and Dearborn streets.

"This is just enough to indicate our desire to coöperate with THE TRIBUNE in its campaign to relieve the suffering of the destitute and to cheer the public mind through widespread giving," said a letter accompanying the advertising agency's check.

Will Care for Family.

"We're confident that this money will reach a deserving family whose needs and worthiness have been established by investigation. You know that $125 a month will drive the wolf from the door of some widow and her children. What you may not appreciate is that the collecting of this donation has done as much good as will its expenditure.

"The office boy probably expressed the sentiment of the entire office personnel when he said, handing over his quarter, 'It makes a guy feel great, this helping those who are down on their luck'."

A Good Fellow Hunch.

Another letter, exemplifying the city's awakened consideration for the unfortunate, was attached to a $1 bill received at the Good Fellow headquarters.

"I play hunches," it read. "I'm a salesman, working on a commission basis, and haven't been making any sales. I have a hunch that if I keep my head up, like a Good Fellow can, I'll have customers signing on the dotted line. So here is all I can afford at this time.

"If you can get my sales prospects to join the Good Fellows, I have a hunch I'll have no more trouble getting commissions to take home to the wife and kids. All Chicago business needs is a cure for pessimism, and it looks like the Good Fellow movement is going to help effect that cure."

This Good Fellow's $1, like the larger donations, will reach some destitute family intact. All costs of administration are paid by THE TRIBUNE.

INDIANA GIRL, 13, SLAIN; FATHER, 5 OTHERS HELD

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Another child murder in northern Indiana within a few months sent police and deputy sheriffs hurrying along the trail of meager clews tonight for the man who took Dorothy Winters, 13, away from a "beer farm" and left her dying with a broken neck in the road west of here late last night.

The girl victim, a pupil in the eighth grade, was found dying early this morning by John Kvos, who brought her to the Elkhart General hospital.

In the city jail tonight were the girl's father, Otis Winters, 48, charged with contributing to his daughter's delinquency; Ray Nelson, 30, who took Dorothy to the beer farm yesterday evening; Adrian Davis, 47, and his wife, Jennie, 49, alleged operators of the beer resort, and Charles Richmond, 24, and Ray Maggert, 38, who left the resort shortly after the Winters girl disappeared to her death.

Nelson said Dorothy left the resort at 11 o'clock with another man whose identity is unknown. Winters was arrested after Nelson and others told police that the father frequently took his daughter to the resort.

Davis and his wife were taken into custody this afternoon following a police raid on Davis' resort in which beer and whisky were confiscated. All were being questioned tonight at the detective bureau.

TARDIEU TO FACE ATTACK ON 'WEAK' GERMAN POLICY

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Premier Tardieu will face another bitter attack from the opposition in the chamber of deputies when parliament assembles tomorrow. The Radical party, the strongest in the chamber, which pronounced against him just before the reopening of parliament a year ago, has reasserted its opposition and will continue its attempts to overthrow him.

The criticisms hanging over from the preceding session include the sanctions taken by the government against the postal employés who struck last summer; the government project to spend 17,000,000 francs in five years on public improvements; the financial policies of the government, and Premier Tardieu's personal action as minister of the interior in transferring a number of prefects.

At this session he also will be called to answer for the frequent aviation accidents and the alleged weakness of Foreign Minister Briand in dealing with Germany. Even part of his regular majority has expressed determined opposition to Briand as minister of foreign affairs.

OLD FALL PUTS TOM MIX IN HOSPITAL BED

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The hazards of hard riding in filming western thrillers during his early screen career today placed Tom Mix, film cowboy, in the Hollywood hospital for treatment.

His back was injured in a fall from his horse several years ago. Last Thursday Mix was at Agua Caliente, Mexico, preparing for an aerial trip to Natchez, Miss., to face a $50,000 breach of contract suit there Friday. Severe pain forced the cancellation of the flight and postponement of the trial.

Mix returned to Los Angeles, and Saturday night Dr. P. Nichols Smith sent him to the hospital.

The film cowboy was able to undergo X-ray photographing and was declared much improved.

Dr. Smith said no serious condition had been found.

Fire Destroys Plant of American Paper in Japan

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—[Tuesday]—(AP)—Fire destroyed the plant and offices of the Japan Advertiser, Tokio's famous American newspaper, early today. The Advertiser was owned and published by B. W. Fleisher, formerly of Philadelphia. The newspaper plant was destroyed by fire also during the earthquake and fire on Sept. 1, 1923.

Heat Grips Los Angeles; Sickness Rate Goes Up

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Ninety-one degree weather today marked the tenth successive day of scorching heat, while southern California hoped for rain. Alkali winds from the desert parched thousands, causing a wave of hay fever, asthma and grippe cases.

MOTHER GAMBLES HER DOLLAR FOR A JOB AND LOSES

Husband Out of Work for Eighteen Months.

One dollar would have bought her family of six enough food for two days, but a Harvey housewife, desperate because of impoverished conditions in her home, spent it for carfare to come to the Illinois Free-Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street, yesterday, gambling on the chance for a job. She lost. She found, as have hundreds of others, that available jobs are few and far between.

"I'd do kitchen work, dishwashing, anything," said the woman. She made a brave effort to keep back tears. "For eighteen months my husband hasn't had work except for three days. He was an automobile mechanic and held his job for 15 years. We are about to lose our home. I am trying hard to keep the children, the oldest 14 years old and the youngest 6, in school. I worked last summer in the pantry at a golf club. But there's no work there now. If I could get work on the south side I could use the street car from Harvey."

Tells Story of Troubles.

Alone in the world, with no means of earning a living, a middle aged woman whose life has been one trouble after another begged at the free employment service yesterday for any kind of job.

"I was born in Amsterdam, but later went to England, where I married at the age of 17. My husband died before the war. I had a sweets store, but when the war came I had to close it. My little girl was kept by the Catholic sisters while I went out to work. I took sick and had to go to the hospital. The place where I worked — they were rich people — adopted my little girl. It broke my heart, but it was best for her. She would be 18 years old now.

"I came to Canada and I worked in the kitchen in hospitals. I did the same in New York. I came to Chicago and got work in a kitchen of a children's hospital. There I met my second husband, a painter. He left me four years ago because I wouldn't go out and work. I've been working in kitchens, cooking, washing dishes whenever I could, but I've had nothing for months."

Jobs Far Too Few.

Stories like that flooded the bureau yesterday. Meanwhile, Sally Joy Brown at THE TRIBUNE'S bureau opened recently to receive job offers for the unemployed was kept busily at work. Telephones and letters brought job offers, which were dispatched to the employment bureau, but the offers were far from sufficient to meet the calls for work. New registrations yesterday for men and boys alone at the bureau had reached 547 by midafternoon and 1,109 men who had registered previously had called to see if they might have work.

John Keane, who assumed his duties as the new superintendent of the bureau yesterday, after inspecting the crowds of the unemployed gathered on two floors, issued an appeal to the State street department stores, factories, banks, and chain stores to begin taking on extra Christmas help immediately.

"The public can really do their Christmas shopping early this year," said Mr. Keane. "Even if the stores took extra workers on only for half time it would do much to help. By starting the Christmas season two or three weeks earlier there would be more business all the way around."

If you have work to offer call Sally Joy Brown at Superior 0100 and she will turn the offer over to the Illinois free employment service.

RECOVER BODY OF CONSUL'S WIFE IN OCEAN OFF CUBA

MATANZAS, Cuba, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The sea today gave up one of the trio of victims it claimed last night when an outing party of three members of the United States consular service and their families came to a tragic end at Busy Vaca Beach on Matanzas bay.

The body recovered today was that of Mrs. L. Jackson, 27, of Englewood, N. J. Her husband, William I. Jackson of Madison, Ill., United States consul at Hanava, and John T. Wainright of New York, vice consul at Matanzas, also lost their lives in a rescue attempt after Mrs. Jackson had been blown off a cliff while watching a storm at sea.

Fishermen found Mrs. Jackson's body four miles from the foot of the cliff from which she had fallen.

Bad Check Warrant Out for Bishop Cannon's Son

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A warrant charging issuance of worthless checks was issued today for R. M. Cannon, director of a school for boys at El Monte, a son of Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

The warrant was issued at the request of a hotel where Cannon stopped recently.

Springfield Charity Drive Closes; Raise $177,166

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Springfield's community fund campaign which closed Friday netted a total of $177,166, or $3,000 more than the quota. Using the latest government figures for population, the report shows the average contribution for each inhabitant to be $2.46.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color nearly three times as big as any other magazine page in the world . . . 6,000,000 families at a cost of less than ⅓ cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

NO magazine ever published has ever approached the circulation of The American Weekly. Its nearest competitor can boast of less than half as many readers.

Every Sunday morning, in nearly 6,000,000 homes in forty-eight states, the arrival of The American Weekly is eagerly awaited.

One out of every four families throughout this great land is numbered among its readers.

What is the secret of this great success? How has The American Weekly been able to set this outstanding record?

The answer, so simple it almost challenges belief.

The American Weekly has the greatest circulation on earth merely because it is the most interesting magazine on earth.

You have only to pick up the current copy of this magazine and turn slowly through its pages to realize that this is so.

Come, now, what would interest you?

The ingredients of all great literature are to be found within its pages. With facts that are stranger than fiction, it lays bare the lives of real people just as de Maupassant, Shakespeare, Dickens, Dumas, Victor Hugo and Tolstoy stripped bare the souls of the creatures of their imagination.

For the lover of romance there are two serials from the pens of great contemporary writers. Science? Our greatest modern authorities explain the newest triumphs of the laboratory for the layman. Archæology, art, fashion, natural history, primitive beliefs and weird customs, astronomy and the occult—these and a score of other subjects that grip the interest of mankind are handled by world masters of each subject.

You, the individual, may not be interested in everything that is printed in every issue, but you are certain to find much of vital interest in each copy.

And so with all the others who make up the stupendous total of nearly 6,000,000 circulation for this, the most interesting magazine in the world.

Nearly 6,000,000 interested families located in the richest buying areas of the United States available to the national advertiser at the lowest cost per family.

In 536 of America's 812 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over it concentrates and dominates.

In each of 185 cities, The American Weekly reaches one out of every two families.
In 132 more cities, it reaches 40 to 50%.
In an additional 102 cities, it reaches 30 to 40%.
In another 117 cities, it reaches 20 to 30%.

—and, in addition, nearly 2,000,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy The American Weekly.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively?

THE DANGERS OF PEACE MAKING.

Allan Nevin's biography of "Henry White—Thirty Years of American Diplomacy," reveals that Henry Lodge intrusted White, a member of the American peace commission, with a memorandum to take to Paris when he went with President Wilson and to convey confidentially to the allied statesmen as revealing the intent of the American people, whatever the President might propose to the contrary. White also had consulted with Theodore Roosevelt, then in a hospital, and with Elihu Root. As a Republican he was expected to be guided by Republican counsels, but he was won to the Wilson position.

Lodge's message was to Balfour, Nitti and Clemenceau, all of whom he knew and to whom he was addressing himself with what he said and believed to be a knowledge of the real feeling of the American people. Of course Mr. Lodge had no such knowledge, but he was not alone in presuming he had, and Mr. Wilson had th results of a congressional election to which he had appealed for authority to say to him that he was without the support of a majority.

When the treaty and the covenant came back from Paris Lodge found his feet on the particular issue of the league of nations and with the other irreconcilables blocked the scheme of internationalism, but in these preliminaries to peace he and Roosevelt and others were blundering in the approach in a fashion which seems to make an armistice the most dangerous period of war.

What Lodge principally wanted to convey confidentially to the allied peacemakers over Wilson's shoulder was the supposed desire of the American people to have central Europe fragmented beyond hope of patching up. He gave it as the feeling of the United States that Germany should be so divided into separate units that cohesion would be despaired of for generations. Now it is apparent that Germany was the west's buffer between its civilization and the forces of communism. Lodge and apparently Roosevelt and probably Root, elder statesmen of the Republican party and men of consequence in American government, were committed to one fixed idea, which was the suppression of the German people, no doubt merely with a view to their military possibilities and without enmity to the individual German.

If they had prevailed to a greater extent than was represented by the disintegration accomplished in the treaties all of Europe east of the Rhine would have been prostrated by the dismembering and bleeding of its states and the Red army, encouraged and supported by the despair and hopelessness of other peoples, might have appeared at the Rhine itself.

War emotions carried over into the making of peace offer one of the grave dangers to the permanence of the thing sought. They are likely to knit the causes of the next war into the conclusion of the latest one and make provocation and call it settlement. Really great soldiers if they survive the last battle come out of it with tempered emotions and moderated judgments, as Grant had at Appomattox, but when troops are recalled the radical civilian leaders enter the arena with passions uncontrolled and animosities unappeased to make ten years of peace as bad as ten years of war or worse and to give generation after generation cause for bitterness.

Peace is fortunate if it can command such men as Washington, Lincoln and Bismarck. It is an unstable thing if it falls into the hands of such zealots as Sumner, Wade and Thaddeus Stevens. British statesmanship, when it once got around Lloyd George and pocketed him, adopted the policy of moderation which so often shows its wisdom, and American sentiment, revolting from the internationalism of the American President, soon found its footing and rejected the treaty of Versailles as unjust and unsound, along with the covenant of the league. In this Mr. Lodge appears again as invaluable to his country, but, with full confidence that he was speaking for the whole people whose thoughts he did not know, he was prepared to incite the fears and emotions of Europe to an act of injury to the whole of Europe.

The approaches to a peace may be quite as dangerous as the approaches to a war and the peace itself only provocative of another war. Experience seems not to be a dependable guide.

SENATORIAL INQUISITORS.

Thorne Browne, director of the Nebraska section of the National Electric Light association, wants an investigation to disclose how a letter he had written to the editor of the Public Service Magazine came into the hands of Senator Norris, who is using it in his campaign for reelection.

Senator Norris remarks that he welcomes investigation, that there was nothing dishonorable in the means he took to obtain the letter, and that the writer's suggestion that the mails had been tampered with is as silly as the conclusion that Senator Nye's aids had tapped telephone wires.

As to the silliness of the charge that Mrs. McCormick's wires had been tapped, the public has been deprived of the privilege of an independent conclusion by the fact that Senator Nye shut off Mrs. McCormick's evidence to prove the charge. If it was silly, Senator Nye took it seriously enough to discredit still further any feeble claim he may have left to impartiality and integrity as an investigator.

As to Senator Norris' assertion regarding the means he adopted to procure Mr. Browne's private letter, it will lack something of convincingness for any fair minded citizen who has observed the ethics of the group of senators, of which Senator Norris is a conspicuous member, which has been carrying on investigations in the supposed interests of the public weal. Private correspondence has been obtained before in a manner which Senator Norris no doubt deemed not dishonorable, but in that opinion he has had, we are confident, very little support among intelligent men and women.

Whether Mr. Browne gets his investigation or not, or whether if it is granted it discloses dishonorable methods, there can be no doubt there is need for a thorough review of the methods and standards adopted by Senator Norris and his associates, who have been abusing their senatorial authority and setting precedents in inquisitorial invasions of private right which the senate ought to repudiate and which the American public certainly will when brought before them fully.

"AMERICA FOR AMERICANS."

Dr. Aranha, one of the leaders of the new regime in Brazil, in a conversation with THE TRIBUNE correspondent said: "We will preserve the same relations of extreme cordiality and friendship with the United States as have always prevailed between us. We are all Americans, and America must be for Americans."

This, as THE TRIBUNE has been urging in repeated editorials, should be the true key of American policy from Tierra del Fuego to Hudson bay. We of the new world are building a new society, which despite its great variety of cultural and social background has a deep community of spirit, of political and social aspirations, of outlook upon the future. Our people spring from many nationalities and races of the old world, but we are all Americans, as Dr. Aranha says, and the consciousness of this fact is certain to control our relations and the main current of our common evolution. A statesmanship distracted by surface differences and controversies is not wise. It can retard our progress, but it cannot in the long run resist the force of American destiny. The traditional friendship of the Brazilian republic and the United States is firmly founded on our Americanism. Old world influences have always been at work and are at work today to obscure and weaken this fundamental tie. They will not succeed. The growth of an American consciousness is too strong. It springs from and is constantly fed by the realities of our life in the new world. "We are all Americans, and America must be for Americans."

THE YOUNG EDITORS OF HARVARD.

For a month or so the Harvard daily, the Crimson, has drawn attention by criticism of activities having a patriotic background or purpose. It referred to the American Legion convention in Boston as a brawl. Later it said that the courses in naval and military science were unworthy of the university and a haven and refuge for dull and lazy students. The young editors are impatient in observation of nationalism and its manifestations.

Many schools apparently produce cults in which the virtue of loyalty is regarded as primitive and unintelligent and patriotism the refuge of the feeble-minded. This has considerable pedagogical encouragement and inspiration, and young people, highly conscious of their liberalism, respond actively. That old notions are discreditable may be quite apparent to young liberals who may be more certain of themselves now than they will be later.

Harvard has had a great record in these loyalties, although Memorial hall, which symbolized some of them, seems to have faded out of the uses of the university. Older Harvard men found something worthy in the tablets of its transept, but probably the editors of the Crimson would be bored. The young liberals are naturally the most vocal of student groups and may give an impression of a university which its normal thought does not support, but the impression is created of immaturity manifest as snobbery. If it should be a reflection of an entire student body it would question the worth of the contribution to citizenship later.

THE GALVA KIDNAPING.

Although the authorities have not taken, at this writing, the full gang involved in the Galva kidnaping, their success in uncovering the plot so rapidly and getting some of the criminals was of great importance. The criminals themselves were clumsy, and the victim, his wife, and the law officers used their heads. The consequence was the breakdown of a scheme which might have been worked with at least temporary immunity. The further consequence might have been the encouragement of such crime and other attempts upon citizens and their families.

This development of criminality would be fatal to peace of mind anywhere, and communities will be in luck if law can prove that the crime is too precarious to be undertaken.

THE SECOND DIRIGIBLE.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

It is announced that the navy department will ask for the appropriation of $1,500,000 for the construction of ZRS-5, the second of the two big dirigibles called for by the present lighter-than-air program.

This announcement, as it happens, coincides with the opening of the public inquiry in England on the loss of R-101—a coincidence which only emphasizes the fact that there was nothing in the R-101 disaster which should lead us to suspend the important work in lighter-than-air construction which has been in progress here for so long.

The British dirigible was destroyed by her hydrogen, whatever the primary cause of the accident may have been. But that hydrogen-filled dirigibles are useless in warfare had already been sufficiently demonstrated by the Germans' experience; these two new military dirigibles, like all our others, will be helium filled, and all experience with helium indicates that they should have a range, staying power, and safety that should render them useful adjuncts to surface and airplane fleets. Nor does anything in the R-101 accident disprove that helium-filled dirigibles will have a commercial future. If ZRS-5 is ordered upon completion of ZRS-4, the industry rather painfully established at Akron will be continued.

If the second ship is canceled the whole business will probably have to be wound up. It is scarcely a moment for suggesting the wind-up of any business that has a promise of usefulness and future expansion.

PNEUMONIA VACCINE.

THE most promising proposal for a vaccine against pneumonia that has ever appeared comes from Dr. Victor Ross. The method he is trying is easily applied. It is taken out of a teaspoon and the taste is not bad. Possibly it can be so flavored that children cry for it. It acts quickly.

There is some protection at the end of twenty-four hours, and all there is to be at the end of forty-eight hours. The protection lasts for several weeks, probably longer than the pneumonia season. When protection wears out it can be renewed by another treatment without danger. It does not sensitize. One or a few doses, is all there is to one treatment. It works on lower animals. As far as the trials have gone it has worked on man.

There are reasons for thinking it is also a specific cure for pneumonia if given within the first forty-eight hours after the attack of pneumonia begins. Since pneumonia is the outstanding exception to the rule that infectious diseases are being brought under control, all of this sounds too good to be true. Let us hope and pray.

What is this substance that is being experimented with, and what is the evidence which promises so well? It is a culture of the pneumococcus. Again our friends, the disciples of Hahnemann, say, "Similia similibus curantur." This culture is grown in milk or a mixture containing bile. In some instances the bacilli are broken up; in others, not. The dose is regulated by counts or estimates of the number of bacilli. There is no danger in taking a dose several times as large as the dose needed to protect. In fact, so far as concerns symptoms that can be noted there is no effect from the dose.

Within twenty-four hours after the dose is swallowed scientific tests show that the test animal is becoming resistant to pneumonia. In forty-eight hours resistance is at its maximum and it continues high for several weeks. There is no gain in giving any more so long as that resistance keeps up. This quick action gives time to protect an animal against pneumonia if given as a cold starts, or to cure a pneumonia that is just getting under way.

If the method works with human beings, children with measles and whooping cough can be vaccinated against pneumonia, as can people who are to take anesthetics, or as can old people. Perhaps it may become the habit of important men and women to be vaccinated every January that they and their dependents may be spared the hazards of the next three months. Perhaps persons developing colds would take pneumonia vaccine as a routine treatment.

FIGHTING POISON IVY.

T. A. J. writes: A middling strong solution of ferrous sulphate in water will prevent poison ivy dermatitis. Wash the hands and arms with this solution before going out to eradicate the vines and enjoy immunity. The only objection to ferrous sulphate solution is that it stains the clothing. Wear old clothes when you use it. Washing with soap and water I have found of little value.

REPLY.

Wash again after exposure and as promptly as possible. Since the poison is very durable, old plants and old clothing may poison. Ferrous sulphate in watery solution is also a cure.

SUNSTROKE.

Mrs. J. M. H. writes: Will you please explain how a sunstroke leaves any one? Does it cause blood clots, numbness in the face and fingers? Can it be cured without operation? How long will it take any one to get over it?

REPLY.

The symptoms you give are not likely to follow sunstroke. As a rule, sunstroke leaves no after effects. Surgery does not offer cure. Among the occasional after-effects are sensitiveness to heat and light, headaches and, in a few instances, mental disturbance. A peculiar form of chronic meningitis is a rare after effect.

LONG WORKING HOURS.

Bensenville, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A certain factory in Chicago makes their men work from 15 to 16 hours every day except Sunday. Sunday they must work 9½ hours. Are they allowed to work the men such long hours and without giving them Sunday off? To whom does one report this if they are not allowed to do it? The shop is not union.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—[Friend of the People.]—Please advise if a Spanish seaman who, on account of illness, remained in Norfolk, Va., in 1921 and subsequently married and has two children, is of good character and has references, can apply for citizenship papers?

M. S.

If the person referred to came to the United States before June 3, 1921, he may apply to the immigration service for a certificate of registry and after he has been registered he may apply for naturalization; but if he came to the United States after that date he is not in a position to apply for naturalization.

OUR CANDIDATE!

We should have told you long ago, but we were afraid you would forget it. Even if you pasted the paragraph in your hat it might not have done any good. Somebody might have stolen your hat. We will now give you the real low down on the man to vote for today. The one who will reach around the corner and grab prosperity by the tail and yank it out so quick it will make your head swim. The man who will handle the tariff, wheat, unemployment, and everything else as quick as you could bat your eye, or get a bat in the eye. Fellow citizens, we bring to your attention our old candidate whose name is a household word to you all. You know him—he is your friend. He has never been elected yet, but that is no reason why he shouldn't be today. He will be if we all do our duty. Friends, we ask you to vote for none other than old Etaoin Shrdlu for any office at all. Or for all of 'em. Vote for Etaoin Shrdlu. Take this paragraph into the voting booth with you. Do not forget the name—Etaoin Shrdlu.

IN MOSCOW TOWN.

In Moscow town, where the dead are dead,
Lies Lenin, cold on his crimson bed,
While, night after night, the peasants march
Under the mausoleum's arch,
Lured by the ruddy gloom and glare
Of the lights that burn in the Blood-Red Square.

In Moscow town, where the dead are dead,
And never a prayer for them is said,
Lies Lenin, cold and ghastly and grim:
No priest has shriven the soul of him;
But artists come to his couch by stealth
To tint his corpse with the hue of health.

In Moscow town, where the dead are dead,
Dead Lenin rules from his crimson bed,
While somewhere, afar on a calm, white star,
There broods a sceptreless, chastened Czar,
Who stoops to drop a compassionate tear

AND, INDEED, WHY NOT?

Too bad we can't vote on that bed sheet ballot today the same way we do business in the U. S. A.—on the installment plan. And we Americans are so accustomed to doing everything on the installment plan that it'll be a wonder today if a lot of sovereign voters don't demand the right to vote for half a dozen candidates today and come back Wednesday and vote for another half dozen, and Thursday six more, and s. on. On the installment plan one could get through the entire ballot very nicely in a month or so. And when you sit right down and think it over, installment voting oughtn't to be any worse than installment buying. We get our diamond rings, rabbit skin coats, automobiles, radios, iceboxes, Turkish rugs that way—why not vote that way?

THE EVIDENCE IS IN AND THE JURY HAS RETIRED

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 4, 1914.

CHICAGO.—At 3:30 o'clock this morning the United States senatorship from Illinois was in doubt, following yesterday's elections. Lawrence Y. Sherman and Roger C. Sullivan each asserts, through his chairman, that he has been elected. Raymond Robins, the Progressive, is hopelessly out of it. Cook county has been carried by Sullivan by a plurality over Sherman of 55,000 to 58,000. Downstate has been carried by Sherman by a plurality estimated by the Associated Press of 69,000. The entire Democratic county ticket, with the possible exception of the country town members of the county board, is elected, with Peter Reinberg for president of the county board and Sullivan leading the ticket. The Republicans regained control of the Illinois delegation in the house of representatives, only a half dozen Democrats of the present overwhelming majority in the Illinois representation being reelected.

NEW YORK.—Charles S. Whitman, Republican candidate for governor, was elected by a plurality of 125,000 over Gov. Martin H. Glynn, Democrat. It was a Whitman tidal wave. His plurality is the largest ever attained by a Republican candidate in New York except that of Frank S. Black, in 1896, which was 200,992.

VALPARAISO, Chile.—A squadron of five German warships, under command of Admiral Graf von Snee, on Oct. 1 met a British flotilla of four ships, sank one, set fire to another, and badly damaged a third, but was unable to prevent the escape of a fourth. The battle was fought off Caronel just before dark. The cruiser Monmouth, with all on board, went down, and the cruiser Goodhope was set on fire. The German ships were the Gneisneau, Scharnhorst, Nurnberg, Leipsic, and Dresden, none of which was damaged. They have been scouring the seas for merchantmen belonging to the allied nations.

NOVEMBER 4, 1900.

CHICAGO. — Chicago's Democracy parade passed over two miles of downtown streets with 20,716 marchers, by actual count, abundant red fire and rockets, many brigadier generals, colonels, and captains, many signs prophetic of Democratic victory, and a great blare of tin horns. William Jennings Bryan reviewed the parade from a stand in Jackson boulevard, near Plymouth court. A blending of campaign enthusiasm and strong drink brought about a condition that kept the police busy until an early hour today.

CHICAGO.—To furnish its readers with the most accurate estimates of the result on next Tuesday's election from the acknowledged leaders of all parties, THE TRIBUNE secured signed statements from national and state chairmen, giving their claims. The Republicans claim 309 electors out of a total of 447, and the Democratic leaders claim for Bryan a total of 317.

NEW YORK.—Despite rain from dawn until 3:30 in the afternoon, 87,615 men, by actual count, passed by Gov. Roosevelt in review today during the sound money parade of 1900. Millionaires tramped through the muddy streets side by side with laboring men.

NOVEMBER 4, 1880.

LONDON.—The Times, in its editorial on the election, says: "There are good reasons for believing that Gen. Garfield's administration will be like the present one—considerate in policy. The foreign policy of the Republican party, in spite of the friction caused by the war, has been, on the whole, friendly to this country and to peace all over the world."

NEW YORK.—The financial interests in Wall street wear their brightest smiles this morning as the result of the election. No greater joy has been felt since the surrender of the rebel hosts at Appomattox in April, 1865.

NEW YORK.—The Democrats, or those who were visible this morning, were resigned and, strange as it appears, none seemed inclined to charge fraud. They cursed and bemoaned their fate, but refused decidedly to talk about the result.

THE NAVY IN 1916.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 21.—Your editorial on the suppression of diplomatic correspondence with England and her allies during the late war is a striking example of how prejudice affects judgment.

Your claim is that if in 1914-'16 this country had possessed a much stronger navy our protests to England and her allies relative to their interference with our foreign trade would have received far more attention—in other words, that what determined the attitude of the allies toward our protests was the weakness of our navy.

This is absurd, for at that time we possessed a weapon so powerful that in comparison our navy was of no consequence at all. This weapon was our ability to immediately stop all export of goods and credit and, in event of war, to seriously interfere with exports from Canada, for during these years the allies were so dependent upon supplies from America that a cessation of these would have assured their defeat.

The allies knew this, but they also knew how strong was the sympathy for their cause in this country. Had our navy been thrice as large this sympathy would have been the same, and it was this sympathy and the neutrality violations of the Germans which made it safe for the allies to partially ignore our protests.

GEORGE SELENINE.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 22.—Frederick A. Tilton, third assistant postmaster general, is credited with saying, in his address to the Inland Daily Press association, at the Morrison hotel, that "much of the 1930 deficit was due to the free handling of government mail and of mail for the blind, while further losses were sustained through the carrying of air mail."

In this connection it is interesting to note the following items taken from the 1929 report of the operations of the post-office department:

Cost of carrying penalty [government] mail	$ 7,110,483.94
Cost of carrying franked [congressional] mail	637,379.69
Cost of carrying mail for the blind	54,790.83
Excess cost of carrying air mail over receipts	6,918,468.23
Excess cost of carrying second class over receipts	94,471,038.64
Total excess cost over receipts of all postal activities	87,985,841.13

It appears, therefore, that the items mentioned in the news article referred to represent only a trifling portion of the deficit, while the loss on second class alone is in excess of the gross postal deficit for 1929. Why not tell the whole truth about the matter?

E. J. BARKLOW.

MR. DAY'S DISPATCHES.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—All the Lithuanian Americans of Chicago are very much pleased with Donald Day, CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE foreign correspondent, who is writing news from Kaunas, Lithuania, in a true, unbiased manner.

There are over 100,000 Lithuanian Americans in Chicago with about 50,000 American born young people. The majority of them are steady readers of THE TRIBUNE. When any one throws news about Lithuania and Lithuanians it is immediately reported to one another, with great enthusiasm and satisfaction.

ALEXANDER A. SAUSS.

IN REBUTTAL.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—B. J. Mullaney of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company answered the complaint of H. A. G. and "the wife" by stating how voluntarily the employés contributed to the relief fund. In fact, the employés only accepted an invitation to give. Or, rather they were privileged to get in on the fund.

Mr. Mullaney states the almost 100 per cent response is a complete answer to H. A. G. and "the wife." The fact is they all feared unemployment and therefore meekly, silently agreed to do so in order to stave off what might happen. Can any one believe that a man supporting a wife and three youngsters on $175 a month will voluntarily donate $7.64 each month for six months?

The employés appreciate the weakness of the cause, but the amount asked is too great for the income of many of those affected. If the pressure of the request had been relieved; if each employé had been given the opportunity to think for himself the result would have been a lot different.

EMPLOYÉ.

THE INCENTIVE.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—If Mr. Mullaney would make a canvass of the employés' district instead of taking the word of the department heads that the employés were contributing willingly he would take an entirely different attitude. I have failed as yet to find even one employé who was guided by his conscience, as Mr. Mullaney puts it, in making this contribution. They were faced with the nasty rumor that those who did not sign up would get a layoff. The large majority signed because they could better afford the loss of a half of a day's pay each pay day than the loss of their job.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

THE FIRST RESPONSIBILITY.

Highwood, Ill., Oct. 31.—I know that the employés of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railway did not give voluntarily, but because most of them were afraid to do otherwise. Many employés have friends and some even family relatives who are out of work and whom they could and should help instead of giving up one day's pay to some man who wouldn't work if he could get a job.

FAIRNESS.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Please accept the thanks of the undersigned for your splendid editorial, "The Municipal Judges." In your issue of Tuesday, Oct. 28, 1930, in which you indorsed the candidacy of Judge Albert B. George.

DRINKING PARTY STUDENT HOST IS FOUND DEAD

Report He Took Poison Is Investigated.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Drinking parties are still the vogue here in the capital, center of the prohibition experiment. As an aftermath to a student drinking party in which four young men and four girls participated last night, Charles F. Brandler, 22 years old, was found dead in the bathroom of his apartment today and police were investigating his companion's story that he took poison.

Brandler, a second year law student at Georgetown university, and his brother, Robert, a Catholic university student, were hosts at the party which was in full swing when Charles walked into the room carrying an empty box that bore a "poison" label.

"I have just swallowed this stuff," he announced. The others laughed at what they believed was a joke, they left, and thought no more about it until the body was discovered this morning.

Three Are Questioned.

Robert Brandler and Peter Toner, a classmate of the dead youth, and Charles Homer, another student, were taken into custody today by Sergt. Charles E. Mansfield of the Washington police homicide squad. They were detained for questioning, but later were released. The names of the girls were not disclosed.

The death of the Georgetown student was one of several which the police attributed indirectly to liquor drinking at week-end celebrations in the capital.

Edward Warnock, 39 years old, a world war veteran, succumbed this morning after a week-end of drinking in his flat. His roommate, John P. Pickett, was treated for intoxication and locked up. A gallon of alcohol was taken from the room.

Woman Fatally Hurt.

Mrs. Gladys Starr, 25 years old, a Washington resident, was fatally injured when the roadster she was driving left the Lee-Jackson highway near Fairfax, Va., and overturned. Two men who were with her and escaped with slight injuries were arrested by Fairfax county police for a hearing after officers were said to have found two pints of liquor in the wrecked car. The men denied they had been drinking or that they knew there was liquor in the car.

Another incident involving liquor which attracted public attention in the capital today was a raid made by ten policemen Saturday on the home of William P. Flythe, a White House newspaper writer. Commissioner Herbert Crosby, in charge of police, ordered an investigation after Flythe reported that the police armed with a John Doe warrant had ransacked his place but found no liquor. The warrant complained that a still was operating in the basement. A grand jury investigation was ordered.

NORMAL TIMES ARE HERE AGAIN, BUSINESS TOLD

Find Sales Optimism in Power Industry.

Prosperity was the keynote of the annual fall-winter meeting of R. Cooper Jr., Inc., distributors of General Electric refrigerators, which last evening was attended by more than 1,000 utility leaders, bankers, business executives, dealers, and salesmen. The meeting was held at the Palmer house.

"Our sales so far this year have shown an increase of 50 per cent over the same period of last year," said Mr. Cooper, "and we feel justified in terming this a prosperous year. It has been called abnormal, but we do not believe that is true. We have passed through three years of abnormal conditions and have returned to normal times again.

"We believe that prosperity is simply taking advantage of what you have to work with and our sales this year justify the belief that we can look forward to even greater prosperity next year."

Three Year Sales Program.

Paul S. Clapp, managing director of the National Electric Light association, declared that the electrical industry was in the first stage of a sustained three year sales program and that the refrigerator branch of the industry had pledged 1,000,000 sales for 1931.

Mr. Clapp pointed out the relation of the increased sales of electric refrigerators to the electric light and power industry, the employment of more men to install equipment, and the use of more labor in the factories and mines.

"At President Hoover's conference of business and industrial leaders last fall the expenditure of 930 millions of dollars was pledged for 1930 by the electric light and power interests," said Mr. Clapp. "When the final figures are in the total will be closer to one billion, including 196 millions spent by the Insull companies."

Domestic Flow Increases.

Mr. Clapp said that although the use of electricity for industrial purposes had decreased during the year due to the curtailing of production, an increase of 15 per cent had been shown for domestic purposes.

Among those present at the meeting were Melvin Traylor, president of the First National bank; B. E. Sunny, chairman of the board of the Illinois Bell Telephone company; John P. Gilchrist, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company; Clement Studebaker, president of the Illinois Light and Power company; G. A. Hughes, president of the Edison General Electric Appliance company; W. J. Cox, vice president of the Foreman State bank; T. K. Quinn and P. B. Zimmerman, general manager and sales manager respectively of the General Electric company; J. W. Root of Holabird & Root, architects.

Inspects Cadets

An informal inspection of the R. O. T. C. unit of the University of Chicago was made yesterday by Maj. Gen. Harry G. Bishop, chief of field artillery of the United States army. He arrived in Chicago to visit the university unit and the 6th corps area headquarters.

His inspection was under the guidance of Maj. T. J. J. Christian, professor of military science and grandson of Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson.

Gen. Bishop will inspect the cadet units at the University of Iowa and the University of Illinois during the next few days.

Kipling Chides MacDonald Plan to End War Honors

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A poem by Rudyard Kipling entitled "Memories," appearing in a morning paper, has aroused great interest here. It is interpreted as a bitter satire on the MacDonald administration's recent suggestion to foreign powers that wreaths should not be laid on the tombs of unknown soldiers during official visits. Kipling lost a son in the war.

BRITISH EMPIRE TO HAVE TRIBUNAL TO SETTLE ROWS

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Substantial progress was made today by the imperial conference in clearing up various questions which have been under consideration.

The most definite decision, it is understood, was the approval by the heads of the delegations of the Sankey committee's plan for an empire tribunal. This plan is for some sort of an arbitration body, appeal to which shall be purely voluntary, and it will deal only with disputes between states of the commonwealth. It will in no way deal with matters on which individuals now appeal to the privy council against the supreme courts of their own states.

The tribunal, which will not be a permanent court, but will be set up for each dispute, will consist of five men—two chosen by each of the disputants, and the fifth by these four men. Two of the four are to be judges and the others not.

Approve Communication Plan.

The heads of the delegations are also reported to have approved the Sankey committee's recommendations on means of communication between states of the commonwealth and foreign powers. At present, in cases where dominions are not represented directly in foreign capitals, it is the practice of the dominion to approach the dominions office, which, in turn, approaches the foreign office. The foreign office then instructs the British ambassador to act for the dominion.

It is now proposed, in the case of emergency, to allow the dominion to instruct the British ambassador direct, at the same time informing the British government and asking the ambassador to wait for confirmation of the orders from London, if possible.

Another matter considered was that of personal touch between the states of the commonwealth. Australia led the way some years ago by appointing a liaison officer, attached to the foreign office in London, who keeps the Australian government informed on all that is going on.

The imperial conference, it is understood, will indorse this system not only as to the appointment of a London representative by all dominions but by all dominions to all other dominions. Thus, each dominion would have a sort of interempire diplomatic service, and there would be fifty or more good jobs for ambitious empire diplomats.

The Sankey committee also recommended the adoption as a whole of the report of the conference on the operation of dominion legislation. This would involve a repeal of the colonial law validity act, which gives the British government a theoretical right to veto "colonial" legislation under certain circumstances. It will take some years to carry this out if it is finally adopted.

Armed

When men went in armor the knight who sallied forth from his own castle usually won the fray. He had more heft to his sword stroke. It is so today, when getting and holding a job is the order of existence. Nothing gives confidence like home ownership. Land is the basis of all wealth.

Dear Mr. Benham:

In view of the fact that during July, August, and September of this year we have used more lineage in the Chicago Tribune than in all other Chicago papers combined, the following information should be of interest to you.

During the month of September just passed, our sales in Cook county, instead of showing the usual seasonal drop of about 20% under August, actually showed an increase of 74.5% over August.

This indicates to us that business can be improved in spite of general conditions. We believe we have a good product, rightly priced. We believe we have mination to go after sales, regardless of alibis. This determination, backed up with adequate advertising in the Chicago Tribune, has resulted in the progress noted above.

Thanking you for the 100% co-operation which we have received from the Tribune, we are Very truly yours,

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila Fay married King George despite the opposition of her uncle and guardian, John Donohue, and her former suitor, Jim Molloy, and disapproving friends.

King, known as "the wild boy of Harvard," must wait several years before receiving the principal of the fortune left by his father, Joshua George, of chewing gum fame.

After the wedding they ran away to avoid the reception. Instead of going to Monterey, where their baggage had been shipped, they slip off to Lake Tahoe. King is strangely restless and irritable and a phone call which Sheila overhears King make reveals to her the cause—he is a drug addict and, because of their changed honeymoon plans, is without a supply. Sheila determines to fight for King's regeneration and consults a federal narcotic agent, who suggests a program which, if rigidly adhered to, would effect a cure.

King had entered his favorite horse, Wind, in the Tia Juana races with the intention of riding him himself, so they go to San Diego. The day before the race Sheila overhears her husband and his trainer planning to dope Wind to insure his winning. The day of the race King asks Sheila to place his bets for him on Wind. Instead she places them on his opponent, who wins. After the race Sheila tells King what she had done and why. King had promised Sheila to go with her to Alaska after the races. Jim Molloy is in Nome and he meets them there at Sheila's request. He helps her to carry out her plan to take King to a remote spot, there to help him fight off his baneful habit. Sheila and Jim had booked passage on the boat returning to California. Jim invites them for an early farewell breakfast at his cabin. King's coffee is drugged.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

THE ABDUCTION.

Jim's voice had a strained sound to Sheila's ear. It called on her to help him out. Perhaps he had not counted on needing more of the chloral hydrate tablets than had gone into that cup of coffee. Or perhaps, knowing this drugging and abducting business bore the look of crime, he had already destroyed the bottle in which the tablets had come? She bent over her own cup, tasting the contents, pretending to taste what was on her spoon. "Such delicious coffee, Jim. I hope you've made a lot?"

"One cup won't keep you awake. It's really weak," urged Jim, his voice matter of fact and steady.

Surely, she thought, King could read the guilt in her crimsoned face! But he was gazing with indecision at the cup; now taking it from Jim's hand, now adding sugar and cream.

Jim went into the kitchen for the waffles, and Sheila had to watch alone the cup of loving treachery being sipped, and then, appreciatively, drained. Was she only imagining that King had turned one of his expressionless stares on her face?

She wanted to dash the cup from his hand and to confess what they were doing to him; she wanted to beg him to be a partner in the sad business.

Were they to be caught stealing from Jim's shack, were his sinister looking burden to be challenged, how helpless they would be.

But that would have been childish, as well as stupid and cowardly. King would not acknowledge his habits; he would deny them.

Jim brought in some toast, saying the first installment of waffles had scorched. She tried to eat the toast; she choked over the coffee. To her the situation was intolerable; it was much worse than she had visualized. She was in the house of the man who had been her suitor; together they were drugging the man who had come between them; may a crime seem to spring from such innocent ground? What interpretation would be put on their flight were they to be discovered? There were five hours between them and security. The most dangerous moments were those immediately to be faced when they would leave Jim's cottage; when they would leave Nome.

Jim entered again with the waffles. He gave one glance at King's drooping head, at the closed eyes, and, after depositing the plate, went forthwith to the window, making an acute survey of the road. Again he drew the curtains, coming back to look at the relaxed figure in the wicker chair. Cautiously he touched, and then lifted, King's hand; let it fall again. Sickeningly limp! Molloy nodded to Sheila. "Let's go." He scattered some ashes on the fire, blew out the lamp and the candles which stood on the wooden mantel. "Wrap those waffles in a napkin and eat them on the way. Had your coffee?"

The slender form of King was being gathered up in his arms. "Cover him with that auto robe. And shut the door after you. All your things are in the car?"

"Yes," whispered Sheila, and followed him out into the darkness.

Since entering Jim's cabin a few lights had blossomed from neighboring windows; they were shining dimly through drawn curtains and sending a chink of color past opaque shades. At any moment some one might open one of those doors; one of those moving shadows might emerge upon the road. Were they to be caught stealing from Jim's shack, were his sinister looking burden to be challenged, how helpless they would be! Hiding the truth and protecting King would incriminate Jim as well as herself; would eternally alienate King. "O, can't we hurry?" she whispered. With exasperating care Jim was placing King in the machine.

"I don't dare to handle him roughly. He stirred just now. He's not deeply asleep yet. Steady, Sheila. It won't be long before we'll be out of town. It's only a short way to the tracks."

They passed a pedestrian on their way to the dogmobile. Sheila was certain he turned back to stare at the covered figure in the rear seat. But he did not follow them. . . .

The flat car awaited them. The Malamutes were harnessed and waiting; restless and eager. It was a matter of a minute or so, getting King established among the rugs and cushions and the light pieces of baggage transferred from machine to flat car. Sheila tried to help with these details, but Jim had insisted she ensconce herself at once with King and support his head. She watched as he tested straps and buckles, released the leaders, and took his seat, from whence he sent a reassuring glance to her.

Like race horses, the dogs sped down the tracks. In a few seconds they would be free of Nome. Sheila turned for a last look at the cross of electric lights blazing from the spire of St. Peter's. Joe Jordan's cross, gift of an agnostic saloon keeper to the town. Many a sinking hope had been revived by its welcoming signal; many a freezing wayfarer had read promise of life in its message. Much would have happened, thought Sheila, before she saw Joe Jordan's cross again!

They were rushing past the road commission flags—set a hundred feet apart on six foot pipes—were heading now towards the mountain topped by the anvil shaped rock which gives the peak its name. And now they were skirting it, with King mountain coming into sight. When they began to make this last ascent the dogs were excited by a band of ptarmigan, and they took the hill as though it were flat road. Their pace never slackened as they curved about the snowy cone.

Over his shoulder Molloy sent a word of reassurance to Sheila. "Don't be alarmed when the dogs board the car. Soon we'll begin to descend; we'll coast down."

Hardly had he finished his sentence when the shaggy, steaming bodies leaped on the flat floor of the car, surrounding her and the prostrate form of King. There had been no signal from the driver. Nine pairs of bright eyes were watching, not Molloy, but the road ahead, ready to assume their burden again. They were like humans, thought the Chechako, admiring them, but at the same time terrified lest they waken King, who had not moved a muscle since they left Nome.

Before they reached the first river crossing—the Nome river bridge—an old gray canopy had covered the sky, had obliterated the stars. The usual heralding circles had not accompanied the dawn. A Chechako could only surmise that behind that solid bank of clouds the sun was rising, or had already risen behind the false sky.

While crossing the bridge she felt a cold finger touch her cheek. Not snow? Came another flake, and yet another, each one melting as it fell. In a low voice Jim began to call on his dog team, on his leader: "Mush, Kaltag, mush!"

In a low pitched voice she asked him, "Are we running into a storm, Jim?"

"Just a skiff of snow, perhaps. But one can't tell—we'll have to make better time to keep on the safe side."

He was referring to the mile or more of walking between the Siscovich cabin and the second river crossing which had to be made by boat. The cabin and the second river crossing which had to be made by boat. The Eskimo, he had told her, would be waiting for them at the far bank to help Jim carry a stretcher of willow poles and to make a second trip for the baggage. So much depended on getting King into the cabin before he regained consciousness. A heavy fall of snow would seriously hamper them, for, though Jim had brought snow shoes, she did not know how to manage them, and Jim, she knew, would never push ahead without her.

"How many miles to the boat, Jim?"

"Ten at the most."

Ten! The river crossing by skiff then to be made, and a mile of plodding against wind and snow. . . . If Jim had eaten anything for breakfast it was not in her presence; her own meal had been negligible. In the basket at her feet were packed hard boiled eggs and sandwiches in oiled paper wrappings, assorted fruits, and a thermos bottle of coffee. She managed to get the lid off without disturbing King's position; pulling the basket closer to her hand, she extricated the sandwiches, and stripped an egg of its shell before calling Jim's attention to her offering. The hot coffee in the cup cover of the thermos bottle bathed the fingers which tried to hand it to the dog driver.

"I think you'll have to drink from the bottle, Jim."

Good Morning!

They shouldn't kill Jack Holt in pictures. At least, they shouldn't unless they provide an equally glamorous gentleman to survive and succeed him in the affections of his screen families. Matt Moore as the John Sheridan of this film will win nary a loving look from you. Good hearted chap, Sheridan! Kind to children. BUT—a weak cup of tea as compared to that stout and sparkling beverage, Charles Hart, gangster.

"The Squealer" features, as you have gathered, a hero who is also a villain. ONE of the villains. The piece abounds in villains. It sings of bootleggers, hijackers, murders, cops, and cold, gray prison walls. It is another "gangster" movie.

Mr. Holt is Charles Hart, a king bee bootlegger. Robert Ellis portrays Vanetti, a rival liquor trafficker. Hart has a beautiful wife and a cunning little boy. Maybe Vanetti has, too. You never know, for he passes on shortly after you meet him at a banquet given by himself. The sort of banquet Mr. Pasley rites of with such feeling in that gem of macabre humor, "Al Capone, the Biography of a Self-Made Man." Vanetti had intended his party to serve as a gateway into the hereafter—but not for himself. He gets fooled—and the man who does the fooling is Charles Hart.

Hart, through means the picture shall show you, is captured by the police. He is sentenced to the "big house" for seven years. While there his faithful henchmen tells him something concerning his wife and his best friend [Lawyer Sheridan] that turns the prisoner's love for both to hate and a parching thirst for revenge.

Jail break!

Into his home slips a fugitive to settle a personal matter and discovers—what sends him forth to prove that Charles Hart, gangster, is a soldier and a gentleman.

Dorothy Revier does some nice emotional work as Mrs. Hart. Davy Lee is adorable as a bootlegger's child. Sure, it's an elegant scene in which he makes three twelve minute eggs play Indian with him! You will laugh heartily at all concerned in this episode and be especially intrigued by Matthew Betz as he labors to change his fearsome visage into a phiz a little child might be persuaded to come unto.

Robert Ellis is good as Vanetti, though his Italian accent often stubs a toe. But, as said, he et accent don't stick around long. Jack Holt? AH—WHAT a man! And what an actor.

Direction is clever. Sound and photography satisfy. Dialogue is snappy on the whole. You never lose interest in the yarn even if it IS—"just another bootlegger story."

SKEERY? Quite!
QUALITY: Good.
DIRECTION—Intense.
ACTING: Interesting. It should be, shouldn't it? Look at the cast!
DIALOGUE: Forced and redundant.

STORY: The one [with variations] where the relatives of an eccentric deceased assemble at midnight in the old mansion on the outskirts of nowhere to hear the family lawyer read the will. All are welcomed by a blood curdling East Indian housekeeper who has converse with spirits. Enter madhouse guard looking for escaped lunatc . . . You guess from here.

SETS, ETC.: Well gotten up and atmospheric—and quite, quite familiar to you.

SUSPENSE: Considerable. You get one or two real scares.

REMARKS: There's too much of the housekeeper and her I'm-trying-to-scare-you graveyard utte rances. Folks do things you know the WOULDN'T do under the circumstances. Note timorous maid preparing, without protest, to spend the night in the room which, says the housekeeper, looking awful, "ain't been used since your uncle died in that bed . . ." Film's a bit too long and too reminiscent of other thrillers to be sensationally disturbing. But it serves. Leave the children at home. See you tomorrow.

YALE GOTHIC BERATED BY STUDENT WRITER; CALLS IT "DECADENT"

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Gothic architecture of all of Yale's newly erected million dollar buildings was severely denounced today in the second issue of the Harkness Hoot, a literary magazine sponsored by two Yale undergraduates.

In an essay of eight pages and a picture section of eight more pages, William Harlan Hale, one of the editors, berates the university for not building in the architecture of today and thus try to express the ideas of a living world and not of the past.

The writer finds the greatest inspiration in factories, power houses, bridges, skyscrapers, all of which he sees as American and alive, as opposed to what is medieval.

In particular the new Sterling library, considered the architectural pride of the university is challenged. The essay says, "Few works can equal it as a monument of lifelessness and decadence; none can surpass it in extravagance and falsity."

Jibing at the "girder-Gothic" which has turned a modern library into a "fortress" and a modern gymnasium into a "cathedral," the essay says "no man and no nation who possessed a life giving creative sense ever dreamed of copying the work of a previous age. We associate the phenomenon of imitation with people who are sterile, with eras whose tendency is retrogression and atavism."

More Harkness Gifts.

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—A gift of $600,000 from Edward G. Harkness to increase the endowment of the department of surgery of Columbia university and to enable the trustees to place the department "upon a full university basis" was announced today by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university.

The new gift follows one of $500,000 from Mr. Harkness, announced Oct. 9.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Modern education has swung into goose step methods that offer young people a socialized training in which final emphasis is placed on group thinking, group conduct, and mass production of learning, under behavior patterns which regard individuals as tin soldiers geared to a standardized intellectual and moral stride.

This view was voiced yesterday by Brother Julius, F. C. S., pioneer Catholic educator, formerly of Chicago, who has returned to this city after nearly 25 years' absence, to prepare the celebration of his 50th anniversary of his entrance to his teaching order which is devoted to the training of young men. The jubilee services will be held at St. Mel's church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Brother Julius for the last 15 years has been vocational director of the order in the district of St. Louis. He began his teaching in Chicago in the early '80s in old St. Patrick's academy, Des Plaines and Adams streets.

According to testimony of his former pupils, many of whom later held prominent positions in the life of the city, Brother Julius did not spare the rod. They asserted their memories of his large frame and great physical strength still remain vivid. They admit that Brother Julius warded pupils, regarded by other teachers as incorrigible. Listed among Brother Julius' former pupils are Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk; Bernard J. Fallon, superintendent of the elevated lines, and the late Congressman John W. Rainey.

Brother Julius said he looks at present conditions with dismay. He spoke of the current "seething and conflicting schisms and systems." In moral areas he pointed to the attempted leadership of "prohibitions and amendments, leagues and counter leagues with which the world is agog."

"The pupil must see in his teacher a person whose character and example are an incentive to correct thinking and right living," Brother Julius said. "Teachers must not be faddists or hobbyists, but must be embodiments of Christian virtue, if we are to have a Christian society."

The veteran teacher characterized the present educational leadership as one of "free thoughtfulness." He asserted each decade of youth in this sorted each decade of youth in this country is made "the football of a fresh crop of theories as absurd as they are plausibly expressed."

Raisa, Glade, Marshall Are Stars of "Norma"; Other Musical Events

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Norma," last night's attraction of the Civic Opera company, had something of the effect of a ninth inning victory. It started at a somewhat low emotional level. Even the sense of pitch of some of the artists was affected, and this has not been common this season. But the performance grew better toward the end and by the time that it was necessary to leave the opera house it showed every sign of making a strong finish.

Wherefore, it was well once again to behold Rosa Raisa in the magnificent figure she makes of this work's name rôle, to realize that the greatly talented Coe Glade has made distinct progress in voice and art since last she sang the part of Adalgisa, to witness Charles Marshall in one of his finest heroic tenor parts, to see and hear Chase Baromeo in the dignified distinction that he gave to the druid chief.

"Norma" is not to be undertaken lightly or unadvisedly. It makes enormous demands upon its singers. Nothing in any way slacking or amateurish can be admitted. Consequently, one of the best evidences of what the Civic Opera has become is the fact that it is able to present the work.

Music of the past, music of the present, and music of the future—perhaps—came into hearing yesterday afternoon at the Playhouse, when Hans Barth played a recital upon the harpsichord, the piano as we know it, and a piano of his own devising that plays quarter tones.

The third instrument was a large affair, looking much like a grand piano holding another somewhat smaller one in its lap. It has two keyboards, one the usual white, the other red. The pianist found it necessary to elevate himself and his seat upon a raised platform in order to reach the keys comfortably.

As to the quarter tone music, the case was not fully proved either way. Mr. Barth played three pieces, two by himself and one by George Gershwin, also some encores. Combining notes from the two keyboards in the upper part of the register produced some pleasant atmospheric effects; the bass notes made not so much difference; the middle part was merely like two pianos that had not been tuned together.

Because of the nonarrival of the music, Mr. Stock will defer the performance of Gruenberg's "Enchanted Isle" at the symphony concerts Friday and Saturday. In its place he will present another novelty, a symphony by Karol Szymanowski called "Chant de Nuit."

The first performance of "Die Meistersinger" in the history of the Civic Opera company will be given Nov. 20. Pending the recovery of Maria Rajdl, the part of Eva will be sung by Lotte Lehmann.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE new play at the Princess, sponsored by the Dramatic League of Chicago, is a romantic fantasy that tells a fable about the humanization of the black archangel called Death. It has won an international reputation, not so much by its dramatic values, which are thin, as by its novelty of subject and its overtones of somber poetry. "Death Takes a Holiday" mediates with distinct charm and unique flavor upon a subject that all of us are afraid of—and it softens that fear.

Its plot formula is familiar; there have been many plays dealing with a group of characters among whom there suddenly appears a mysterious stranger, apparently human, but trailing clouds of supernatural power. "The Servant in the House," "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," "The Devil"—their titles are like a catalogue of famous plays.

But this "Death Takes a Holiday" differs from them all, except in structure. The fact that its central character is an incarnation of mankind's most primitive dread gives the play an emotional impressiveness which its situations fail to support. It is a play which captures its audiences, not by its strength as drama, but by the magic of its idea. In this case the play itself is not the thing—your own imagination turns the trick. The success of "Death Takes a Holiday" is due to the auto-hypnosis of its audiences.

Into a ducal castle, somewhere in Italy, there comes, after certain sinister portents, a figure robed in black with a skull-like face. He looks like Vedder's picture of the prophet Hosea; but he confides to the duke that he is Death [in person], come to earth on a three days' holiday, to learn something about mortal emotions—why men fear him so greatly, for example, and also why they talk so much about this little thing called love. He declares that he will masquerade in the duke's house party for a week-end as Prince Sirki of Siberia; and if his incognito is broken the penalty will be—well, you know.

In the guise of Prince Sirki, Signor Death is no longer like the prophet Hosea, but a swagger guardsman in a Molpar comedy. He wears a uniform and a monocle, and his grim visage is softened with an occasional ironic smile. He is, in fact, an ingratiating man of the European world, although he grows bleak and shadowy now and then, as echoes of his dreadful profession drift across his new found human consciousness.

You will find, in Philip Merivale's acting of this striking rôle, a memorable characterization. The threat, the power, the infinite blankness, and the terrible gentleness that belong to the archangel called Death seem to have flowed into this fine interpretation. Mr. Merivale has the dignity for it, the physical dominance, the suavity. And also the important element of macabre humor. This is, I think, the fine art of acting.

The dark fascinations of Prince Sirki bring the women of the house party fluttering around him. But he finds that they offer him passion only, and he has become human and romantic enough to want a love that will cling to him when it knows the truth. . . . The ingenue of the party is an ethereal creature who is not dismayed when Sirki says: "I am Death. Come with me." She answers, "I am Love, and not afraid," or words to that effect, and so they drift out into the infinite together.

"Death Takes a Holiday" is meager of incident. But it is rich in mood, and, with the notable coöperation of Mr. Merivale, it makes a stimulating evening of unusual drama.

Yankee Boys World's Best, Says Dan Beard

He's Here to Open the University of Scouting.

"Uncle Dan" Beard, appearing about half as old as his 80 years, stood trim and straight as a soldier yesterday in the uniform of a Boy Scout, the organization he started as a pioneer group back in 1905. He was here from New York to speak last night to 1,200 scout leaders at the University of Scouting in the Merchandise Mart. He wore, among a dozen others, the decoration of national scout commissioner.

"Ask me if the boys are better now than they used to be," Uncle Dan advised, his blue eyes atwinkle, "and I'll tell you they're a darned sight better. They're a splendid bunch of boys. They're better than the boys in other countries. Why, several years ago, when Sir Robert Baden-Powell of England looked over our Boy Scouts in Madison Square Garden, he said to me, 'Are these lads selected?' I said, 'No; they're just scouts from slums and palaces!' He replied, 'I've never seen such fine looking lads all at once.'

"And when I led the Boy Scouts over on the other side at the big Scout jamboree and stood in the royal box I saw our American Scouts did stand above the rest. They carried themselves better.

"And why is that? The boy in this country does not have a limited horizon in the way of his ambition. He can say to himself: 'I can be President if I want to.'"

Then there are the heroes, strictly American ones, and all Scouts, that a lad in this country may swear by. Take, for instance, says Uncle Dan, Daniel Boone, the Quaker, and Simon Kenton, the shouting Methodist, and Johnnie Appleseed Chapman.

"They were serious men, ethical men, such heroes as they didn't have on the other side. Now, take England's Robin Hood. He was nothing but an antique Jesse James, even if he was a sportsman."

Uncle Dan got his ideas for scouting down in Kentucky from Daniel Boone lore. In fact, when Uncle Dan lived in Covington he and the rest of the boys played scout and learned a lot of handy things the pioneers knew.

"There's just one of those boys alive now. Old Daddy Kyle we called him, because his hair was white. He lives down in Illinois somewhere. And the place where we met on 3d street is an ash dump. I was back there a while ago.

"I started the Sons of Daniel Boone after I had gone into New York and seen the city built without provision for young people. Public schools were in dark streets. Policemen chased children off the streets, the only place they had to play their games."

Newsboys he found sleeping at the foot of Ben Franklin's statue.

"It made me fighting mad," said Uncle Dan, "and when Recreation magazine needed a business man, some one to do something for boys, I thought of the time when I played scout in Kentucky. In 1905 Teddy Roosevelt and Admiral Dewey and Col. Bill Cody got behind the movement which we called Boy Scouts of America. In 1908 Lord Baden-Powell of England started the English Boy Scouts. I called my boys scouts and tenderfeet. We had eight boys in a stockade and 16 in a fort. Soon I had 40,000 scouts, some of them in Egypt, Mexico, Russia, India, and China."

For Chicago boys Uncle Dan Beard had this message:

"There is a whole row of chairs we man will vacate tomorrow. The boys will have to fill those chairs from the park bench to aldermen, college professors, scientists, senate, cabinet, President. We want the boys of today to do a better job of it than we did."

Mary Garden Wins Texans at Concert in Amarillo

Amarillo, Tex., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Mary Garden, operatic star, completely won an Amarillo audience of 3,000 tonight, an audience that included Gene Howe, newspaper man, with whom she sparred through the public print at intervals during last year.

At the conclusion of her concert, Howe wrote that he never said Miss Garden "couldn't sing," but merely that "she didn't sing" on the occasion of a previous visit with an operatic company, after which he scathingly criticized her.

"I also never stated that she was so old she tottered," Howe continued, "but said that either she was so fatigued or indifferent that she appeared like an old woman instead of a prima donna who ruled the operatic world."

John D. Rockefeller Jr. Builds Model Homes for Cleveland Workers

New York, Nov. 3.— (AP) —On the Cleveland estate of his father, John D. Rockefeller Jr., is building a model workmen's community, a colony of small, modern homes the rental of which will be within reach of a laborer's pay.

The work is being pushed this winter to lessen unemployment and will add a new concrete chapter to the other philanthropies of the Rockefellers.

Two apartment houses in New York City, one for Negroes in the Harlem section and another for white laborers in the Bronx, gave evidence before the Cleveland venture of Mr. Rockefeller's interest in the small wage earner.

These projects, especially that in Cleveland, were interpreted by the New York Evening World today as being the beginning of a nation-wide plan to eradicate the slums of New York and other great cities and put their occupants in modern, airy, sanitary lodgings at a rental they could afford to pay.

Harry McLaughlin, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, told the Evening World:

"I firmly believe plans are shaping swiftly in this big man's mind to wipe out the blight that is retarding the social and spiritual development of great masses of Americans.

"I am sure when Mr. Rockefeller gets back on the job there will be a legion of men and women who will no longer have to stand by helplessly as their babies starve."

Chicago Jews Resent British Order to Halt the Zionist Colonizing

Members of the Chicago Hadassah, women's Zionist organization, filled the gold room of the Congress hotel yesterday to hear John Haynes Holmes, author, and pastor of the Community church of New York. He denounced the recent action of the British government forbidding further Jewish immigration into Palestine.

"The new policy of the British Labor government has caused the greatest tragedy that has ever happened in the history of Zionism," declared the speaker. "Had we been told three weeks ago that this thing that the Labor cabinet has done would be done, we would have thought it incredible. But it has been done. Nothing can help the British Labor cabinet, which will be damned forever in the light of history. The British 'White Paper' has not struck primarily at Zionism, but fundamentally at the Jews.

"It has done two other serious things. The new policy is dividing the British empire, and even the Labor party, according to dispatches."

U. S. Is Offered Site Where Continental Army Camped

Morristown, N. J., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The federal government has been offered 1,200 acres for a military camp in Jockey Hollow, where the Continental army camped two winters during the revolution.

Countess Bernadotte, Husband, Son in New York

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Countess Folke Bernadotte, the former Miss Estelle Romaine Manville of New York, arrived today with her husband and young son for a six months' visit.

The Swedish-American liner Kungsholm brought the Bernadottes back to New York. They were met at the pier by the countess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville.

The baby, Gustav Edward, the first name in honor of his granduncle, King Gustav of Sweden, the second for his grandfather, brother of the king.

There have been rumors that Count Bernadotte would enter business in this country, but he made it clear that he has come on a visit, pointing out that his passport visé calls for six months' entry.

New York Woman Bride of Count Von Furstenberg

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Elizabeth Payne of New York and Paris was married in England to Count Franz Egon von Furstenberg-Herdringen of Germany, it was learned here today. They now are in France. The bride, née Elizabeth Foster Johnson, daughter of Mrs. John Leary of New York, originally married James Taber Lorea, a railroad magnate. She later was married in Paris to Arthur Payne of San Francisco, from whom she recently was divorced.

"ONE CRIMINAL EQUALS WELFARE COST OF 160 BOYS"

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The opinion that every criminal in the United States costs as much "as the welfare influence in the lives of 160 normal boys" was advanced today by a youth committee in a report prepared for the White House child conference.

This conclusion was reached from estimating the annual crime bill in excess of $16,000,000,000, the annual child welfare cost at $5,000,000,000, the number of criminals at less than 1,000,000, and that child welfare affects 50,000,000 youths.

The modern realtor, planning his subdivisions with parks and playgrounds, was hailed in the report as a benefactor to boys and girls.

Disintegration of residence areas, on the other hand, was blamed for delinquency.

City planning commission laws, like those of New York and New Jersey, to make the environment fit the child, were urged. The report will be submitted to the meeting of 1,200 child experts here this month.

The committee found that delinquency flourished in neighborhoods apathetic to child activities, such as residence areas disintegrated by the onsweep of business or waves of new types of neighbors.

A scientific study of 41 comprehensively planned real estate developments, however, was said to disclose active community interest.

Greeks Establish Classical Scholarship at Ill. College

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Made possible by contributions from prominent statesmen and bankers of Greece, the Edward Capps professorship of classics was inaugurated at Illinois college tonight.

Donors of the $50,000 fund established it in recognition of the work of Dr. Capps in Greece. There he directed American Red Cross relief during the world war. He had left his post as director of classical research at Princeton university to do the work.

"Lazy" Said the Boss "Acidity" Said the Doctor!

Charged with laziness—guilty simply of acidity! That's the situation with many men today. They realize that they are not themselves—they're conscious of a vague, tired feeling that's always with them—they know they have to pull themselves together for each and every task—but they can't tell what's the trouble. They're branded as lazy and ambitionless when the real truth is that they're sick men—victims of acidity.

Acidity, due to our unnatural eating habits, irregular hours and other violations of Nature's laws causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. Also, it sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestinal tract, which forms poisons that sap our strength and vitality, irritate our nerves, spoil our sleep and make us weak, listless and chronically tired.

To correct acidity a remarkable new product has been developed by a 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. It comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed but may be swallowed whole.

Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate active oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract, does just the things required for acidity: it stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal tract. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three things necessary to the true relief of acidity, and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acidity has to do with your sleeplessness, your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids at Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal. Note the pleasing change in your pep and vigor. Mark the increase of your stomach and nerves. If after taking contents of one bottle you don't feel decidedly better, return the bottle and the druggist will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.—Advertisement.

Radio to Bring Election News at Parties Tonight

BY THALIA

The raison d'etre for numerous small parties this evening will be listening in on the election returns. The day when large crowds congregated in noisy jollification in hotels and clubs and throngs swarmed through the downtown streets to celebrate or lament the results is long gone by. Instead, small groups of congenial souls, like minded as to political leanings, gather for dinner and to listen to the tabulations as they come over the radio.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and her daughter, Miss Katrina McCormick, who has helped her mother all through her campaign, are to be at farm at Byron all day, and will come in tonight to hear the returns at headquarters at the La Salle hotel. For the first time since Mrs. McCormick began her political career, Alice Longworth won't be with her at the conclusion of a campaign fight, as she will be in Cincinnati at her husband's headquarters. There will be telephonic communication between the two friends during the evening for an exchange of reports. Others of Mrs. McCormick's loyal supporters who will be with her are the Walter B. Wolfs, Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Cornliss Sullivan of Cleveland, Attorney Edward Burling of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. McCormick's nephew, Dan Hanna.

Since most of the women working at the Chicago office of the National Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform are Lake Foresters, and since the office hasn't a radio installed, anyway, their headquarters will be closed this evening, and the committee members will be with the Vaughan Spaldings who are having one of the largest parties in Lake Forest. The J. Russell Fergans, also, are to have a group at their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive.

Eames MacVeagh, the W. David Owens, and the Murry Nelsons are also having guests with them at the Tavern, where arrangements for getting the results are to be made.

James Hamilton Lewis will be at the Democratic headquarters during the evening, but will probably find time for a few minutes at the Tavern where the Charles H. Chadwicks are to give a small dinner party for him and Mrs. Lewis.

Conjecture as to whether or no there is to be a Twelfth Night ball this winter is terminated by an official announcement from the Twelve Knights saying:

"There will be a simplified Twelfth Night ball held on the evening of Jan. 9, 1931, which is the 25th anniversary of the Butchers and Bakers. All proceeds over actual expenses will be given to charity."

The Grant hospital annual bazaar is to take place on Tuesday, Dec. 9 at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, president of the woman's auxiliary, is to give a tea on Thursday, Nov. 13 at her residence, 1455 State parkway for the auxiliary members to plan the arrangements. Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne and several other daughters and daughters-in-law of the board members, including Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, Mrs. John Stuart Coonley, Mrs. Hamilton Vose, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., and Mrs. John B. Drake Jr., will preside at the tea table.

The Junior league's exhibition of portraits of its members, announced for Sunday and yesterday at O'Brien's art gallery, is being continued today also. Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord and Miss Barbara Neff were in charge yesterday. One of the portraits is a recently completed one of Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., done by Abram Poole.

Mrs. Henry A. Gardner of Winnetka gave a dinner at the Drake hotel last evening for Miss Leila Withers, one of the year's debutantes, afterward taking her guests to the theater.

Mrs. John Davis Kales of 1358 North State street has returned to Chicago after spending the summer at Cape Cod. Miss Katharine Kales will not be here at all this winter, as she is going to be with her aunt, Mrs. J. Dorr Bradley, in Paris until March.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Leach of Winnetka are to give a buffet luncheon for 100 of their and their son's friends at Mr. Leach's office in the Board of Trade building before the Culver-St. Johns' football game next Saturday. The parade of the cadet corps of both schools accompanied by their bands and Culver's Black Horse troop, will be visible from the windows of the office during the party. Mr. and Mrs. Leach have two sons, Arthur B. Leach III, and Donald G. Petty, who are cadets at Culver now. Mr. and Mrs. Leach have taken three boxes for the game and others who have reserved boxes include the Fletcher M. Durbins, the John C. Sturtevants, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, the Sidney Strotzes, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ambler.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville W. Thompson have cards out for one of their musical at homes next Sunday afternoon at their apartment at 129 Lake Shore drive.

Others who attended the show were Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, and Mrs. Vernon Kellogg as guests of Mrs. George Akerson, wife of the secretary to the President. Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell were guests in the box of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Bugg.

An anniversary of the independence of Panama was celebrated this afternoon by the minister and Señora de Alfaro at a reception at the legation.

The attorney general and Mrs. Mitchell have as their guest Miss Gertrude Bancroft, a niece of Mrs. Mitchell and daughter of Frank C. Bancroft of St. Paul, Minn. She arrived to take up her duties as social secretary to Mrs. Mitchell. Miss Bancroft made her début several seasons ago.

Chinese Drinking Coffee Now, Trade Reports Say

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The people of China are beginning to take up drinking coffee in place of tea. American commercial observers stationed in the oriental republic are devoting attention to the trend, particularly since a large part of the Chinese coffee supply comes from the United States. Along with other western ideas, reports to the commerce department say, the younger generation of Chinese is adopting occidental habits of diet. For the first half of 1930 Chinese imports of coffee increased 50 per cent, as compared with the same period of 1929, and 100 per cent over the same period of 1928.

Several Portraits of Chicagoans Displayed at Knoedler Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The group of paintings by Louis Kronberg, which has just been placed on exhibition in the Knoedler galleries, is a particularly brilliant achievement. Mr. Kronberg has been living for a number of years in Paris [where, by the way, he is able to rent a charming studio for $125 a year] and he has occupied himself with painting, something after the habit of Degas, the girls of the ballet. Degas is recalled in many of the present paintings and then dismissed. It is really Louis Kronberg and only Louis Kronberg who holds the stage.

Several of the most decorative and effective canvases are the result of painting trips to Spain. Seville is a fertile city for the dance. The artist found many gorgeous models to the rat-tat-tat of the castanettes. His "Grupo Flamenco," hanging in the current show of American paintings in the Art institute, is a stunning representation of a Spanish effect—the danseuse and her accompanists.

Not afraid to try various ways and manners with paint, Mr. Kronberg offers us in his Knoedler exhibit the novelty of oil painting on paper and of pastelle on canvas. Both are successful. The oil is extremely chic in its vivid contrast to the less emphatic paper. The pastelle, on the other hand, gains in delicate and vibrant quality.

Among the most delightful of the paintings are "Petite Colette," "Dancer in White," "La Petite Simonne," "Spanish Dancer with Fan," and the groups of miniature ballet pictures of the stage and Spanish studies.

Baroness Wenner fills the second of the Knoedler rooms with an interesting array of portraits, many of them Chicago people. She has an excellent likeness of Harold F. McCormick, a surprisingly good portrait of William Randolph Hearst, and a thoroughly charming painting of Mrs. Bertha Baur. Among her other canvases, to which perhaps the one objection may be raised that the eyes too invariably stare one out of countenance, are the exquisite little daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Alister McCormick and the skillfully handled "Miss Amy Leslie" and "The Late Colonel George A. Whiting."

The Kronberg paintings will remain on view to Nov. 14; the portraits may be seen only through next Saturday. Fifty choice etchings by Sir D. Y. Cameron complete the exhibition.

Salvation Army Likely to Change Constitution

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Radical changes in the constitution of the Salvation Army were foreshadowed by Gen. E. J. Higgins, the army's chief, who returned from South Africa today.

Amplifying references already made at Cape Town, Gen. Higgins said that the meeting of commissioners from all parts of the world, which starts Monday, would consider means of "moving a bit away from autocracy and getting a bit nearer to what is known as constitutional government."

An electoral body to appoint the general of the army in the future, the retirement of the general at a fixed age limit, and establishment of a trustee company for the property, capital, and assets of the army are among the reforms to which Gen. Higgins said he had pledged himself.

Food Talk.

There are a number of vegetables for sale at the markets that many housewives know nothing about. They are content to use week in and week out the same vegetables. They pass by tempting arrays of little known varieties in favor of cabbage, carrots, potatoes, onions, and lettuce. The introduction of new and pleasing foods is or should be the aim of every housewife and in the conscientious discharge of this duty she will be surprised at the number of vegetables she can use with delightful results.

Perhaps not one in a thousand American housewives has served dasheens at her table. Probably many don't even know what they are like. Yet the U. S. government has found the dasheen so valuable a plant as to have had considerable research done on its cultivation. Dasheens are a member of the taro family, a subtropical plant. The plant is grown for the sake of the large underground tubers, bulbs, or cormels as they are called. The southern part of this country has begun to appreciate this plant. Large quantities are grown both to supplement the potato and to substitute for it in regions where the potato does not grow satisfactorily.

The corms, of which there are one or more to a plant, weigh from one to six pounds each. The tubers are about the size of a hen's egg. Both show the same general characteristics. The raw product has white flesh enclosed in a brown fibrous coat. It may be steamed, boiled, baked, stuffed or creamed. Dasheens are prepared exactly the same as potatoes, but they do not mash well. The cooked flesh is a creamy or grayish white to light violet and is usually mealy in texture and nutty in flavor. Dasheens should be served immediately after removing from the oven or stove.

The food value is much the same as that of a potato, except that the carbohydrate percentage is slightly higher in the dasheen. It is readily assimilated and may be served to children and adults in place of potatoes.

You will find dasheens in the larger vegetable markets and always at this season of the year in the Chinese markets.

Make No Mistake
when you buy sanitary pads
—specify Kotex

Kotex is five times as absorbent as surgical cotton; it is designed to fit perfectly; it deodorizes. Hospitals use it—so should you.

YOU can't be too careful in choosing sanitary pads. Your health, your comfort are at stake. Old-fashioned methods are trying, uncomfortable, unhygienic. Substitutes for the best are unnecessary. Specify Kotex. It costs so little that women in every walk of life are using it. And once they try it, they never go back to other methods again.

Kotex is safe. Plenty of women have discovered that. Women who are on their feet all day, working hard, busy socially. They find that it gives a feeling of security you can't duplicate.

Designed to fit

It is designed to fit perfectly. Corners are rounded and tapered to fit inconspicuously under all types of frocks. It deodorizes. It is unbelievably soft and yielding. And—what is more—it stays soft. Indeed, Kotex is guaranteed to stay soft longer, to last longer than any other sanitary pad.

• Kotex is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding, laid in many air-cooled layers which you can adjust to your own needs. Each of these delicate layers is a quick, complete absorbent in itself—and tests have shown that Kotex is actually five times as absorbent as surgical cotton.

Hospitals use Kotex

Hospitals discovered that fact shortly after Kotex was invented and immediately they began to use it in preference to cotton. Today, 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent. They specify Kotex for their women patients. They use millions and millions of pads a year.

Surely you could ask no safer guide in your own choice of sanitary protection than this overwhelming preference by hospitals, where hygienic safety and the greatest possible comfort are essential.

Next time you buy sanitary pads, specify Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1 Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2 The Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3 In hospitals . . . The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
4 Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

Doris Draws Two Pictures of Home Life

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am an only child, 18, and live with my mother in a charming little apartment. Speaking of mothers, I wish every girl and boy had such a gorgeous companion to go to with their problems as I have. Maybe you think my blood doesn't boil when I read of those 'loving' parents who won't let their children have company or allow them to go out with their friends, and who try to make their daughters marry some old so and so for his money!"

Nice, isn't it to be the kind of mother deserving of as eulogy like that from an 18 year old girl. Lucky parent and lucky girl!

But let's take the other side of the mother-daughter picture. An only child it is again, but with a parent who will not let her girl decide what dress to put on. That's mamma's duty. Mamma must decide everything. She doesn't always know best. The girl is meeting the boy of her dreams out of mamma's sight and hearing. You wonder how she manages that. She lies to mamma about where she is going.

She has an aunt, her father's sister, who doesn't like mamma nor mamma's management of her girl, and the aunt is the willing alibi for the away from home meetings. She encourages the girl to steal away. Fancy, at 23 having to resort to lies to get a little fun.

The boy is nice, the sort no reasonable mother could object to. But this mamma insists that at 23 a girl does not know her own mind, much less her heart, and beside no girl should marry unless she is bettering herself. That's mamma's doctrine, which might be logical were her daughter a free spirit, a good looking girl, or a rarely talented one, none of which the girl is. She hasn't the come on stuff for big money attraction. She's just a nice, neat but cowed young person with nothing unusual or outstanding about her.

There's an old codger that mamma might do well to pick off for herself. They're contemporaries, at least. And his money is what mamma wants, not for her daughter's happineses. That last named little item doesn't enter the scheme. The rich 'un is wanted in the family and, as it doesn't look as if the head of it attracted him, the old girl is trying to drag him in by her daughter's hand.

Antoinette Gives a Fancy Name to Deep Breathing

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What our women need, I have a feeling, is a fancy name attached to deep breathing. Then they might go in for more of it. Tell a lady to take a dozen deep breaths on arising mornings and she is more likely to yawn in your face than to look enthusiastic. We're like that—all of us.

Now if we were told to do our Yogis before we take the a. m. plunge we'd say, "What's that? Does it make you more beautiful?"

And the things that deep breathing will do for you am jes' something marvelous, honest. Maybe you don't know it, but you can fight fat with the habit. You can put on fat with it, too.

You can make a new pair of eyes out of the tired ones with a few good gulps of ozone—help the vision, too, when you are at it. And you can get some of that always salable asset "pep" into the being with the inexpensive medicine we are recommending.

I'd like to have you get the habit right now when the morning air is brisk and good. Call it a morning cocktail if you must have the medicine camouflaged. It's a grand pick-up and a waker-up. Incidentally I forgot to mention its effect on the voice. You can do over a voice with a season of proper breathing. And you know the voice is nothing to neglect now that the speakies are making it a matter of comparison in beautiful girl assets.

To the Hindu Yogis go the honors for raising breathing to its highest point of development. They've been at it for thousands of years, we are told. They have worked out various systems of breath control for different benefits to vitalize the body or the brain or the nervous system, to develop a soft, beautiful voice, and so on.

Now they stress what our physicians are advocating—breathing through the nostrils rather than through the nose. Which is simply closing one nostril with a finger while you breathe through the other. Of course, out walking you can't do that, but at your morning deep breathing work you can. It is recommended to be done at night if one is a poor sleeper, too.

Jacket Costume Serves for Breakfast or Tea

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Negligees are getting so dressy these days that you can hardly tell the morning from the evening unless you look at the clock—what with chiffon robes appearing at breakfast and pajama pajamas presiding at dinner.

Paris couturiers are all for handmade daintiness this season. They are using eyelet embroidery on all sorts of fabrics, from chiffon to fur, often outlining it with tiny jewels, and this type of decoration is specially suited to those fluffy garments that help you to be your best self in trying moments at the beginning or at the tag end of a winter day.

Worth combines pale pink, eyelet embroidered batiste and pale pink chiffon to make the ravishing hostess gown, sketched here, which is guaranteed to cure the grouch of the most recalcitrant husband in any weather. Eyelet embroidered batiste of cobweb fineness makes the coat.

The chiffon frock, pretty enough to be worn as a conventional evening dress, has an accordion plaited skirt that falls in petal points at the hem. The upper part of the dress is of the pink chiffon tucked in scallops. And there is a chiffon belt to tie at the left side.

A pink topaz necklace, bracelet, and clip to keep the back hair in place are flattering accessories.

Walking Is a Fine Sport for Children as Well as Adults

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A layette list will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you're a lover of walking, you revel in the autumn. And if you are a lover of walking I hope you're trying to inculcate a love for walking in your children. O, dear—how unscientific. I mean, I hope you're giving your children a chance to see if they like walking and then if they do to give the taste and the walking muscles a chance to develop. There—that's better.

Walking is a sport within everyone's reach. Walking in the country is a delightful sport and gives one infinitely more exercise than walking in town.

Haven't you noticed how much variety of motion there is? You bend over going uphill, you climb a rock or a fence, you twist to look at this and that, you lean down or crouch to see something on the ground, you gaze up at the sky and the clouds and trees or mountain tops—perhaps you race or jump, and you breathe deeper in the country.

Besides all the muscles that country walking brings into play there is another great benefit that either city or country walking has. A walk of good length—I believe one doctor puts it at least two uninterrupted miles—affects the deep circulation—the supply of blood to the vital organs. So walking is fine for the general health and is a prolonger of life. But little short broken walks do not accomplish this, nor do they develop the fine rhythm of walking.

Take some real walks with your children this fall. It will be one more enjoyable and worthwhile thing for them to do. If you can, walk in the country or if you can't do that then walk in the parks and the most attractive of your town and city streets.

STUDENTS SLEEP IN 'RUMBLE' BEDS TO STUDY NOISES

Seek Ways Machine Age Causes Headaches.

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Nine Colgate university men are sleeping nightly in vibrating beds and discovering unexpected ways in which a machine age may cause headaches, circled eyes and unsociable dispositions.

These new "rumble" experiments combine noise and vibrations in a way to imitate some of the more acute sleeping obstacles of modern life. They are conducted in the psychological laboratory under direction of Dr. Donald A. Laird and with the assistance of Herman W. Wille and Clifford H. Shirley.

Beds Vibrate All Night.

The vibration is announced as less than on a railroad train and about equal to that experienced in a high grade automobile. It is produced by hanging electric motors under the beds. Each motor is of one-sixth horsepower, attached to the tops of springs, but swinging along with accessory apparatus, below the bed.

The noise is a hum slightly fainter than conversational loudness. Noise and vibration are steady all night.

"Although subject to verification with repeated experiments to be done later," Dr. Lair says, "there are definite indications that sleeping with the noise and vibration we are using produces the following effects: More headaches; more circles under the eyes; more unsteady and wobbly on the feet; more noises and buzzing heard in the head during the day; more irritated by ordinary things; time drags more; laughing at common occurrences; desire to be alone; not wanting to talk; and more effort needed to start to do routine work.

Raises Blood Pressure.

"The belief that one can get used to noise is also upset by the early results of the experiment, the effects of the second week being more severe and covering more peculiarities of behavior than for the first week.

"Our previous experiments have dealt with noise alone, without vibration, and have shown that noise will raise blood pressure without awakening the sleeper. The present experiments cover a much wider range of behavior and abilities."

2 ROBBERS SHOT BY SHOPKEEPER WHO KEEPS A GUN

Nick Anarosie, 47 years old, who runs a delicatessen at 1535 West Polk street, decided last spring after he had been held up that he would arm himself. So he bought a .38 automatic and built a shelf for it under the counter near the cash till.

There it reposed month after month. Last night when two gunmen entered the shop and ordered him to turn over his money. He gave them $30. They started for the door and the automobile at the curb, in which a third man sat at the wheel.

As the boss bandit reached the door Nick let loose with his automatic. The bandit dropped, shot in the back. His companion, wounded in the right arm, screamed and ran for the car. The other one managed to drag himself along after him. The car raced away.

Nick telephoned the police. A radio broadcast went out to the squad car of the Maxwell street station. The bandit car, arriving in front of the Mother Cambrini hospital, dumped the seriously wounded robber on the sidewalk and kept on going. As he staggered toward the door detectives seized him. The Maxwell street squad car had reached the hospital ahead of him.

At the Bridewell hospital, where he was later removed, he was identified as Rocco Marcontonio, 20 years old, 6033 Barry avenue. Physicians say he has a chance to recover.

OBITUARY.

JOHN EDMUND OBERNE, 50 years old, a former Chicagoan, died Sunday of heart disease at his home in Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. Oberne, who was president of the Southern Extracts company in Knoxville, was a graduate of Northwestern university. He is survived by his widow, two children and a sister.

ONLY MAN TO SEE R-101 DISASTER TELLS HIS STORY

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The only man who saw the tragic end of the dirigible R-101 sat in the witness chair today and told in halting English how the big ship came at him out of the night, careening at a crazy angle before it crashed into the hillside near Beauvais and burst into the flames which took forty-eight lives.

Alfred Rabouille had never been away from Beauvais since his childhood before they brought him to London to tell his story. On that night when the R-101 dived to destruction he had been poaching for rabbits in the woods near the Beauvais hillside.

Today he told the board of inquiry, which is investigating the loss of the dirigible, that the dirigible seemed to be tilted at a sharp angle and heading downward when he first saw her. Her lights flashed on and off twice. Then the big ship struck the hillside; there was a loud explosion, a burst of flame, and Rabouille found himself on his back in the underbrush.

"Then she bounced and seemed to go up in the air," he said. "She fell, and that was the end of her."

CHARGES WIFE INTIMATE WITH FOOTBALL STAR

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 3.—(AP)—L. C. Turman, wealthy oil man, entered the courtroom here today where divorce proceedings instituted by his wife were being heard and accused her of intimacy with Weldon (Speedy) Mason, Southern Methodist university football star.

When Mrs. Turman, 32, denied questions by her husband's attorneys regarding association with Mason, Turman displayed a letter which he said was a "confession." She denied she had spent a large part of $2,600 granted in a previous divorce suit filed by herself, but said she had entertained Mason and "other young people" at a camp.

Don't neglect your child's COUGH or COLD

TRY this milder "counter-irritant." Good old Musterole now made milder for babies and small children. So pleasant to use and so reliable—apply Children's Musterole freely to the affected area once every hour for five hours. That's the safe, sure treatment that millions of mothers and leading doctors and nurses recognize and endorse.

Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

That's why this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally.

FOOTBALL, BIG GAME, FAILS TO SHOW BIGNESS

Could Have Helped Unemployed.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 3.—There has been no impetuous rush of college presidents, athletic directors, and coaches to offer their football teams for benefit games for the relief of the unemployed. The colleges have agreements and contracts which will make it impossible for them to support the proposal, and if the unemployed can't understand the sanctity of such things, then that probably tends to explain why they are unemployed.

WM. J. BINGHAM.

The proposal, incidentally, seems to have been spontaneous in several places and no private idea of any newspaper or politician. Football is the most popular sport in the country. It has received lavish support from the public for years, the cost of producing a big game is negligible, and the players, by the word of the coaches and athletic directors, are enthusiasts who play for the joy of the game. It was natural, therefore, to look to football for a return favor when the unemployment situation reached the dimensions of a national emergency.

Might Appoint Commission.

Possibly if President Hoover were to appoint a commission of sportsmen to consider plans to take steps toward the presentation of a report, something could be done to modify the agreements and contracts in time to effect some help in the unemployment crisis of 1940, but for the present a fund that might easily be swelled to five million dollars or more, if the colleges were to show any enthusiasm at all, probably will not be worth collecting.

New York university alone in the east has volunteered to play a game for charity, and Michigan and Chicago are to play one in the territory of the Western conference. Fordham, the leading eastern team, will not be available because the players are exhausted, in which case, I should think, the rest of the regular Fordham schedule ought to be abandoned and the team dispersed, as it seems unkind to the boys and contrary to the purpose of the game to keep them in training and competition.

Condition Surprises Pegler.

I am surprised to learn that they are so badly winded, because I had been thinking that football was a supervised recreation, conducted for the players' physical good, and the idea that a team would be driven beyond the point where the game ceased to be fun conflicted with all that I had heard from various athletic directors about the theory of athletics.

Of course, if President Hoover should order the Army and Navy to play, this recognition of the importance of the game in relieving the poverty of the unemployed might stimulate the whole movement, if the present stall could be called a movement. But unless he does something of the kind, the coaches will pass the buck to their athletic directors and they will pass it to their faculty committees, who will then go into secret sessions and report that, owing to the nature of their rules, nothing can be done.

Mr. Bingham Makes Pass.

Mr. Bill Bingham, the Harvard athletic director, made a very remarkable triple buck pass this afternoon, explaining why the Harvard team would be unable to volunteer. He passed it to two committees and Arnold Horween, the head coach, and, in the confusion, some one pocketed the buck. At any rate, Harvard has a rule and

Hawthorne Track Lease Renewed at $62,000 a Year

Chicago Business Men's Racing association officials vision Chicago as a great racing center until at least 1945, according to a lease filed in the county recorder's office yesterday.

It was a renewal of the lease already held on the Hawthorne race track, which consists of 125 acres, for which the turf body will pay $1,000 a day from 1931 to and including 1945, or a yearly rental of approximately $62,500. It has been in control of the property, which is owned by the estate of Wm. Carey, since racing was revived in Chicago in 1922.

John L. Hopkins, William A. Sullivan, and Laura M. Carey acted for the estate in the releasing of the property, while Attorney Albert D. Sabath represented the racing association. John C. Schank is president of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association.

Since taking over the property the Jockey club has put more than $400,000 into improvements, and the lease was renewed at this time in order that a further improvement program might be carried out, according to Mr. Schank.

THE GUMPS—NEXT!

This Is Grid Fans' Year of Big Squawks

BY ARCH WARD.

Among other things, 1930 will be remembered by football fans as the Year of the Big Squawk. There probably have been more discreetly phrased accusations this year than any season since the business of dying for old alma mater became a national hysteria.

This is a serious situation. Heretofore the right to thumb an indignant nose at an opponent had been reserved for boxers and ball players. College men, for some reason or other, were supposed to be different. When the breaks went against them, it was just too bad. When an official blundered, the decision was taken without protest. If the other team slugged, it was to be forgotten.

Few lift an eyebrow if a defeated fighter claims he was hit when he wasn't looking or when a ball player charges that the umpire is a direct descendant of a Chicago politician. That kind of alibi is common to the breed.

But now it is the college boys who are vulgarly outspoken. Pennsylvania recently came west to play Wisconsin and it is reported unofficially that the Penn coaches ordered the Badgers to cut the grass at Camp Randall before they would consent to play. They were afraid, it seems, that they would lose a couple of half backs in the weeds. The score leads us to believe something like that happened.

Then Georgia came up to play Yale. They won the game, but after returning to Dixie some one reminded them that they really won by a larger margin. A Yale touchdown was recorded in violation of rule so and so, paragraph so and so, which prohibits a man from picking up a fumble and running for a touchdown. The officials weren't able to locate this rule until three days after the play occurred.

Next came the Big Six row. For three days the yelping was fierce. It resulted in Kansas' ouster from the organization on charges of proselyting. Kansas previously had pointed an accusing finger at Missouri, the school which lodged the protest against the Jayhawkers.

While this was going on a group of athletes at George Washington university insisted on pay or there would be no play. They have complicated the unemployment situation by being fired from their jobs.

According to news dispatches Yale feels that it was given the works in its annual battle with West Point. Pictures of the game at New Haven revealed that the Army's touchdown was scored illegally by a mate pushing the ball carrier over the goal. Pictures of the game at West Point revealed nothing of the sort.

Wisconsin, previous to its game with Purdue, charged the Boilermakers with a violation of the scouting agreement by having three spies instead of one in the Madison press coop. Purdue explained that it was all a mistake. Purdue won the game.

Last week the Badgers accused Ohio State of unethical practice in having an open date the Saturday before playing Wisconsin. This isn't being done in the Big Ten nowadays.

The Pacific coast, not to be outdone, had a squabble between Coach Price of California and Coach Warner of Stanford over the eligibility of a player.

Hew to the line, boys; let the squawks fall where they may.

WOODWARD TAKES JOB AS CHAIRMAN OF JOCKEY CLUB

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Frank K. Sturgis, an officer in the jockey club for 36 years, today resigned as chairman and William Woodward, owner of Gallant Fox, the three year old champion, was elected to fill the office.

Mr. Sturgis, who was elected chairman after the death of August Belmont in 1924, gave no reason for his resignation. The general opinion among the stewards, however, was that Mr. Sturgis desired to retire from active participation in the sport.

His successor has served several years as vice chairman of the turf body and jumped into prominence this year when Gallant Fox, a home bred, won the three year old title and established a new money winning record.

MICHIGAN, N. U. SPEED TO JOINT BIG TEN TITLE

Two Games Remain for Football Leaders.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern and Michigan apparently are preparing to divide the Western conference football championship this year. Each has won three games and each has two more to play, which barring unexpected reversals in form should be won handily.

Granting that Northwestern and Michigan do finish with five victories each, there will be considerable opportunity for expecting on respective records. Three universities—Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois—are on the schedule of each. Northwestern faces Indiana and Michigan plays Chicago, which offers little choice in the caliber of the competition.

Badger Game to Test Purple.

Michigan defeated Purdue, 14 to 13. Purdue won from Wisconsin, 7 to 6. Thus, the Badgers, who are scheduled at Dyche stadium Nov. 15 afford the Wilcats another opportunity to prove superiority over Michigan. If Northwestern wins by a sizable score, it will indicate greater strength. And this point may be emphasized if Michigan does not whip Minnesota on Nov. 15 at Ann Arbor by a score comparable to Northwestern's 27 to 6 victory last Saturday.

Illinois lost to Northwestern, 32 to 0, and to Michigan, 15 to 7. But no matter the result of this or other competitive games, the strength of the two leaders cannot be compared, because of their different offensive tactics. Michigan plays to protect a lead. Northwestern, so far, has hammered its opponents throughout 60 minutes.

Michigan Plays Cautiously.

The best example is Michigan's 13 to 0 victory over Ohio State. After securing the second touchdown in the opening minutes of the third period, Michigan thereafter did not complete a first down. Rather it kicked always on third down, sometimes on the second, and played cautious defensive football.

Purdue still has a chance for the title. If the Boilermakers defeat Chicago and Indiana, their remaining opponents, they will complete their schedule with five victories and one defeat. Northwestern and Michigan must lose one game each to push Purdue into the championship.

Recalls 1925 Season.

The status of this championship race recalls 1925. That year Northwestern lost to Chicago, 6 to 0; then defeated Indiana, 17 to 14; Purdue, 13 to 9, and Michigan, 3 to 2. Michigan played six conference games, holding five opponents scoreless. The scores were: Indiana, 63 to 0; Wisconsin, 21 to 0; Illinois, 3 to 0; Ohio State, 10 to 0, and Minnesota, 35 to 0. But the Wolverines fell before Northwestern 3 to 2 in a muddy battle.

Since Michigan's record was far superior, and it also had a higher percentage standing, Northwestern waived whatever claim its victory gave to the title.

Bad Year for Illinois.

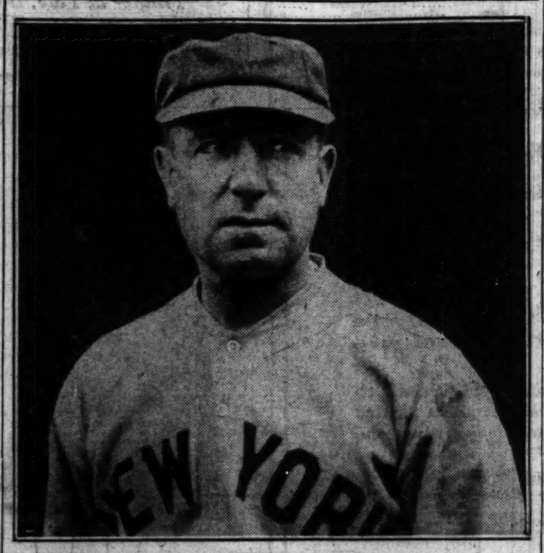

Illinois, unless it defeats both Chicago and Ohio State, will have its worst football season since the gloomy days of 1921 and 1922. And the Illini, while confident they can whip the Maroons, do not rate to beat Ohio on their showing thus far. If both games are lost, Illinois will fall to the lowest depths since Zuppke started coaching at the state school in 1913.

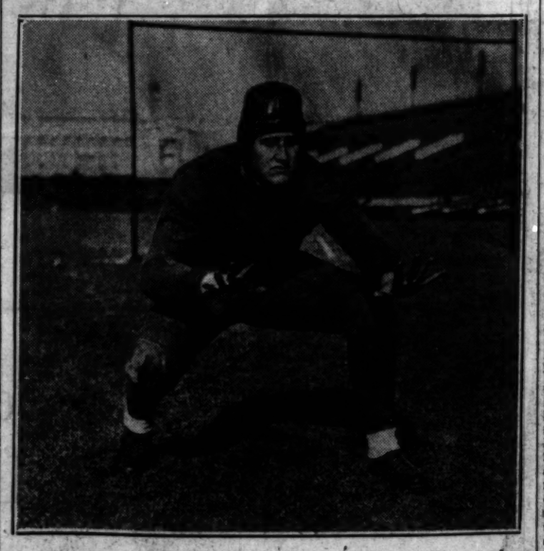

In 1921 Illinois lost four games and won one, a 7 to 0 victory over Ohio in the final game of the season. In 1923 four games were lost and two won. Illinois' conference record since 1921 follows:

1922	2	4	0
1923	5	0	0
1929	3	1	1

Illinois, according to Zuppke's estimate of his team this year, has no particular weakness. Neither does it have particular strength. The material lacks weight, speed, and experience.

O'LEARY SIGNS TO COACH CUBS IN 1931 SEASON

Comes from Yanks to Take Burke's Job.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Charley O'Leary, a Chicagoan by birth but not related to the lady whose cow kicked over the lamp, will be a Cub regular next season. That is, he will be a regular so far as coaching is concerned. He signed up for the job yesterday after a conference with Manager Rogers Hornsby and President William Veeck. At the same time Hornsby announced that Coach Ray Schalk, whose retention had previously been assured, affixed his name to the papers.

For various reasons Hornsby believes that in O'Leary he has found the ideal man for the post left vacant when Jim Burke heeded Joe McCarthy's summons and jumped to the Yankees to fill the place O'Leary had occupied for eleven years.

O'Leary is a past master in the art of hitting grounders to the infield in practice. Hornsby regards that the most important duty a coach can perform. O'Leary also knows his baseball and is a fellow able to make himself popular with other players. These were Hornsby's chief reasons for signing him.

Will Coach at First.

O'Leary's place of business will be at the first base coaching box. Schalk, who last season was superintendent of the bull pen, is to be promoted to the third base side. Schalk will have to bear the brunt of the attack from the grandstand managers if he sends home runners who should have been flagged down at third or holds a man who should have proceeded. Either way, the coach always is wrong.

O'Leary, once a member of Detroit's pennant winning machine, coached with the Yanks throughout the régime of Manager Miller Huggins. He also remained last season under Bob Shawkey. When Joe McCarthy took charge recently he had to make room for Burke by firing either O'Leary or Art Fletcher. The latter was retained, and among baseball men there now is a feeling that McCarthy made the wrong choice. Fletcher, who always was more or less of a fire eater, is reported to be on the "in bad" lists of some of the players.

Hornsby to Go Hunting.

Having eliminated the coaching problems from among the list of things to be done, Hornsby will travel downstate this week in hopes of picking up a few wild ducks. Then he'll come back here and busy himself on the more important matter of picking up some ball players. Various deals are rumored to be brewing, but it may take a month of dickering to bring them to a head.

Enlargements are under way at the Cub park, but not in connection with increased seating capacity. Two rooms are being added to the present offices under the grandstand.

OOSTERBAAN AND YOST TO ADDRESS MICHIGAN DINNER

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics of the University of Michigan, and Bennie Oosterbaan, former Michigan all-American, now on the coaching staff, will arrive in Chicago today. Both will speak tonight at a dinner sponsored by the University of Michigan Club of Chicago at the Furniture mart, 666 Lake Shore drive.

Former Michigan players now living in Chicago will be guests of honor at the dinner.

Army Heavyweight Beats Golden Gloves Champion

George Bennett, Fort Sheridan heavyweight, last night won a four round decision over Grant Fortney, Golden Gloves champion, in the windup of the weekly amateur show at the West Side Knights of Columbus clubhouse. Dick Mastro gained a three round decision over Steve Dusek in the semi-windup.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BIG TEN TITLE.

As a result of Saturday's football games, it looks more than ever like a double set of gold footballs in the Big Ten this fall. Northwestern, in action, and Michigan, resting for Harvard, saw their chance of going through the season unbeaten materially improved.

Northwestern anticipated a hard game from Minnesota. It was that for a time, but when the Wildcats began functioning with their forward pass attack the contest was over. Moreover, the Purple showed a power attack, with Russell the power, for the first time this season.

Hanley's crew has yet to meet Indiana and Wisconsin. The Hoosiers have proved a jinx for the last three years. The 1930 Hoosiers should not prove a jinx to the 1930 Wildcats. Wisconsin, which had looked hardest on the Purple schedule, disappointed at Columbus. It still may rally for Nov. 15, but comparative scores and dope are all against such a rally.

Michigan has yet to play Minnesota and Chicago. The Gopher showing against Northwestern does not suggest that the Wolverines should be downed. It is inconceivable that Chicago may beat Michigan.

While in this uncertain football of the open game type, Indiana or Wisconsin may upset Northwestern, or Minnesota may upset Michigan, such performance would be regarded as one of the greatest surprises of the season. More likely is a tie for the title, with Northwestern and Michigan each showing five conference victories.

FIDEL'S ATTACK ON BODY IS TOO MUCH FOR KID

Fight Decisions

At Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Louis May, Des Moines, Ia., beat Jack McCarthy, Chicago [10].

At Toronto, Ont.—Joe Glick, Brooklyn, beat Henry Perlick, Kalamazoo, Mich. [10].

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 3.—Fidel La Barba, the permanent freshman of Stanford university, really won the featherweight championship of the world this evening in a ten round fight with Kid Chocolate, but did not receive the title, of course, as Bat Battalino holds that. Battalino is a preliminary boy who does not cultivate trouble with his betters and, this being so, it is necessary to ignore him.

FIDEL LA BARBA

La Barba and Chocolate, the two best featherweights in the trade, have now had two fights and the score between them is even, the Kid having won the first. Fidel was a little better tonight, however, and so at the end of a wild half hour within the green plush hawsers the referee and judges nodded to him.

Titles Mean Nothing.

Championships have come to mean little or nothing in the prize fight industry now, most titles being held by incompetents or timid mediocrities, so it is recognition enough for La Barba to say that he won somewhat from a great little fighter, who could be Battalino from a wheel chair.

The fight enticed about 15,000 patrons to the Garden, with the closest seats selling at $7.60, and a pleasant time was had, though no historic slaughter occurred. La Barba went one knee for an instant in the tenth as he struggled in a whirling clinch, but bounced up and resumed work without any count.

Fidel won by smashing the lithe Cuban Negro's slim body with a hurtful left hook throughout. At times this blow thumped in so hard that the Kid's eyes rolled all white in his inky countenance and his tongue popped out like a red streamer.

The Kid played almost entirely for La Barba's intellectual features and scraped him often with an upward stroke of his left. He also dropped over a guileful right hand on the chin or side of the head and Fidel seemed to be jarred by some of these, but for a fact, the punching, though fast and straight, was not hard. If it had been, some one would have rolled over.

La Barba, once a newsboy, then an amateur champion on the American Olympic team, and then a collegian for a brief spell at Stanford university, was the squatty figure in tonight's piece and set the gait most of the way. He plunged ahead always, pumping both hands into the body and whipping over left hooks to the jaw for a change of pace.

Kid Lacks Strength.

The Kid couldn't handle him in the strength work in close and tried to keep a yard away, where he might have outboxed his man. It was a good fight, but one furious rally in the third round was the large moment. There Chocolate tried slugging and kept it up, both parties whaling on the jaw with reckless delight until the Kid's strength failed him and he had to compromise in a lingering clinch.

La Barba weighed 123 and Chocolate 124.

Lipton Arrives in N. Y.; Says He'll Try Again in 1932

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Sir Thomas Lipton, famous as a manufacturer of tea and losing yachts, arrived here today aboard the Leviathan. The famous owner of the Shamrocks, large and small, announced today that he would try to race again for the American cup in 1932 and reiterated his annual expressions of regard for the American public, his deep longing for the "old mug" and his familiar reference to the first time he landed in New York so many years ago.

When Sir Thomas challenges for the cup the next time, he will have another boat designed by his old associate, Charles E. Nicholson, builder of Shamrock V. But it is unlikely he will retain Capt. Ned Heard again as professional skipper he let be known.

The visiting baronet is here, he told reporters, on a "short business trip." The business which brought him over, however, will be put aside some time soon to permit the presentation of the "Americans' cup," the prize donated by sportsmen all over the country for his good sportmanship.

Sir Thomas was met at quarantine by a special committee representing Mayor Walker, who will present the loving cup to the "world's best loser."

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The western jockey, Bill Kelsay, scored a triple at Empire City this afternoon, serving notice that he still is a past master though some critics have asserted he is not as good as he once was over a distance of ground. Such critics were answered today when Kelsay galloped Louis H. Rowe's Sepoy over the mile and a quarter route in the second race and won easily with him.

Sepoy was the second of Kelsay's winners, the first coming in the curtain raiser when he got W. T. Anderson's Beton home first. The seven year old Sepoy was rated behind the race for more than half the route. Then Kelsay called on him and away they went to an easy three length victory.

Kelsay is under contract to Gifford A. Cochran, one of the most successful owners at the Yonkers meeting. The first Cochran horse of the day was his smart filly, The Beasel, which came out for the Cedar handicap, an all age test for fillies and mares and the scheduled feature. Kelsay had the mount.

Four others ran but they might as well have remained in their barns. Kelsay broke The Beasel close to the top, sent her into the lead almost at once, and she never afterward was headed. Her time was 1:10 2-5 for the short six furlong course.

5 OF DE PAUL'S REGULARS HURT IN LOYOLA GAME

With five regulars nursing injuries received in the game with Loyola, Coach Eddie Anderson declared a holiday yesterday to give the team a chance to recuperate for the homecoming battle with Louisville university Saturday.

Red Harrington, half back; Emmett Cowhey, guard; Ernie Butcher, half back; Bill Stotts, tackle, and Jim O'Connor, end, are the five casualties.

The 6 to 0 triumph over Loyola marked De Paul's third straight victory of the season, Buena Vista and St. Mary's being the other two victims.

LOYOLA ELEVEN TURNS ATTENTION TO ST. LOUIS U.

Loyola's football team yesterday began preparation for Friday night's game with St. Louis university in St. Louis.

Two defects were particularly noticeable in the De Paul game on Sunday. The first was the punting and the second the inability of pass receivers to hang on to the ball. Coach Norton sent his squad through a workout last evening drilling almost exclusively on these two phases of the game.

Capt. Les Molloy, George Weimer and Tom Walsh, the latter two line men, spent the better part of the afternoon booting the ball and at the end of the session were getting plenty of distance with every kick.

FOOTBALL, OUR BIG GAME, FAILS TO SHOW BIGNESS

while the present emergency undoubtedly is quite lamentable, still there are always lamentable emergencies, what with people needing new hospitals, churches and community centers every year.

"If we were to play an extra game this year," said he, "some one would come to us representing some worthy cause next year. And, anyway, did you ever know a coach to agree to an extra game?"

I have a suspicion that the coaches are the least willing to approve any extra games for the benefit of the unemployed, as unemployment is ever the dread of the football coach.

Prexies Might Have Helped.

It would have been a good thing for football if the college presidents generally had shown some voluntary willingness to help out. The game is the most romantic one this country plays and, considering its chivalrous pretensions, I would have thought that the big schools would have taken the initiative, not for public credit, but just because football has always stood for bigness in the popular mind. This wiggling of the hook, the citation of petty rules, as an excuse for football's reluctance to help, seem contrary to the character of the game.

As a means of preparing for the next unemployment crisis, a ten per cent federal tax on all football tickets in time would amount to something worth while. The prize fight industry has been taxed 25 per cent on all tickets costing $5 or more, but football has been exempt thus far. But a glance at the gross aggregate football receipts of a good season might suggest the motion to congress that here is a big business and a rival of the commercial show business, which pays a ticket tax to the government.

Luxury and economy are the dividends from Lincoln ownership

The Lincoln owner prides himself upon a fine distinction in his motor car. It has to do with quiet beauty, complete luxury and mechanical fitness. It makes each Lincoln mile as perfect as the first—on crowded city boulevards or open country highways.

The Lincoln is designed to satisfy the needs of owners who demand much of a motor car. Unhurriedly built in one of the famous precision plants of the world, it needs no tedious miles of breaking in. The Lincoln can be kept in perfect mechanical condition at a surprisingly low cost. Its style and performance, with ordinary care, call forth the same enthusiasm after 50,000 miles as after 50.

The natural endowments of the Lincoln are complete reliability and enduring luxury. Smooth, quiet speed; sure ease of handling; virtually unlimited power. . . . These are at the command of every one who drives a Lincoln.

Back of the enduring beauty and power of the Lincoln are the entire resources of the Ford Motor Company. Only because of this is it possible to obtain so fine a motor car at so reasonable a price. Lincoln motor cars can be bought for as little as $4200 f. o. b. Detroit.

The Lincoln's honest excellence makes itself apparent on first acquaintance and becomes increasingly evident to the owner of a Lincoln through long years of service. Here is an automobile of unfailing power, comfort, style and safety, a motor car built to one standard of enduring excellence . . . the Lincoln . . . as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce.

ROCKNE LECTURE TAKES THE FORM OF A REPRIMAND

Calls Down Reserves for Failure to Score.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Although no injuries were reported from Saturday's game with Indiana, Notre Dame's varsity and shock troops rested today while Jack Chevigny, assistant coach who has visited Pennsylvania, versed a reserve team in Penn plays.

At his noon lecture, Coach Knute Rockne scored the second team for its poor showing in the first half when Indiana held them scoreless. Speaking of this week's foe, Rockne said:

"Pennsylvania lost by four touchdowns to Wisconsin, three of which came on an intercepted pass and two blocked kicks. Saturday Penn ran all over the previously undefeated Kansas team that averaged close to 200 pounds. They are hard to beat on their own field and I think they'll be tougher than Pittsburgh was two weeks ago."

INJURIES HIT PENN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania's football warriors who defeated Kansas university at Saturday started their drive for the big game of the season with Notre Dame next Saturday. The three varsity backs, Capt. Dick Gentle, Warren Gette, and Bill Graupner, who were injured in the game with the Jayhawkers, are all showing improvement, but there is considerable doubt as to whether they will be able to play against Rockne's team.

Dr. Light, the team physician, was still hopeful of having the trio of veterans ready for the game. Gentle and Graupner's injuries were the worst. Both men are very anxious to play and are predicting their appearance. Coach Wray announced that he will take the squad to the Seaview golf club at Absecon on Thursday to rest for the game.

NAVY LEARNS WHAT PLAYS OHIO MAY USE

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 3.—(AP)—With every man in the best of condition, Navy football players went through a light limbering up practice today and received instruction in the plays which scouts reported may be used against them by Ohio State Saturday in Baltimore. Kirn, who rested Saturday, has fully recovered from bruises received in the Princeton game.

OHIO REGULARS REST.

Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Most of the regulars who played in the bruising game with Wisconsin here Saturday, today were given a complete rest, but not the second stringers. These varsity players and second string men who were not called upon to do battle against Wisconsin, scrimmaged with the freshmen, using Navy plays.

Bob Haubrich, tackle, renewed his injury to a bruised shoulder and Nasman, center, who saw no service Saturday, still is out of uniform. Holcomb, suffering with a bruised leg, will be ready for action before the team leaves for Baltimore Thursday.

In the defensive scrimmage today the "Middy" freshmen were unable to make any appreciable gains through the subs. Williaman, with his assistant coach, Don Miller, one of the four horsemen of Notre Dame, took the backs and instructed them individually in forward pass defense.

The Ohio State athletic department today announced the 120 piece band would accompany the team to Baltimore, stopping in Washington Saturday to serenade President Hoover at the White House.

TOMMY ARMOUR'S DIVORCE GETS FINAL SANCTION

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The interlocutory decree divorcing Tommy Armour, the golfer, from his Spanish wife, Mrs. Consuelo Casseras Armour, became final today. But unless Tommy now marries his second wife, the former Estelle Andrews, all over again they will not be man and wife in the eyes of the law in this state.

The golf star married Miss Andrews more than a year ago, after he had gotten a Mexican divorce from Consuelo. But Consuelo refused to recognize it, and was allowed to sue here. Her action branded Estelle as no wife at all in New York state. The ex-wife has the custody of Tommy Jr.

Illini 160 Piece Band to Make Trip to New York

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The University of Illinois band will lend support to the Illini when they tangle with the Army at the Yankee stadium Saturday. Definite assurance that the 160 piece band would accompany the team was given today when the Illini club of New York sent in a sizable check that gained the $8,000 fund necessary to send the band to the game.

MOON MULLINS—HE JUST THOUGHT HE MEANT THAT—

Northwestern Eleven Seeks to Break That Indiana Jinx

After unwillingly contributing to Indiana's grid success for the last three years, Northwestern's football team invades the Hoosier stronghold Saturday with one purpose in mind—atoning in full for these repeated defeats.

TINY LEWIS.

Indiana, incidentally, is the only team in the conference which holds an edge over the Wildcats during Coach Hanley's régime. Northwestern has won three out of four from Ohio, two out of three from Minnesota, and defeated Wisconsin and Iowa in the lone games played with these schools. The Purple has split even in four games with Illinois and two games with Purdue.

Hoosiers Win Three.

During the last three years Coach Page's warriors have derived a lot of satisfaction in upsetting the Wildcats just when the latter appeared to be getting somewhere in the race for conference honors.

In 1927 the Hoosiers invaded Dyche stadium and ran up an 18 to 7 score against an eleven which included Tiny Lewis, Vic Gustafson and Yats Levison. The next year Northwestern went to Bloomington where the Hoosiers repeated their victory in a game played in a downpour of rain. Chuck Bennett spoiled the afternoon for the Wildcats by splashing his way to a touchdown for the only score of the day.

Seek to Break Jinx.

Last year Coach Hanley's team had every intention of breaking the jinx, but again the Hoosiers ruled otherwise and went back to Bloomington with a 19 to 14 victory to their credit.

Jinx or no jinx the Wildcats have every intention of taking the Hoosiers Saturday, as they have taken Ohio, Illinois, and Minnesota. Coach Hanley gave his regulars their customary Monday rest yesterday. However, Reb Russell, full back, and Al Moore, half back, both showed up for work and were put through a lively session in forward pass defense along with the reserves.

INDIANA VARSITY LOAFS.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—While members of the Indiana varsity eleven took a day off, third string players went through a light workout this afternoon. Mistakes made in the Notre Dame game were pointed out and plays to be used in the homecoming contest with Northwestern here Saturday were discussed.

The Hoosiers came out of the Notre Dame game in good physical condition. As a part of the homecoming program, it was announced that two picked freshmen teams will play their annual night football game in the fieldhouse Friday night.

MICHIGAN BUILDS OFFENSE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Determination to overcome the seeming impotency of the Michigan running attack was in evidence here this afternoon when the entire squad ran through a long scrimmage against reserves in preparation for the Harvard game Saturday. The forward pass, Michigan's big scoring weapon to date, was thrown into discard and the whole list of backs, Hudson, Newman, Wheeler, Eastman, De Baker, Avery, and Heston were sent crashing into the reserve line and around the ends.

The team appeared to be fired with some new enthusiasm as one back after another tore through the line, turned the ends, cut back, pivoted and executed every other requirement, including blocking, perfectly. "If they did that in a game, we'd have to have an adding machine to count the score," said Director Field, ing H. Yost of the performance.

Capt. Simrall remained out of uniform today and Auer worked out but slightly. During the course of the afternoon, Eastman, Miller, and Marcovsky sustained injuries that forced them out of the practices. Eastman, substituted at Simrall's half, injured his side and was taken to the training room.

Members of the team believe they will beat Harvard, but look for a tough battle. Several of the men saw service against the hard playing Harvard team of a year ago and figure that the test next week-end is the hardest confronting them during the remainder of the season.

HARVARD HOLDS SCRIMMAGE.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Harvard went back to first principles of football today, blocking and tackling. Then, for the first time in the memory of those who have followed Cambridge football, followed a Monday scrimmage.

Coach Horween did not see his eleven play against William and Mary but he heard about it and has decided that this is no time for the saving of players. With the Michigan game at hand he will do no more "wrapping in cotton."

This afternoon Capt. Ticknor, Harding, Crickard and Kales did not take part in the stiff workout. Crickard was in street clothes and will be all right later in the week.

In scrimmage today the line-up included Faxon and Hageman, ends; Upton and Finlayson, tackles; Warner and Esterly, guards; Hallawell, center, and Putnam in the back field with Fullam, Record and Batchelder.

BADGERS TAKE DAY OFF.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's battered football squad was given a rest today, most of the men showing the effects of their two successive bruising battles against Purdue and Ohio State. None is suffering from serious injuries, but all are pretty well used up. As their next opponent, South Dakota State, which plays here Saturday, has looked weak all season, the chances are that regulars will see little action Saturday.

One bright spot in the drab showing against Ohio State was the work of several reserve line men, notably that of Eggers, Stout, Simmons, Tobias, and Engelke. It is thought that second string men will play most of the game against the Dakotans. The real objective now is the Northwestern game at Evanston Nov. 15.

LEAGUE BOWLING POSTPONED.

Due to a fire at the Harding Recreation alleys, 2701 Milwaukee avenue, league bowling will be postponed for a few weeks.

KANSAS AGGIES ASK PERMISSION TO PLAY KANSAS

Manhattan, Kas., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The athletic board of Kansas State Agricultural college, a member of the Big Six conference, today asked that an arrangement be made in the near future to permit the scheduling of games with the virtually ostracized University of Kansas.

In announcing its desires, the Aggie board approved the recent refusal of Dr. H. H. King, its Big Six factulty representative, to vote on the proposal which in intent ousted Kansas university from the conference. A majority of the faculty representatives, meeting in Columbia, Mo., ordered that other Big Six schools schedule no more athletic meetings with Kansas.

The order was made after Kansas was charged with recruiting and subsidizing players.

De Paul Second Team Beats Fenwich High Eleven, 13-0

De Paul academy's second football team defeated the Fenwick High eleven of Oak Park at De Paul field yesterday, 13 to 0. Tom Alt dashed 20 yards around end for a touchdown in the first quarter, while Pat Bowler scored on a plunge in the third period. Bowler added the extra point on a place kick.

Tie Game with Princeton Bolsters Maroons' Morale

Purdue's invasion of the Midway on Saturday starts Chicago on the final phase of the football season and is the first of three consecutive Big Ten battles in which Stagg's small squad will be facing heavy odds. The development of the team for the Princeton game gives basis for the hope that the Maroons have one big game in them before the season ends.

The Chicago team is now playing aggressive and intelligent football, but it lacks the power of its conference rivals, largely because the squad is small, with no outstanding backfield men.

The return of Cowley has eliminated the worry about end, and with Tolgo available Saturday, Stagg will have another good wingman. Horwitz, Hamberg, and Wien are playing good defensive football in the line.

One man, the injured Capt. Van Nice, would make a vast difference to the Chicago attack, which needs a passer and open field runner of his ability to supply the lacking punch. There is a possibility that he may be used against Michigan, but his effort to return is a race against time. Though his injured leg is improving rapidly, it is questionable whether he will recover in time to get into practice and relearn the plays. Unless he is in good shape, he will not be used.

The morale of the team has been aided by its showing against Princeton, when the players found that two weeks of hard work had brought progress in their playing. The Maroons exhibited championship blocking and tackling against Princeton, and they will not lose that ability.

PURDUE GIVEN REST.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Purdue's football team, apparently at the peak of its power against Illinois Saturday in its fourth straight conference game, was given a rest today. Coach Kizer, attempting to nurse the squad along in good physical condition, will start work tomorrow afternoon preparing for the traditional battle with Chicago on Stagg field Saturday.

With the exception of Jack Christman, right guard who dislocated his shoulder against Illinois, the Boilermakers will have their full power for the Chicago invasion.

The Boilermaker backs gained almost at will against Illinois and Coach Kizer is expected to follow the same policy he has used all season of shifting his two back fields as the occasion demands. Ed Risk, half back, who averaged eight yards per attempt last Saturday, is practically assured a starting berth.

GOPHERS IN LIGHT DRILL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Their spirit a trifle low after the licking they took from Northwestern Saturday, the Gophers tonight began practice for the South Dakota game Saturday, but with the Michigan struggle at Ann Arbor, Nov. 15, as the real goal.

The squad had light practice tonight. Instead of the usual chalk talk to the entire group regulars were called into a huddle with the staff separately.

Al Krezowski was the only regular who didn't show up for practice tonight. He hurt his leg Saturday and stayed in the training quarters for treatment.

SEEK CENTER AT ILLINOIS.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Purdue beat the Illini in more ways than one Saturday, and as a result there was no varsity football practice today. Illinois will play the Army in New York City Saturday.

Capt. Robinson, Gilbert Berry, Hunter Russell, Henry Schumacher, Robert Green and Robert Conover are in no condition to play, but with the exception of Schumacher and Green, both centers, they will be ready to make the trip on Thursday. The center position still is causing trouble. With Schumacher and Green out Tiny Huddlestun, 215 pound reserve tackle, will be tried, and if he fails Art O'Keefe, reserve team center, will be used.

Mahoney and Miller Fight Draw at Englewood Arena

Jimmy Mahoney and Joe Miller went eight rounds to a draw last night in the windup bout at the Englewood arena, 1549 West 63d street. They are light heavyweights. About 750 attended. Jim Ryan, substituting for Eddie Speaks, succumbed to a right hand cross administered by Joey Freeman in the first round of a scheduled six rounder. Steve Hess was awarded a six round decision over Frankie La Marre. Jackie Davis, Golden Glove winner, knocked out Joe Brown in the fourth frame. Stanley Fisher opened the show with a four round victory over Smiling Springer.

Favor Renault Over Von Porat in Stadium Bout

It doesn't seem possible, but a canvass up and down the haunts of fistic followers here yesterday revealed that Otto von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight and at times quite a puncher, apparently hasn't more than a handful of backers who are willing to wager that he will whip old Jack Renault at the Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

OTTO VON PORAT.

And it was rather startling to discover that at this time Renault rules a 7 to 5 favorite. It has been a long time since the rugged old Northwest mountie enjoyed such a post of honor. But maybe those fellows who speculate on fistic affairs don't honestly think old Jack is so good, but have come to the conclusion that Otto is a very bad fighter, particularly a bad one when they bet on him.

While Von Porat's backers are very timid, King Levinsky of Chicago, who battles Jimmy Slattery on the same card, has a greater following than ever and it will not be surprising if the betting is at about even money, take your choice, when he starts swinging in the general direction of Slattery's chin. The Levinsky forces were asking 3 to 5 last night.

All of the invading boxers who engage in the three best bouts—Renault, Slattery, and Petey Mack, Jersey City lightweight who fights Barney Ross of Chicago—showed to good sized crowds in their gymnasium drills here yesterday.

LEGION HEAD TO ATTEND ACADEMY FOOTBALL GAME

St. John's, Culver Clash in Charity Contest.

Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, yesterday accepted an invitation to attend the first annual football game between St. John's and Culver Military academies, which will be held Saturday at Soldiers' field under auspices of the Cook County council, American Legion.

Receipts from the game will be used in relief work among disabled veterans and their families and among the families of veterans who are unemployed.

"The Legion posts of Cook county realy have started something," Commander O'Neil wired to Lawrence J. Fenlon, commander of the Cook County council. "I hope that Soldiers' field will be filled to overflowing. The present situation is serious and the funds gathered by the Legion in this manner will go a long way to remedy the needs."

BICYCLE FANS WONDER WHO'LL BE THE FAVORITE

Our nocturnal citizens who are getting ready to visit the Chicago Stadium next week for the 24th international six day bicycle trip to nowhere were scratching their heads last night after scanning the list of entries, trying to determine which team will be installed as the favorite.

John M. Chapman, who had just completed the task of pairing up the riders, was willing to wager anything from a good 5 cent cigar to what have you that there isn't a bike fan anywhere that can pick the public choice at this early date. Mr. Chapman takes that kind of chances every now and then.

The complete list of teams and the place from which each rider hails follows: Reggie McNamara, Newark, N. J., and Tony Beckman, Secaucus, N. J.; Fred Spencer, Plainfield, N. J., and Norman Hill, San José, Cal.; Franco Georgetti and Paul Brocardo, Italy; Gerard Debaets, Belgium, and Gaetano Belloni, Italy; Jimmy Walthour Jr., New York City, and Franz Deulberg, Germany; Alfredo Binda and Pietro Linari, Italy; Alfred Latourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, France; Cecil Walker and Harris Horder, Australia; Ernest Kockler and Mickey Rodak, Chicago; Harry Horan and Jack Sheehan, Chicago; Emil Richili, Switzerland, and Paul Buschenhagen, Germany; Rogen De Nef and Adolph Charlier, Belgium; Pietro Fossati and Raffelo Di Pacco, Italy; William Peden, Toronto, and Al Crossley, Boston; Thomas Saetta and Joseph De Vito, New York City.

"To me, hair is a valuable asset"

"Personally, I consider hair a very valuable asset," a successful business man told us. "An asset for which there is no substitute. A faultlessly tailored suit and a tastily chosen cravat help to give a man that 'successful look,' but the picture is not complete unless he has a good head of hair. We unconsciously associate youth and manly vigor with a good head of hair."

There is no reason why you, too, cannot have this precious asset—a good head of hair. Thomas' scalp treatment, proved by 16 years of success, overcomes the causes of baldness, stops falling hair, ends dandruff, and actually re-grows hair on the thin or bald spots. It offers, at fees within the reach of all, a dignified, positive method of ending scalp troubles and promoting hair growth. Call at a Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination.

CHICAGO STOCKS QUIET, FIRM ON ELECTION EVE

Volume of Sales Drops to Lowest in 2 Years.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Quiet pervaded the financial community yesterday on the eve of the national election. The stock market passed through the dullest day in recent history. On the Chicago exchange trading approached a standstill as the volume of sales dwindled to the lowest figure since Aug. 11, 1928.

The election has been advertised so industriously as a factor which is likely to have important consequences marketwise that traders exhibited extreme caution in making commitments. Price changes were nominal but firm. As the day progressed the slight upward movement, which was visible in the early trading, died out, and the proceedings throughout the remainder of the session had little or no significance.

Insull Issues Improve.

The Insull shares retained their positions as volume leaders and the closing prices in the group were slightly higher in most instances. Grigsby, Majestic, Electric Household, and others which can usually be found among the active stocks received slight attention and finished the day generally unchanged.

The October volume figures issued by the exchange yesterday appear in sharp relief against the statistics for the corresponding month of 1929, which was the most active period in the point of trading in the exchange history. Turnover last month amounted to 4,419,000 shares, as contrasted with 13,558,000 in October last year. Par value bonds sold during the month totaled $1,489,000, against $404,000 in hte same period a year ago.

Total for Ten Months.

The figures on cumulative volume for the first ten months of 1930 make a good deal better showing when contrasted with the like period last year. Volume of shares traded in up to Nov. 1 totaled 61,350,300, as compared with 67,702,000 for the first ten months of 1929. Par value bonds dealt in amounted to $25,348,000, against $4,241,000.

Among the firms which yesterday announced readjustment of dividend rates was Ainsworth Manufacturing whose common stock is traded in on the exchange. Directors of the company have voted to reduce the yearly rate from $2.50 to $1 through the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 25 cents. The common stock is currently traded in around 10.

COCA COLA 3D QUARTER NET RISES $237,770

This compares with $4,661,321 in the third quarter of 1929. Net for the first nine months totaled $12,980,903 before taxes, against $11,153,255 in the same 1929 period. Capital stock consists of 1,000,000 no par class "A" shares and 1,000,000 no par common shares.

United Aircraft and Transport corporation for the third quarter had net profit of $1,149,614, equal to 46 cents a share on 2,076,716 common shares, against $2,838,332, or $1.40 a share on 1,792,427 shares in the third quarter last year.

National Air Transport for the third quarter had net profit of $229,165, equal to 35 cents a share, against $243,221, or 38 cents a share, in the third quarter of 1929.

Boyer, former chairman of the Burroughs Adding Machine company, were being liquidated were denied by officials of the company, who pointed out that Mr. Boyer's will provided that holdings of his Burroughs stock be held in trust for 10 years.

General Cigar.

Please furnish information on the following stocks: General Cigar, Gillette Safety Razor, and Montgomery Ward. L. C. S.

General Cigar company, leading cigar manufacturer, was incorporated in 1906 and the present title was adopted in 1917. It owns and operates 24 factories and stripping plants and maintains 52 warehouses in the east and central west. The company has its own distribution system and nearly three-fourths of its output goes directly to retailers.

In 1929 more than 880 million cigars were produced. Its leading brands are Robert Burns, Van Dyck, White Owl, Bobbie, William Penn, and Ladies. Substantial operating economies have resulted from the adoption of the machine process of making cigars. Last year about 80 per cent of this company's products were machine made. The expenditures incurred in mechanizing manufacturing facilities were partly covered by an issue of serial notes which are now in process of retirement, partly by the issuance of additional common stock, and partly by the sale of properties unsuited to the company's future use.

Earnings have been stable for a number of years and have followed a rising trend since 1921. Net income in 1929 set a new high record of $4,295,961, which was equal to $8.07 per share on 489,084 common shares. The best previous record was made in 1920 when net income was $3,400,000. In 1928 net was $3,140,459, against $3,366,136 in 1927 and $2,562,813 in 1926.

This year the showing has not been so good. Net income in the six months ended June 30, 1930, was $1,445,971, or $2.59 per share on 489,084 common shares, against $1,820,761, equal to $4.03 per share on 407,570 shares in the first half of 1929.

The balance sheet on June 30, 1930, indicated a strong financial position. Current assets were $29,040,881 and current liabilities were $4,309,297, leaving a net working capital of $24,731,584, against $19,344,224 a year before. In addition to capital surplus of $4,970,931 there was an unappropriated surplus of $12,420,012.

The company's policy has been to plow back a large proportion of earnings into the business. Common dividends since 1926 have been $4 per annum.

The preferred is high grade and the common deserves a fairly good rating.

If you wish detailed reports please limit the number of companies inquired about to one in each letter.

START STEAM PIPE LINE.

Construction has been started on a steam pipe line for heating purposes from the boilers at the new slag re-treating plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting corporation at Tadanac to the fertilizer plant at Warfield, B. C. This line will be 7,500 feet long and constructed of ten inch insulated pipe.

MAY ERECT TALL OFFICE CO-OP ON NEAR NORTH SIDE

BY AL CHASE.

Plans are being drawn by Granger & Bollenbacher for a seventeen story coöperative office building, to be erected at the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Ontario, if present plans are carried out. This is a new idea in office buildings so far as Chicago is concerned although it has been used in New York in a few instances. It was stated yesterday that about half of the space already has been sold to tenant-owners.

The site fronts 100 feet on Michigan avenue and 46½ feet on Ontario street. William Nelson Pelouze owns the fee. He leased it several years ago for ninety-nine years to Tom Chamales. A year or so ago E. H. Siebel purchased the leasehold estate from Mr. Chamales. A corporation is scheduled to take over the leasehold from Mr. Siebel and erect the building. Sudler & Co. are brokers in the transaction.

Work May Start Next May.

It is understood that work will not start until next May. The lease has a clause which calls for a modern building to be erected on the site prior to 1932. Although the plans of Granger & Bollenbacher call for a seventeen story building it may go higher than that.

Plans have been drawn by Charles A. Kristen for a six story hotel to be erected by the Towers Building corporation at 5614 Fulton street on a site 40x100. The building will contain seventy-one suites, with a six room bungalow on the roof. The cost is placed at $195,000. It has been leased to P. T. O'Pizzi, who operates the Fullerton hotel.

Trust Official to Speak.

Herbert Becker, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, will talk this evening at 8 o'clock before the Real Property institute of the Cook County Real Estate board, on "New Mortgage Legislation." Mr. Becker is vice chairman and counsel of the mortgage legislation committee for the state of Illinois which will appeal to the next legislature for radical changes in the laws relating to mortgages and foreclosures. M. M. Oshe, law instructor, will speak at 7 o'clock on "Estates for Years—Landlord and Tenant."

The National Chain Stores, Inc., have leased the corner store at 3960 Lawrence avenue, from the United Cigar Stores company, from Nov. 1, 1930, to Oct. 31, 1932, on a percentage basis with a minimum guaranteed rental of $4,200. Ralph C. Hefter and the C. F. Noyes National Realty corporation were brokers.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Heavy Simmons Selling.

Heavy selling of Simmons company sent the stock to a new low level. In the first six months the company earned 15 cents a share on its common and in July passed the dividend, following the elimination of preferred dividends by the subsidiary, Berkey & Gay since business generally is poorer now than it was in the first half year and furniture and other prices have declined. Wall street does not expect much for the year as a whole for this company.

Yields 6½%.

Vacuum Oil is down to an investment yield basis of more than 6 per cent and still does not seem to attract buyers.

Merger Forerunner.

News of the proposed merging of Indian Refining into the Texas corporation probably is the forerunner of a number of such mergers to be arranged within the next few months. Price cutting in crude oil has spread to nearly all fields, and gasoline prices also are too weak to give most small refiners much profit. A further dose of deflation seems to be necessary before the oil patient can hope to recover.

Gardner-Denver Decline.

Largely because of the limited floating supply of the shares, Gardner-Denver's decline in profits for the first three quarters of this year have not induced any special pressure against the stock. This concern is represented in the market by 20,745 preferred and 190,916 common shares. The company is a manufacturer of oil well machinery and drilling equipment.

RAILROAD NOTES

Holders of common and preferred stocks of the Chicago and Alton railroad are urged by a stockholders' protective committee, of which E. A. Pierce is chairman, to deposit their holdings with the Manhattan Trust company and the National Bank of Republic to protect their interests in the event the Baltimore and Ohio makes formal application to assume control over the Alton. The committee has been at work since 1923 seeking amicable adjustment of the differences existing between the various litigants.

The Illinois Central now serves more than 23,000 manufacturing establishments along its lines, according to L. A. Downs, president. This represents a substantial gain over a year ago, indicating a growth in the industrial areas which the road serves.

October freight loadings are reported by the following:

Approximately 100 members of the W. C. T. U. will leave Chicago on Nov. 11 via Illinois Central system en route to Houston, Tex., to attend the national convention. Delegates from Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri and Nebraska will be in the party.

SAYS MIDWEST WILL BE FIRST IN RECOVERY

"The middle west shows signs of recovering more quickly from business and industrial depression than any other," declared William O'Neil, president of the General Tire & Rubber company of Akron, before the annual meeting of the National Tire Dealers association, yesterday. "This is true in spite of the generally depressed condition of agriculture. This section was the first to feel the depression and it will be the first to recover."

Mr. O'Neil stated that tire manufacturers will have to step up production considerably immediately after the first of the year if they are to meet the demand that is certain to develop.

"Today there are 2,500,000 [illegible] tires in the hands of manufacturers than there were a year ago," he said. "Both manufacturers' and dealers' stocks are at an abnormally low [illegible] age. Next spring, I believe, will be the beginning of a wonderful [illegible] for business."

100 Issues Are Down 2½ Billions.

The New York and Chicago stock and curb exchanges, the Chicago Board of Trade, and most of the principal commodity markets, together with the banks, will be closed today because of elections.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The drastic deflation of stock market prices last month was succinctly pictured in two news items yesterday.

First, the New York stock exchange issued its monthly reports on brokers' loans, showing that collateral borrowings of its members dropped in October to a new low record since such data first was compiled in 1926.

Second, a compilation of the market value of 100 representative stocks showed an aggregate decline of more than 2½ billion dollars in October and brought their total value nearly a billion dollars below the bottom of the market during the collapse a year ago.

Last Friday the members of the New York stock exchange were borrowing $2,556,124,087 on collateral, which marked a decrease of $925,328,-[illegible] last month. The previous low mark was $2,767,400,514 on May 31, [illegible] when publication of monthly data began. The present low total compares with the high record of $[illegible]4,333,979 on Sept. 30, 1929, just before the stock market started to collapse, while at the end of October, last year, the total still stood at $6,-[illegible]4,868.

Lower Than After Crash.

The aggregate market value of 100 representative common stocks, according to Frazier Jelke & Co., was $23,-[illegible]620,000 last Friday, compared with $25,812,744,000 at the end of September, a decline of $2,512,114,000, or 9.7 per cent. On Nov. 13, last year, which was the final day of the collapse, these stocks had a total value of $24,274,384,-000, or $974,754,000 more than at the present time.

How these stocks have fallen away from the peak and even from their best figures this year also is shown. Their total value at the peak of the bull market on Aug. 31, 1929, was $43,447,945,[illegible] so they have declined $20,-147,315,000, or 46.3 per cent. And their total value on March 31 this year, following the recovery was $34,857,697,-000, so they have declined $11,557,067,-000, or 33.1 per cent, since that time.

Of the 100 stocks, 93 declined last month, five advanced and two were practically unchanged. The amusement shares showed the largest decline, dropping 13.7 per cent, while the rails showed the smallest loss, falling 4.2 per cent. Between these extremes were the following declines: Electrical equipments, 18.1 per cent; chemicals, [illegible] per cent; motors, 11.1 per cent; miscellaneous industrials and steels, [illegible] per cent; mines, 8.8 per cent; oils, [illegible] per cent; foods and merchandising, 6.5 per cent.

Montgomery Ward Sales Rise.

About the most cheerful news yesterday was the monthly report of Montgomery Ward & Co., the big Chicago mail order and chain store concern. It showed a big increase in sales last month compared with September. Although dollar sales were moderately lower than a year ago, it is likely the volume of business was as large or even larger, considering the lower prices now prevailing.

October sales totaled $30,092,894, an increase of $8,760,218, or 41.07 per cent, over September and a decline of only $2,088,322, or 6.49 per cent, from October, 1929. Sales for the ten months this year totaled $221,246,-015, a decrease of $4,638,987, or 2.05 per cent, from the corresponding period in 1929. On this basis, it would appear that, considering lower prices, the volume of business this year has been larger than last year.

Another cheerful item was the federal reserve board's statement on the condition of the reporting member banks. The fact that these banks expanded their commercial loans by $[illegible]000 in the week ended Oct. [illegible] indicated some pickup in trade and industry. On the other hand, they reduced their loans on securities by $[illegible]000. They also increased their investments in securities by $64,-[illegible]000.

Price of Capital Not Far Above Pre-War Average

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The present price of capital, representing a composite of long term interest rates, has declined to the lowest level since the second quarter of 1928 and now stands not far above the pre-war average, Moody's says. The weighted average of yields on bonds and preferred stocks issued during the third quarter of 1930 is computed as 5.29 per cent, and compares with 5.54 per cent for the first quarter of the year, 5.[illegible] per cent for the third quarter of 19[illegible], and an average of 4.90 per cent from 1910 to 1912.

Sen. Glass Says Banking Probe Will Begin in Dec.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Senator Glass [Dem., Va.] said today the investigation of banking systems and credit facilities planned by a subcommittee of which he is chairman would not begin until congress convenes in December. The investigation was scheduled to begin Nov. 15, but Glass said other committee members would be unable to be present until December.

Chicago's 1930 Industrial Expansion Is Summarized

BY SCRUTATOR.

It has undoubtedly required courage for any corporation or partnership to start a new industrial enterprise or to expand the business it already has in the year 1930. In some circles it has been the fashion to assume that nothing of this sort has been done.

The total of new business establishing itself in Chicago in the past nine months has been woefully small in comparison with some other periods of like size; but it should be remembered that this total ordinarily is quite large. The courage of the enterprisers who have gone forward in the face of a general digging in only shines more brightly under the present circumstances.

Launch Large Projects.

Several large projects have actually been launched and are being carried through the building stage. More than half a dozen involve more than a million dollars of construction work. The utilities and some steel concerns have carried on and are modernizing plants in the full conviction that all modernized capacity will be needed in a short time in the Chicago area.

The Dallas Brass and Copper company, now a subsidiary of a large merger, has completed a $1,500,000 plant and is ready, it has been announced, to expand its facilities by that much more on the sole condition that the city will guarantee an adequate water supply to a site on the northwest side.

Two dairy concerns are growing up with Chicago and spending respectively $350,000 and $80,000 to do it. A maker of paper cups has staked $400,-000 on the future of his business in the city. A sausage company plants $725,000 to grow tasty wieners and a popcorn confection manufacturer was not afraid to drop three-quarters of a million into the Chicago market's prospects. A food products company has invested a half million.

Among those which the Association of Commerce, through its industrial department, reports as spending upwards of $100,000 for plant and equipment are firms making steel specialties, steel furniture, pasteboard boxes, air humidifiers, mechanical stokers, lamp shades, radio assembly, electric supplies, asphalt roofing, pipe, and cans.

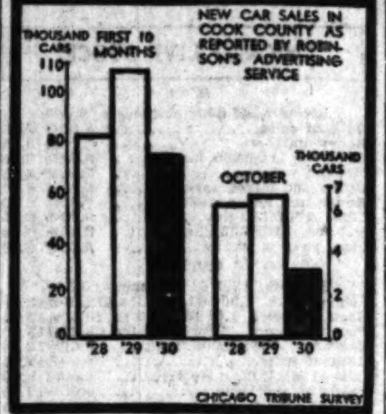

Other New Entrants.

There have been new entrants into the competitive manufacture of bottles, machines, tools, salt, teletypes, pickles, leather, radio cabinets, toys, pupms and water treatment equipment, juvenile vehicles, boilers, and paper bags. Firms representing all these lines are now building or have their plans to build immediately. There is even a concern manufacturing horseshoes that is regarded as certain to establish a plant here.

If the total expansion is disappointing on a basis of comparison with other years, the variety of the new things coming our way is encouraging.

There seems a rather marked trend toward the expansion of means to make those little things which are additions to just plain old living as the pioneers knew it. The new products will furnish in the making employment for many thousands. Acute observers even believe that in this period, allowing management a chance to think over its problems, there will come a realization of the advantages of the metropolitan area and something of an exodus from present unfavorable locations.

October New Car Sales Totaled 3200—Half of a Year Ago

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

The Alexander E. Patterson agency, Chicago, of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company announces its paid business for ten months of 1930 was $13,326,038, an increase of 12 per cent over the same period of 1929. Its paid business for October was $1,250,387, a gain of 20 per cent over the same month last year, continuing an unbroken string of twenty months where the production has exceeded one million dollars each month.

Studebaker October sales to dealers in the United States exceeded the October sales of 1929, according to reports from officials.

The Reading railroad will authorize expenditure of $100,000 for construction of steel cabooses.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey yesterday reduced bunker fuel oil at New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La., 10 cents a barrel to 90 cents.

A contract has been entered into for the purchase by the Owens-Illinois Glass company of Toledo of the manufacturing assets of the Atlantic Bottle company of New York City, manufacturers of milk bottles, operating a plant at Brackenridge, Pa.

Between 3,800 and 4,000 employés in the equipment and maintenance departments of the Chicago and North Western railway have returned to work on a three day a week basis.

C. M. Chester Jr., president of General Foods corporation, said case sales of the corporation in September increased 10 per cent over the same month a year ago.

Railroads in the United States employed 1,514,367 persons during August and paid them $215,756,280.

For the first time in any week since the middle of February, 1930, production of soft coal passed the 10,000,000 ton mark, reports the bureau of mines, commerce department.

Car loadings of western railroads advanced during October as compared with the previous month.

Arriving at New York from Europe yesterday, Howard D. Williams, European director of the National Cash Register company, stated that the company's export sales for October had established another record and that from present indications sales for the remaining quarter of 1930 would continue to show a satisfactory trend.

Shop employés of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to the number of 1,750, who had been temporarily laid off because of decreased business, returned to work at the Readville, Mass., and New Haven car shops yesterday.

Copper buying continues good upon foreign and is fair on domestic account. In neither market are producers willing to sell all that fabricators desire to purchase.

In the last fortnight plumbing and heating materials moved at a pace which indicated an extension of the better sales volumes which have been experienced by wholesalers in the last thirty days, according to Domestic Engineering. In the majority of cases the better business is traced to the seasonal increase in the movement of heating products.

Clover Farms National Stores corporation which operates 3,000 food stores throughout the country is preparing to enter the Chicago district, it is reported. Representatives of the company have been in the city for the last two weeks completing plans for the firm's expansion. It is stated that a substantial number of leases have already been signed. The company will soon start a national advertising campaign.

The New York Central railroad announces that its car and locomotive shops, which have been closed for three weeks, will reopen tomorrow and thereby provide employment for more than 5,000 workers.

SEES RESTRICTIONS ON BIG PACKERS BOON TO SMALL CONCERNS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Edward A. Cudahy Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing company, testified at the District court hearing on modification of the packers' consent decree today that under present conditions of marketing the smaller packers are in a more advantageous position than the larger concerns.

Mr. Cudahy declared that the small packer has no branch house selling expense, while the concentrated buying power of chain stores enables the small packer to sell in distant markets at less cost than the large packer who may operate branches in those points. He also averred that Europe is raising so much of its own live stock that the smaller packers who once sold much of their product abroad have been forced to seek new outlets in this country.

Mr. Cudahy was the third big Chicago packer to take the witness stand in support of a petition by the Swift and Armour companies for the right to retail meat and other food products.

Imperial Oil Pays Special Dividend of 50 Cts. a Share

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 3.—Stockholders of Imperial Oil, Ltd., were favored today with a special dividend of 50 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 12½ cents, both payable Dec. 1 in Canadian funds to shareholders of record Nov. 15.

In explaining this action, the board informed stockholders that "the extra payment is not in a sense a dividend but a division among the shareholders of surplus earnings from investments abroad over and above returns shareholders have already received."

Not since the first half of 1929 has a special cash dividend attracted so much interest and so far reaching effects as the one declared today by Imperial Oil. Voted at a time when general business is at its lowest ebb and the petroleum industry is still in the throes of low prices, reduced earnings and severe competition, the special dividend will result in a cash distribution of $13,270,259 on the 26,540,518 shares outstanding.

Next to Copper Industry.

Next to the copper industry, stockholders of petroleum shares have suffered perhaps the largest losses through dividend reductions this year. Several of the larger concerns have already reduced or wiped out entirely their quarterly payments, while others in the group are understood to be considering lower dividends before the end of the year.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, which declared today its usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share, is the largest stockholder of Imperial Oil, owning 18,800,000 shares, on which the extra distribution by the latter firm amounts to $9,400,000.

This is equal to 37 cents a share on the 25,418,968 shares of the Jersey company outstanding at the end of last year. The Sun Life Assurance company is understood to be the second largest stockholder of Imperial.

When the regular quarterly and the extra of 50 cents are paid to Imperial stockholders the company will have distributed $1 in dividends this year. Standard Oil of New Jersey's proportion will aggregate $18,800,000, equal to 74 cents a share on its outstanding stock, or 37 per cent of the Jersey company's total dividend of $2 a share for 1930.

Omit Payment.

Directors of General Bronze corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago the corporation reduced its common dividend from 50 cents to 25 cents quarterly.

A statement by the company said that recent weeks have not produced "the hoped for expansion in building construction and injurious competition continues for the reduced amount of architectural metal business." The statement added the company is developing new equipment and new methods as well as new lines of products.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 3.—Many of the great and near great of the stock swapping fraternity were giving themselves an extra holiday on the score of the impending election hiatus today and in their absence the share market was a pretty dull affair.

Only a mere 1,253,650 shares changed hands in the whole dreary five hours of it and some half dozen stocks accounted for a good quarter of even this total.

Leading issues moved in the narrowest range they have in some time. United States Steel rose a half point or so, dipper about three-quarters of

A WAY TO REWARD FAITHFUL WORKERS WITHOUT OVER-PAYING THEM

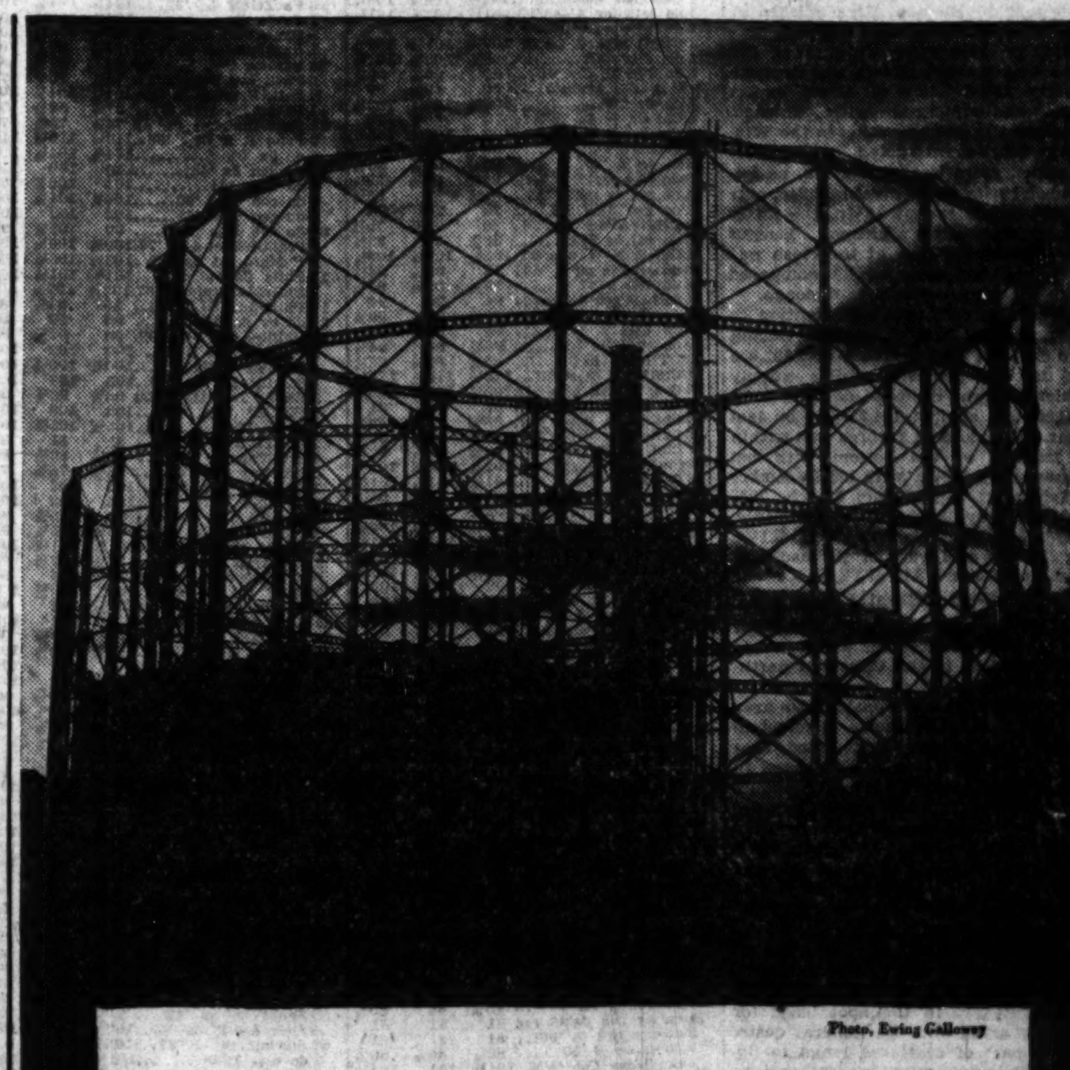

The problem of rewarding the faithful employee who really isn't worth more money is one that has bothered many an employer. "How," he asks, "can I recognize continuity of service without paying a man more than he earns?"

Group life insurance will solve this problem very inexpensively. A plan employed by many concerns is to give each worker a certain amount of life insurance, and then increase that amount by a hundred dollars for each year of continued service. Such an arrangement makes possible a yearly expression of appreciation at small cost.

The Affiliated Continental Companies of Chicago write group life insurance at rates no higher than those charged by out-of-town companies. Yet their convenient location assures a much faster and more personalized service. Ask your agent or broker for further information regarding Continental Group Life Insurance.

DISAPPOINTED LONGS LIQUIDATE GRAIN HOLDINGS

Prices Generally Sell Off to New Lows.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Agricultural conditions in the west are becoming more depressed as the result of a continued decline in the grain markets. Persistent liquidation by scattered longs who bought some time ago on the belief that prices were low enough, started to release their holdings at heavy losses several days ago and have found support lacking.

All deliveries of oats and rye; March, May and July wheat and May and July corn sold at a new low for the season yesterday, with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down. At no time did the markets show a disposition to rally, with the close within a fraction of the bottom.

At the inside December wheat touched 75¼@75⅜c, the lowest since 1906, in the face of the smallest crop since 1901, and a total available supply of 2,124,000,000 bu for the season, or 857,000,000 bu less than the average of the last 10 years. December corn sold down to 71⅝c, the lowest since 1927, while May oats at 35⅞c was the lowest since 1921, and rye was in new ground since 1898.

There was nothing spectacular in the day's operations in the futures markets. Instead trading was decidedly below the average with longs selling in a most persistent manner and found buyers scarce.

Foreign Markets Lead Decline.

Farmers in foreign countries are in much worse shape than those in the United States. While December wheat in Chicago closed at 75½c, the same delivery in Winnipeg was only 69¼c. February in Buenos Aires finished at 69⅝c, while May in Liverpool was 83⅝c, or 1⅝c over Chicago at the time that market closed, and approximately 18½c below a direct export basis as compared with Chicago. Weakness in coarse grains in the Winnipeg market attracted considerable attention from local operators, as December barley there closed at 24c, oats at 28⅝c, and rye at 33⅛c, the latter being 10⅝c below Chicago. Buenos Aires December corn at the close was 38⅝c, or 33c discount as compared with the same delivery in Chicago.

Wheat traders paid no attention to rust reports from Argentina during the day, nor to a decrease of 2,192,000 bu in the domestic visible supply which brought the total down to 197,688,000 bu, against 194,215,000 bu last year. The close on futures was within a fraction of the bottom with net losses of 1¼@1⅝c, with old December finishing at 75⅜@75½c; March, 79⅝@79¾c; May, 81⅛@81½c, and July, 82@82⅛c. Winnipeg was off 1⅛@1½c for the day as Liverpool declined ⅝@1⅛d, and Buenos Aires, 1⅛@1⅝c.

Estimate Wheat Loss.

Winnipeg messages estimated that as high as 20,000,000 bu wheat would be a total loss in the Canadian northwest as the result of recent unfavorable weather, with a considerable area still uncut due to snow. Broomhall cabled that it was understood that the United Kingdom might agree to take 55 per cent of its requirements from Canada for the season, or approximately 10 per cent more than the present practice. No export business in North American wheat was reported at the seaboard.

Corn closed 1@1⅛c lower, with old December 71⅝@71¾c; March, 75⅛c; May, 77⅛@77⅛c, and July, 78⅝@78¾c at the last. Weakness in wheat, favorable weather for husking, a decline of ½@1c in the spot basis for the new grain and the general desire on the part of scattered longs to liquidate holdings were largely responsible for the decline. Buying by shorts furnished the bulk of the support.

Private crop reports indicated a corn crop of around 2,040,000,000 bu, or 7,000,000 bu less than the government October returns, and compared with 2,614,000,000 bu harvested last year. The trade, however, paid little attention to the figures. A decrease of 13,000 bu in the visible supply for the week made the total 4,379,000 bu, against 3,237,000 bu last year.

Liquidation was on in oats from the start. The lowest prices of the day and season were made shortly before the close with net losses of ⅝@1c, December finishing at 32⅝@32¾c, and May, 36@36⅛c.

Houses with northwestern connections were on the selling side of rye and with stop loss orders uncovered and scattered liquidation prices dropped sharply with the close 3¼@3⅝c lower. December was 43⅝c and May 49⅝c at the last. Minneapolis lost 3⅝c for the day.

FAIR ADVANCE IN LARD

Light stocks of lard and meat, as indicated by the monthly report yesterday, brought in fair buying support in a market where selling pressure was light. The close on futures was at net gains of 12½@20c. Liverpool lard was 3d lower to unchanged. Export clearances for the week were disappointing at 7,942,000 lbs, compared with 11,234,000 lbs last year. Of bacon there were 1,690,000 lbs, against 3,904,000 lbs last year. Hog receipts were light, as compared with a week and a year ago, and the market stronger. Prices follow:

HEAVIER RUN OF HAY

Yesterday's accumulation of hay was the heaviest Monday run for a long time past, with 32 cars of timothy or one of its various mixtures, 3 each of packing hay and alfalfa, and a like amount of rye straw. The market absorbed the larger receipts in nice shape with inspections showing the quality to be generally good.

Top yesterday, $8.50; average, $7.70.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep.

Hog receipts dropped off yesterday, which is usual for the first Monday in November, and prices were forced to slightly higher levels. The extreme top moved up 10c at $9.35, but compared with $9.45 at the high time last Friday, while the general average at $9.00 was 5c above Saturday's average and the same as last Friday's average.

Activity was lacking in the general market, but the clearance was good for Monday, only 3,000 remaining in the pens at the close. Demand for "roasters" was brisk and one lot of 152 averaging 54 lbs sold at $10.00. Outside demand, which has been below normal for more than a week, showed some improvement, and shippers bought 8,000, against 6,690 the previous Monday.

Two weeks ago, however, outsiders bought 11,435. During the last few years the first Monday in November has been credited with smaller receipts than the last Monday in October of the same year. However, the second Monday's receipts during the last ten years average 50,000, against 39,000 for the receipts the first Monday of November. The trade looks for another decrease today. Five markets expect 58,000 hogs, against 65,100 last Tuesday.

January Hogs Bring $8.90.

January hogs sold at $8.90 on yesterday's slow market for hog future contracts. This price equals the highest for January mediums since Oct. 6, when $9.10 was the highest since middle of September. According to a notice posted by the Chicago live stock exchange, all sales for future delivery, starting yesterday, shall be for the first half or the last half of any contract month.

Existing contracts shall be bought or sold under the title of "open." Light weights for the last half of the present month were offered at $9.00, but no bids were made. December contracts were offered at $8.80, and bid, $8.60, while hogs for next March were bid $9.35 and offered at $9.50.

On the "to arrive" market two loads of 170@210 lb averages for today's delivery were bid $9.10, and light weight packing grades for today's delivery were bid $8.50. Heavy packing carried bids of $8.00.

A substantial decrease in cattle receipts yesterday resulted in an erratic advance, prime light steers and yearlings showing the sharpest recovery from last week's low spot, although some sales of medium and weighty steers were as much as 25@50c above last week's close.

Lambs Reverse Again.

After a steady to strong opening, salesmen hoped for another upturn yesterday. However, support was withdrawn soon after the start and the market sagged badly in mid-session, closing mostly 15@25c under the general selling at the close of last week. Fat ewes and wether lambs sold to packers and city butchers at $8.25@8.50 during the opening, while $8.00 bought a good many sorted kinds near the finish. Aged sheep and yearlings sold steady to strong, while feeding lambs were unchanged.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 7,732 cattle, 29,703 hogs, and 15,455 sheep on the previous Tuesday, and 11,692 cattle, 36,269 hogs, and 10,272 sheep a year ago.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders said at the close that there is nothing in the market situation making it worth while to buy wheat so long as December liquidation, which is now well under way, continues. It is expected to last two or three weeks. With an absence of bull leadership, and with Chicago prices relatively higher than Liverpool and Winnipeg and around the lowest of the season, the price situation for the moment is considered against heavy speculative purchases in Chicago until there is a readjustment.

Many wheat traders are liquidating December and getting into the May at around 6½c premium for the latter, with the price close to 81c, around the lowest of the season so far. One of the oldest traders, who has gone through more than fifty years of trading, predicts that prices are still due for an irregular downward movement.

Importing Europe has 42,232,000 bu of wheat on ocean passage, compared with 39,016,000 bu last year. This is about two and one-half weeks' consumptive requirements, with shipments for the week running close to 16,000,000 bu, the estimated consumptive needs.

Rye prices in Chicago were about 11c over Winnipeg at one time yesterday, which prevents export business. There is said to be a large spreading interest between rye and corn, which has made an uncomfortable position for all interests, especially for the December holders.

COTTON DECLINES

Cotton markets had a fairly strong tone during the morning yesterday, followed by slowness around midday and an easy tendency at the last, due to hedge sales, which, however, were well taken. Traders in cotton are in the main friendly to the buying side on breaks, as consumption is said to be gaining and mills are increasing working hours, with some reopening of plants.

At the close futures in Chicago were 2 points lower to 7 points higher. Other markets were 3 to 7 points higher. Liverpool was strong and 7 to 8 points closer at the close, with spot sales 6,000 bales.

Fairchild estimates ginning to Nov. 1 at 11,148,000 bales, against 10,891,000 bales last year and 10,162,000 bales two years ago. Daily News Record estimates the crop at 14,766,000 bales. Exports since Aug. 1 aggregate 2,182,237 bales, against 3,193,238 bales last year.

Spots in New York were 5 points higher at 11.20c, with New Orleans unchanged at 10.90c. Galveston, 11c, and Houston, 10.85c. Prices follow:

How about EARNINGS?

While net earnings of a group of 25 representative companies showed a loss for the first 9 months of 1930—

Woods Brothers Corporation

showed a substantial gain, earning $3.49 per common share, against a total of $2.52 for the entire year of 1929.

We believe that the Common Stock of the Corporation, selling at $19 per share and the 6% Convertible Preferred Stock at $95 are particularly attractive in view of these earnings. Inquiries are invited from interested investors.

STOCK MARKET STANDS PAT IN SLOW TRADING

one, and came to a standstill exactly where it had started. American Can closed up a quarter after moving within a range of an even point all day. Radio finished with an eighth of a point loss. General Electric was up an eighth, Consolidated Gas was down three-quarters, and so on down the line. Important changes were virtually nil and a big proportion of the changes in the list as a whole were in fractions.

Drifts Along.

There was not much in the way of news to encourage activity in any quarter. The possibility of changes in the complexion of the national legislature as a result of tomorrow's elections possibly gave some of the more conservative traders pause and the improved tone of the cotton market might have stimulated a little more cheerful feeling in some quarters, but as usual for these many weeks the market lumbered along very largely on its own.

Weak Features.

Among the few conspicuous price movements were Coca Cola, which took a surprising tumble of nearly 4 points on the heels of the company's really good earnings showing for the third quarter—a net exceeding that of either of the previous quarters or the corresponding three months of last year—and the pronounced strength in Pullman, which rose nearly 3 points on the heaviest turnover it has enjoyed in a long time. Pullman's strength was, of course, largely due to its favorable earnings statement for the three quarters.

Simmons and Remington Rand were other weak features, both selling to new lows for the year. Gillette had a sinking spell in the early dealings, but pulled itself together in the afternoon and managed to get a fractional gain into the overnight record. Before the comeback, however, it achieved a new 1930 bottom for itself. Still others to record new lows in the selling which predominated in the forenoon activities were American Radiator, Burroughs Adding Machine, Timken Roller Bearing, Chrysler, Kennecott, Raybestos, Sparks-Withington, Superheater, Phelps-Dodge, Associated Apparel, Missouri Pacific, National Acme and Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred.

The utilities did a little better, but the coppers again found the going hard. Rails and oils were mixed. Allied Chemical was driven once more below the 300 point mark, but again rallied to close at 302, a net gain of nearly 2 points.

Most observers look upon the market as again standing at the crossroads, that is, having reached a point where its action will bear close watching. No little disappointment was experienced today, particularly among floor traders, over the failure of the rally which started late on Saturday's session to develop and carry through in early trading.

Today's trading, however, was hardly of a character to be taken as a guide to the immediate outlook. Operations were curtailed by the indisposition of traders to do much in either direction with a recess at hand. Thus the resumption of business on Wednesday should provide a cue to the immediate outlook for price movements. The market is evidently quite thin on both sides, but unless fresh liquidation is forthcoming opinion seems to be that something of a further rally is in order.

Silk merchandise was in moderate request, chiefly on lines for winter resort cutting. Rayon was in fair demand from weavers, but troubled conditions in the hosiery industry are being watched closely as likely to affect sales. Wool goods were quiet. Burlaps showed little change for the day.

LOANS ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY

Why get one, two or more endorsers when you can borrow money at The LOCAL ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY?

We prefer to loan money to the man or woman steadily employed ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE. Our records show that the greater part of our loans are SIGNATURE ONLY LOANS.

This service is such a departure from the old method of making loans that most people are amazed when it is explained to them.

Loans made from $10 to $300. Pay back any time and pay only for the time you keep the money. Our service is made for the borrower.

For the few who do not qualify for A SIGNATURE ONLY LOAN, we make FURNITURE LOANS or LOANS WITH ONE ENDORSER.

Give us a call. You will appreciate our service and we will appreciate your business.
